Seamen's Strike Broken

UNIONS QUIT STRUGGLE; DAVIS GETS AUTHORITY TO ACCEPT WAGE SLICE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Representatives of the seamen, marine engineers and radio operators, at a conference tonight with Secretary Davis, agreed to give him full powers to reach a settlement by them with the ship owners and the Shipping Board in the marine wage controversy.

The men came here from New York for the conference and reached the understanding after several hours. Secretary Davis, it was said, had been given full authority to accept for them such wage reductions as he deems proper.

BENSON SCORES UNIONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—Whether the "arbitrary exercise of power under leaders" is to be permitted to defeat the purpose of the American people to maintain a merchant marine under their own flag is the fundamental issue in the present controversy over reduction of marine wages, Chairman Benson of the Shipping Board declared in an address today before the National Association of Manufacturers.

Asserting the union heads had shown an "uncompromising attitude" on the question of the 16 per cent wage reduction, and while presenting many "irrelevant questions," had "refused even to discuss the necessary wage reduction." Chairman Benson reiterated his determination to insist upon the wage cut as "not only justified but imperative."

PROMISES PROTECTION.

"My appeal directly to the personnel of the merchant marine has met with a very gratifying response," he said. "I have stated publicly and again reaffirm the intention of the Shipping Board to give fullest protection, both now and after the settlement of the controversy, to all who come to its aid.

"Reports from all of our outlying districts continue to be encouraging. The movement of ships is going steadily on. A remarkable indorsement of the position of the Shipping Board has come through the reduction in marine wages which has

HOOVER WARNS WORLD TO KEEP TRADE DOOR OPEN.

Makes Plea for Individualism in International Commerce; Other Tendency Leads to War.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, sounded a warning tonight before the National Association of Manufacturers that combinations of exporters and importers in various countries again are seeking to dominate certain trades which, if not remedied, can become a menace to world peace. He made a plea for maintenance by all nations of the open door in world commerce, asserting there are many growths and tendencies today that make for the direct or indirect closing of the open door.

Hoover drew an ovation when he declared the world is slowly making toward economic stability. If Europe can keep the peace for another year, he said, there will be no further cause for American charity.

"I am making a plea for individualism in international economic life," he said. "It is surely by the individual growth of intelligence, initiative and character through protected equality of opportunity, stimulated by free competition, that we may lift the mass of humanity. This system cannot be preserved in domestic life if it must be abandoned in international life.

"This is a plea that the world should 'stop, look and listen.' For, if the day comes when the United States shall be forced to enter on these courses in her own protection, it will be a day of infinite losses to real progress and liberalism."

RESTRICTING DEVELOPMENT.

"We find today," he continued, "that many nations are restricting development of natural resources within their boundaries to their own citizens. They do not allow citizens of foreign countries an equality of opportunity with their own.

POWDER PLANT RAZED

WILMINGTON (Del.) May 19.—The plant of the United States Flashless Powder Company at Carrcroft, near here, was destroyed early this morning by fire following an explosion of unknown origin. The surrounding countryside was shaken by the blast, which was felt in Philadelphia, Chester and intermediate towns.

MRS. GLOYD BECOMES BRIDE OF CAPTAIN.

WAS FIGURE IN SENSATIONAL DIVORCE IN LOS ANGELES AND ESTATE FIGHT.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DENVER, May 18.—Mrs. Mayette Smith Hearne Gloyd, who figured in sensational divorce proceedings in Los Angeles four years ago, was married yesterday in Boulder to Capt. Otis Porter, U.S.A., stationed at Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo. News of their marriage became public today when it was learned that they had returned to Denver and were registered at the Shirley Hotel.

Mrs. Gloyd acquired much notoriety at the time of her divorce trial through allegations of her husband, Albert Montgomery Gloyd, that she persuaded in the habit of "sterilising" his kisses.

Mr. Gloyd was well known in Los Angeles and Kansas City. He had extensive business interests and divided his time between the two cities. The couple were divorced in Los Angeles in February, 1918, and Mr. Gloyd died two months later, before the expiration of the preliminary decree.

Shortly after Mr. Gloyd's death the pretty divorcee started proceedings in the Federal Court at Kansas City for half of the estate. The action was compromised a few weeks ago for $60,000.

Capt. Porter is well known in Denver club circles and is prominent in military and social affairs of Cheyenne, Wyo.

LANE DEATH MOURNED.

End Comes After Operation.

Former Secretary of the Interior Was Much-Loved Citizen of California.

Funeral to be Held in Chicago and Will be Private; to Cremate Body.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ROCHESTER (Minn.) May 18.—The body of Franklin K. Lane, former Secretary of the Interior in the Wilson administration, who died today, was taken to Chicago tonight, accompanied by George W. Lane, his brother, Mrs. Franklin K. Lane and Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, Jr. Lane died suddenly following an attack of heart disease.

Funeral services will be held at Chicago, where his body will be cremated following a private funeral, one of Lane's last requests.

NATION MOURNS.

Messages from President Harding, Woodrow Wilson, scores of government officials and personal friends were received by Mrs. Lane today.

Former Secretary Lane was operated on here May 6 for gall stones and appendicitis, and was said to be recovering when heart disease, from which he had suffered from time to time during the last eight months, developed. Hospital physicians expressed the belief that the operation would relieve the heart affection, but an attack early today developed fatally.

Immediately after he had recovered from the influences of the anaesthetic he said: "I am surprised to be alive. I hope to be able to live a long life doing good things for others, without thoughts of money."

Following his resignation from the Wilson Cabinet, Lane sought to re-

MILLION FOR SAN PEDRO; BATTLE FOR YARDS AND SHIPS IS YET TO BE WON

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Economy advocates won the first bout in the Senate today on the $500,000,000 naval appropriation bill. After the agreement yesterday by administration forces to support the Borah amendment, requesting the President to call a disarmament conference, attack turned today on appropriation items, and on the first test of strength $1,000,000 was pared from the bill.

Through a combination of Republicans with Democrats the Senate, by a vote of 39 to 31, cut the appropriation of $4,500,000 recommended by the Naval Committee for transportation and recruiting of men to 92,500,000. On the next vote, however, enough Republicans changed to sustain the committee increase from $7,500,000 to $9,000,000 for navy yards and docks.

Another economy move was in the adoption of amendments suspending the Charleston (S. C.) dry dock project until July 1, 1924.

AMENDMENTS ADOPTED.

Thereafter, however, a number of the committee amendments were adopted. These included appropriations of $1,503,000 for development of a submarine and destroyer base at Guam; $800,000 for the Sand Point (Wash.) naval air station; $1,000,000 FOR DEVELOPMENT OF A SUBMARINE BASE AT SAN PEDRO, CAL., and $15,000,000 toward the construction of two airplane carriers.

Committee amendments authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to accept a tract of land from the city of Los Angeles for use as a site for a naval submarine base and a tract from King county, Washington, for use as a site for an aviation base were approved. Action on acceptance of a tract near Camp Kearney, Cal., for an aviation station went over by request of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho. He also obtained postponement of action on the Alameda (Cal.) supply base project and on committee amendments which would permit a naval personnel of 120,000 men instead of 100,000 provided in the House bill.

Committee recommendations to increase the cost limits of the battleship California, four other battleships and several submarines now building, also were approved. The total increase amounts to approximately $13,000,000.

The only extended speech was delivered by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, who advocated a strong navy "able to meet all comers."

Developments in Congress yesterday, particularly in the Senate, where committee amendments were accepted appropriating $1,000,000 for the Los Angeles Harbor Submarine Base, and $800,000 for a naval air station at Sandpoint, Wash., indicate that the Pacific Coast has won a part of its campaign for adequate naval bases.

However, these appropriations are but a small beginning and the people of the Pacific Coast States have yet to succeed in their demand that a modern and fully-equipped naval base be located, as recommended by Navy Department experts, at Alameda, in San Francisco Bay.

The Coast has given a remarkable demonstration of unity and unselfish loyalty to all sections, each State and community joining without regard to local advantage in supporting the Navy's Pacific Coast program.

First and foremost in this program is a new naval base at Alameda, the old base at Mare Island having been outgrown and outdistanced by the big ships now attached to the Pacific and Atlantic fleets.

MUST KEEP UP EFFORTS.

It is vitally necessary that the citizens and the influential organizations of the Pacific Coast continue to bombard Congress with demands that this base be constructed out of funds appropriated by the present Senate and House of Representatives.

Apparently a day or two more of TEST VALUE OF BOMBS.

Use German Boats in Experiments.

Airships to Drop Missiles on Submarines, Cruisers and Battleships.

Army and Navy Planes to Co-operate Off Capes of Virginia.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Plans for the bombing of naval vessels by Army and Navy aircraft were completed today at a conference of officials of the Atlantic Fleet, the Navy Department and the Army Air Service. The experiments will be conducted off the Virginia Capes beginning June 21, with the bombing of the former German submarine U-117, and ending July 30, with the destruction of the former German battleship Ostfriesland.

The radio-controlled battleship Iowa will be used in the second test, which will consist of searching out the battleship and bombing her from the air. The Army will withdraw from this phase of the operations all of its land planes, using only the seven seaplanes it has obtained from the Navy Department and four airships or blimps.

GERMAN BOATS AS TARGETS.

Other operations will be conducted against the former German destroyers, the former German cruiser Frankfurt and the Ostfriesland. Secretary Denby announced that the Navy Department had arranged to turn over to the Army the obsolete battleship Alabama for experiments of the Army Air Service. After the experiments with the Iowa June 28, the third phase of the tests will take place, the forces bombing the former German destroyers on July 13. On July 18 the experiments against the Frankfurt will be held, to be followed two days later by those against the Ostfriesland.

Operations against the former German ships will be conducted about sixty miles east of Cape Charles lightship. The Army will participate with the Navy, using bombs ranging from 300 to 2000 pounds.

Rescue craft will be stationed by the Navy between the German ships and the shore, but owing to the uncertainty as to the location of the Iowa until after contact has been reported, it will be impossible to provide a line of rescue vessels.

The Iowa will take up a position from fifty to 100 miles off shore and will steam shoreward with the view to reaching the shore before being located and bombed. Navy airboats and Army dirigibles will form a scouting line between the two capes and will scout to the eastward for 100 miles off shore or until contact is made.

The Navy air forces will be commanded by Capt. A. W. Johnson, commander of the Atlantic Fleet air forces, with headquarters on the tender Shawmut. Capt. S. H. R. Doyle, base commander at Hampton Roads, will be in charge of operations at the base. Brig.-Gen. William A. Mitchell, chief of operations of the Army Air Service, will command the Army air force at Langley Field, Va.

The Shawmut will take station at the targets. In the case of the former German ships and at about the center of the scouting area in the case of the Iowa. She will make weather reports and transmit necessary orders. Communication arrangements will be such that both the Army and the Navy aircraft can communicate by radio at all times with the shore bases and the surface ships.

HELP SAVE THE FLEET!

Citizens of Los Angeles today can render invaluable aid to the Pacific Coast campaign to save the Pacific Fleet by signing petitions urging Congress to pass the needed naval-base appropriations for this seaboard.

These petitions have been placed at the following locations:

The Times Information Bureau, Times Building, First street and Broadway.

Chamber of Commerce, information desk, third floor, Chamber of Commerce Building, 130 South Broadway.

Union League Club, Third and Hill streets.

Security Trust and Savings Bank, Fifth and Spring streets.

Merchants' National Bank, Sixth and Spring streets.

First National Bank, Seventh and Spring streets.

Guaranty Trust and Savings Bank, Seventh and Spring streets.

The Times will be glad to furnish additional petition blanks with a poster drawing attention to them to any bank or business house or club or organization desiring to help the cause. Call Pico 700, ask for the city editor and leave name and address and telephone number.

Officers and members of civic, business, social and professional organizations are urged to immediately bring the matter before their bodies, cause strong resolutions to be drafted and wired without delay to Washington. The cooperation of women's clubs is particularly desired. Individuals and others should write or wire, from this vicinity, to Congressmen H. Z. Osborne and Walter F. Lineberger, House of Representatives, or Senators Samuel M. Shortridge and Hiram Johnson, Senate, Washington, D. C. It is suggested that readers of The Times may substantially aid the cause by clipping the form below, pasting it on the top of a sheet of paper and asking as many persons as possible to sign it that day. This filled sheet should be immediately mailed to some one of the Congressmen named above and another petition started with a fresh blank.

TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:

We, the undersigned, respectfully urge your honorable body to approve without delay the appropriations recommended for the construction of needed naval bases on the Pacific Coast as set forth in the report of the joint committee of the Senate and House of Representatives:

DECLARE WIFE FORGIVEN.

Mrs. Stillman's Lawyers Assert Charges of Banker Disqualified.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—Moved by the publication of James A. Stillman's divorce charges, the lawyers of Mrs. "Fifi" Stillman today gave definite information as to the evidence they will offer that Stillman, despite sworn statements of his complaint, had disqualified himself as a divorce claimant.

The evidence of Dr. Hugh Russell of Buffalo, stating that Mrs. Stillman revealed guilt to him and sent for Stillman, with whom she had consultations, and the introduction of the "hysterical letter," produced by Mr. Stillman as a confession of guilt, are assumed by the defense as proof that Stillman's information, such as it was, was complete in the late fall of 1917.

To show that Stillman did forgive and condone by intimate association with his wife after these events, her attorneys have the register of the St. Regis Hotel in February, 1918, which shows that Mr. and Mrs. Stillman, their daughter Anne, and their two sons—Guy was not yet born—were guests at the hotel together then.

The register is impounded as are the bills rendered by the hotel. Photostatic copies are in the hands of counsel. Amplifying these is an affidavit by the clerk of the hotel who assigned the Stillmans to rooms in which he swears they occupied four rooms; a bedroom and sitting-room for Mr. and Mrs. Stillman; a bedroom for Miss Anne Stillman, a bedroom for James and Alexander Stillman. A bedroom for the nurse was provided in another part of the hotel.

Furthermore checks show that meals for Mr. and Mrs. Stillman were furnished in the rooms occupied by them, according to the lawyers.

The lawyers regard this as proof that if Mr. Stillman had the reasons for suspecting Beauvais and Mrs. Stillman, which he now asserts, the presence of Beauvais as a guest at the expense of Mr. Stillman under the same roof is ample proof of condonation and forgiveness and presumptive evidence, if the charges are true, of "consent, connivance, privity or procurement of the plaintiff."

Visalia Chosen As Base for Air Forest Patrol.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 18.—Visalia today was chosen as the Southern California base for aerial forest patrol work and airplanes from Mather Field will be assigned there in about three weeks, it was announced at Mather Field late today.

Six airplanes, consisting of two patrols, will work out of Visalia, the announcement said, and a similar number of planes and patrols will be stationed in fire patrol work at Mather Field. Three patrols, or nine airplanes, will be stationed at Corning, it was announced.

JUSTICE WHITE IS DEAD.

Noted Jurist Succumbs; Receives Last Rites of Church; End Not Unexpected.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Edward Douglas White, Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, died at 2 o'clock this morning at a hospital here where he submitted to an operation last Friday. He was 76 years old.

Attending physicians at 11:25 o'clock last night, after an examination of the patient, issued the following bulletin:

"Chief Justice White continues to fail gradually. He has been unconscious throughout the day and the end may be expected at any time."

The last rites of the Catholic church were administered when he revived from a state of coma, but he soon lapsed into unconsciousness again.

FAMILY OF JUDGES.

Chief Justice Edward Douglass White was, strictly speaking, the lone representative of the South on the Supreme bench for a number of years.

Coming from a family of judges, his father and his grandfather before him having been on the bench, Chief Justice White had had a judicial inheritance as well as legal training. His knowledge of the civil law was generally regarded as the most profound of any man that ever sat on the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States. He developed a specialty for questions of interstate commerce, and his contribution to the law of the land probably will be a permanent one.

He was born in the parish of Lafourche, Louisiana, Nov. 3, 1845. His parents were Catholics, and he was of that faith. His education was in Catholic institutions. In his early youth, he attended the school at Mt. St. Mary's near Emmitsburg, Md.; later he entered the Jesuit College in New Orleans, and finally went to Georgetown College, of Washington, D. C.

IN CONFEDERATE ARMY.

Chief Justice White served in the Confederate Army during the Civil War; practiced law among the people of Louisiana; and became a sugar planter in its lowlands. His ability and high character were recognized by the people in repeated commissions as a public official. In 1874, he was elected as Senator in the Louisiana Legislature. Four WANTS UNITED STATES TO LEAD IN DISARMING.

World Friendship Alliance Head Asks America to Act Even if Other Nations Fail to Do So.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—The initial step in reduction of armaments should be taken by the United States, the Rev. William Pierson Merrill, chairman of the American Branch of the World Alliance for International Friendship, declared tonight in an address before the congress on reduction of armaments. He urged America to adopt a policy of reduction rather than expansion, even if other nations failed to agree to limitation of armaments.

The conference, which is being attended by delegates from eighteen States, is being held in connection with the sixth annual meeting of the Alliance for International Friendship.

The Rev. Mr. Merrill said he saw no reason for American naval expansion, adding that Japan could not compete with America in naval building and that a naval policy contemplating war with Great Britain was "shameful."

The plan to ask the 150,000 clergymen of the country to preach a sermon June 5 appealing for a reduction of armaments, was indorsed this afternoon. The delegates also were urged to have their organizations communicate with their Senators and Representatives relative to the calling of a conference on disarmament.

S. L. Gulick of New York, secretary of the oriental relations committee of the Federated Council of Churches, speaking this afternoon, declared that the armament program of both the United States and Japan is due to suspicion and fear. He said that, according to information given him, the anti-Japanese feeling in California was welcomed because the Federal government had expended $40,000,000 on Pacific Coast defenses in 1920 and that he understood some politicians planned expenditure of $100,000,000 in 1921.

JAPAN FOR BIG NAVY.

Reading from Japanese newspapers, he quoted passages showing that they advocated a small army and a large navy.

He said there had been talk of Great Britain propagandists stirring up anti-Japanese feeling in the United States. This alleged act he branded as "damnable." Mr. Gulick argued that a definite movement be made to clear the situation existing between the United States and Japan.

Edward T. Cummings of Boston, secretary of the World Peace Union, declared that the world is bankrupt from the use of arms.

"For the first time in history an empire, Austria, has gone into the hands of the receivers," he declared.

Three-fourths of the nations are running into debts for armaments. The normal expenditures of the United States for armaments constitute 76 per cent of the nation's expenses.

"We are piling up on the taxpayers a burden. All we ask is a conference before we go further toward plunging ourselves into economic slavery.

"The next war will be one of extermination. That is the kind of civilization we are preparing for. Instead of getting together as a family of nations we spend our time discussing the future world and whether we will wear asbestos there. Now is the time for the church to redeem a dying world. The verdict of history shows that the world is dying of armaments and war."

DEFENDS JAPANESE.

Earl S. Parker, an instructor in the Los Angeles High Schools, and also secretary of the American League of Justice, pleaded for a better understanding of the Japanese question in California, asserting that the Japanese were law-abiding people, anxious to become Americans so far as America would allow them.

"America has denied the Japanese citizenship and should not object to his natural allegiance to Japan and his desire to teach his own language to his children," continued Mr. Parker. "Someone has said that when an alien learns to crab at the umpire at a baseball game, he has become Americanized. I have seen the Jap at baseball and football games and I think he is pretty well Americanized," he declared.

He held no brief for Japan, said Mr. Parker, in conclusion, but he believed that America should judge the Japanese by a different standard than that of the past. A war between Japan and the United States would tear down much of civilization, he believed.

CONFERENCE FAVORED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) May 18. President Harding was asked to call the leading nations of the world into conference to consider plans for universal disarmament, by a resolution adopted today by the general conference of the United Brethren Church.

"Now is the time to educate for world peace," said the resolution. "Armaments are an ineffective guarantee against war. Preparedness is the strongest inducement for war. Now is the time when the Christian church should speak in no uncertain terms in favor of a naval holiday."

The resolution also recited that the World War brought industrial chaos, famine to Central Europe, a staggering debt and cost 10,000,000 lives and then concluded:

"In view of the foregoing, be it resolved that we, the members of the general conference of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ, representing a constituency of nearly 2,000,000 people, request the President to invite at the earliest date possible, the leading nations to a conference for the consideration of world-wide disarmament."

CHIEF JUSTICE WHITE IS DEAD.

years later, he was appointed associate justice of the Supreme Court of the State.

In 1891 Mr. White became a national figure. A Senatorial contest was waged in Louisiana, and he entered the race. He had managed the campaign of Gov. Nichols for re-election and had been prominent in the reform element of Louisiana. He had fought vigorously in favor of the antilottery movement. The Legislature finally chose him to succeed Senator Eustis.

IN SENATE THREE YEARS.

Chief Justice White was in the Senate three years before he was elevated to the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States by President Cleveland, in 1894. During that period he distinguished himself on two occasions. One was in the debate on the antioption law, when Senator White made a profound legal argument against the constitutionality of the measure. The other occasion was during the struggle over the repeal of the Sherman Act, when he advocated the views President Cleveland was known to entertain on the subject.

His nomination to the bench ended a memorable contest in the Senate. Two New Yorkers had been nominated by President Cleveland, but both failed of confirmation. Throwing to the winds the custom which for eighty-eight years had kept a New York man on the bench, Mr. Cleveland named Senator White. He was confirmed within an hour.

NAMED BY TAFT.

Almost as unusual as his appointment as associate justice was his elevation to the chief justiceship. In 1910, when President Taft was besought by various factions of the Republican party to appoint first this man and then that to succeed Chief Justice Fuller, the President boldly disregarded the custom regarding the selection of justices from his own party and that precedent frowning on the promotion of an associate justice to the chief justiceship, and sent to the Senate the nomination of Justice White. His nomination was confirmed immediately.

"What's the Big Idea?"

Slang epitomizes the most valuable attribute of successful advertising in asking—"What's the big idea?"

For example, a manufacturer in the Middle West advertised his make of band instruments for years and succeeded in modest measure.

When an advertising man of experience took the account, his query was: "What's the big idea?"

The idea evolved was very simple—advertisements in magazines, headed "Start a band in your own town," and literature hinting at the pleasure, profit and distinction of playing in a band right down Main Street.

What could be more alluring than to wear a fine uniform, and on the Fourth of July lead bravely in a martial air, to which your own slip-horn or cornet contributed?

As a result, hundreds and hundreds of new bands were formed and so an immediate and growing market was created for band instruments.

The better the idea, the less it costs to advertise.

The Big idea may be present but unnoticed, either in your product or in its use.

Consult an advertising man of ability and experience—he may discover the Big idea.

Thousands Enlist in Fight for Pacific Naval Bases.

WHOLE FLEET COMING HERE.

Added Impetus Given Campaign for Navy Bases on Pacific Coast.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The plan to shortly consolidate the entire American fleet in Pacific Coast waters today gave added impetus to the campaign being waged by the West for adequate naval bases on the western seaboard. Telegrams by hundreds are arriving daily, urging the western Congressmen to fight for the approval of the Navy's construction program providing ample shore facilities for a fighting fleet in the Pacific.

It is feared that when the whole fleet is here the lack of these facilities will be so manifest as to imperil the Coast's naval strength in the future—in other words that not only the Atlantic Fleet will be withdrawn, but a good part of the present Pacific one as well. That this is now contemplated, however, is denied by both President Harding and Secretary Denby.

Congressman Osborne today presented to President Harding a letter urging the retention of the fleet on the Pacific through adequate naval bases and including with his communication copies of many telegrams received by him from his district in Southern California. Later Mr. Osborne and Congressman Lineberger called on Secretary Denby and received his assurance that the Pacific Fleet is to be kept on the West Coast. Mr. Osborne wired these assurances to those who had telegraphed him.

In spite of these assurances Congressmen Osborne and Lineberger are certain that much of the future security of the Pacific Coast depends on the start of the naval bases and are prepared to do everything in their power to secure the adoption of the bill with the Senate amendments for the Pacific naval bases. They expect a fight, but will do their utmost to prevent a deadlock and a delay of a year in getting started the shore establishments that are absolutely necessary to the permanent maintenance of a big and powerful naval fleet on the Pacific Ocean for the protection of the Coast and the development of the oriental and South Seas trade.

LOS ANGELES BASE APPROVED

resolutions, letters and telegrams poured into the Senate will carry the day in the upper house of Congress, but the real fight will come in the House of Representatives.

To the hundreds of strong resolutions already adopted and forwarded by California organizations yesterday on behalf of the naval-base program were added yesterday emphatic demands formulated and passed by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, the Los Angeles Produce Exchange, the Wednesday Morning Club, the Current Events Club of Ontario, the Southern California Council, Daughters of the American Revolution, and others.

A valuable and practical suggestion was submitted by J. H. Kirkpatrick of the Buckeye Rifles Service, who has already put it into effect himself. This is that all persons now visiting or temporarily resident in Los Angeles and from other places shall write or wire to their home State Congressmen exactly as though they were still at home, urging these Congressmen to get behind the naval-base program. In this way, with its great number of transients, Los Angeles can exert pressure on practically the entire Congress. Mr. Kirkpatrick, who recently arrived here from Arkansas, has already written to the Arkansas, Congressmen and Senators.

Los Angeles citizens yesterday splendidly responded to the appeal to sign petitions calling upon Congress for favorable action on all the Pacific Coast naval appropriations. Hundreds of names were signed and were forwarded last night to Senator Shortridge, in Washington.

SHORTRIDGE TELEGRAM.

Senator Shortridge last night sent the following telegram to Boyle Workman, president of the City Council:

"Matter mentioned in your May 16 telegram is receiving my earnest and sympathetic attention." This wire was in response to the City Council's resolution approving the Navy's proposed naval base appropriations for this Coast.

It is highly desirable that hundreds of additional names be signed to petitions on file at the information bureau of The Times and at other locations listed in this newspaper, as there is need not only to give all available support to our own representatives in Congress, but to effectually impress the representatives from other States with the temper of the people of this Coast.

THE RESOLUTION.

The Supervisors' resolution follows:

"Inasmuch as it is of utmost importance to the Pacific Coast that the Pacific Fleet be maintained as at present in the Pacific waters, and

"Inasmuch as this will be impossible without the construction of needed naval bases on the Pacific Coast,

"Now therefore, be it resolved: That this Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county do respectfully and seriously urge the Congress of the United States to approve without delay the appropriations recommended for the construction of needed naval bases on the Pacific Coast as set forth in the report of the joint committee of the Senate and House of Representatives.

"Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be immediately sent to our representatives in Congress, both Senate and House."

Urging without delay approval of the appropriation recommended for the construction of naval bases on the Pacific Coast as the need has been set forth in the report of the joint committee of the Senate and the House of Representatives the Wednesday Morning Club yesterday passed a resolution with enthusiastic unanimity.

The clubhouse was crowded when Mrs. F. W. Fuller put the motion to vote. There was immediate response and the satisfaction of the club was evidenced in the breeze of conversation that swept about the auditorium. It was urged that the telegram convey the resolution to apprise Congress at once of the strong sentiment in favor of the necessary bases.

Members of the Current Events Club, the largest women's organization in Ontario, yesterday unanimously adopted strong resolutions urging Congress to make appropriations at once for the building of naval bases on this coast in order that the Pacific Fleet may be retained here permanently, not only for the welfare of this coast, but for the good of the entire nation.

The matter was presented by Mrs. Ross Petch Garbutt, prominent member of the club, who quoted from the Los Angeles Times regarding the threatened peril to the Navy program through the action of obstructionists. Mrs. Garbutt's suggestion that the club go on record as to its stand in the matter met with instant response and resolutions were at once adopted which were wired to Washington.

FROM PRODUCE MEN.

Addressed to "His Excellency, the President of the United States; to the Hon. Calvin Coolidge, president of the United States; to the Speaker of the House of Representatives," and to Senators Samuel M. Shortridge and Hiram Johnson and Congressmen H. Z. Osborne and Walter F. Lineberger, the following resolution, unanimously adopted by the Produce Exchange of Los Angeles, was telegraphed to Washington last night:

The Produce Exchange of Los Angeles representing over 100 firms in the produce, fruit, wholesale grocerie, packing and dairy products industries, as well as several farm and growers' associations, are vitally interested in securing adequate protection on the Pacific Coast seaboard, and to this end earnestly urge upon you the vital necessity of immediate action in approving the appropriations recommended by the Navy Department for a Pacific naval base program. Believing that the matter is of utmost importance we earnestly solicit your favorable consideration.

UNIONS QUIT IN MARINE STRIKE.

Just taken place in Great Britain, the British scale being reduced about $12.15 per month. As nearly as can be estimated the average reduction approximates the 15 per cent reduction proposed here."

FULL FORCE AHEAD.

When the present labor trouble threatened a serious tie-up of American shipping, Chairman Benson said, the Shipping Board was faced with the question of whether it should "stop its advertising or go ahead full force. It unhesitatingly chose the latter course," he said. The results of the continued campaign of advertising, the chairman added, had borne out that judgment.

"The new reduced wage scale is in effect," the chairman said in conclusion, "and the Shipping Board will continue to make use of all its resources to keep its ships moving and prevent the success of this effort to defeat the permanent re-establishment of the American merchant marine."

NO MORE AGREEMENTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—The executive and wage committees of the American Steamship Owners' Association today adopted a resolution setting forth that hereafter the organization would have no signed agreements with any seagoing employees' labor union.

This announcement was made by H. H. Raymond, president of the association, shortly after the general strike committee of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association had left for Washington, presumably to confer there with Secretary of Labor Davis, on a proposal for settlement of the nation-wide marine strike.

Mr. Raymond asserted that the action of the owners today assured protection in employment and preference in promotion to engineer officers who stood by their ships or who signed on anew in the American merchant marine.

PORTLAND, May 18.—The steamer Eelbeck, which has been fully loaded for several days and held up by the strike, left here late today with a cargo of wheat for Leghorn, Italy. The Eelbeck is the fifth Shipping Board steamer to be sent out of Portland with full nonunion crew since the strike started May 1.

TANKER GETS CREW.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, May 18.—The first vessel to secure a nonunion crew here since the beginning of the seamen's strike on May 1, the General Petroleum tanker Yorba Linda, sailed early this morning for an unstated destination, presumably Seattle, with a full cargo of oil.

The Yorba Linda arrived from Tampico, Mex., May 9. After loading the vessel was towed into the outer harbor, where she dropped anchor, awaiting the filling in of vacancies in the crew list.

The vessel was boarded in the outer harbor last Friday evening by a gang of twenty men, who engaged in battle with the six members of the crew who were aboard at the time. One member of the crew was shot, another injured with a lumber hook, and others had black eyes and bruised faces. An offer of $2500 reward for the arrest of any of the attackers is as yet unclaimed.

PARIS STAGE RUNS RIOT.

BY HENRY WALES.

[EXCLUSIVE WIRELESS DISPATCH.]

PARIS, May 18.—Restrained from presenting exhibitions of feminine nudity by the Prefect of Police, Paris theatrical managers now are producing lewd scenes and suggestive lines which the authorities are not able to censor, because, when police officials appear, the dialogue is changed into inoffensive speech.

The new Apollo Revue, in which Elsie Janis is being starred, illustrates the change. No naked women appear, but a trio of scenes laid successively in an ancient Roman drinking garden, the island of Lesbos, and in the palace of Henry III, are regarded as the spiciest things yet shown.

FIGHT FOR FAVOR.

In the first scene unclad men replace undraped women. In it a group of gladiators are fighting to the death for the society of the Empress Messaline, who has stopped in a low resort, while on a slumming trip. A negro wins her favor.

In the next scene Sappho is featured, and in the third two powdered youths are shown duelling for favors of King Henry. Elsie Janis does not appear in any of the scenes, her clean acts being sandwiched in between watertight compartments.

The Casino de Paris, the Folies Bergere, and the concert Mayol are using the broadest and strongest lines in their new revues, replacing the former feminine nudity with coarse vulgarity. Most of these rough lines are over the heads of the American tourists, as they are couched in trench slang or Montmartre argot, which is incomprehensible to the unitiated.

The managers of a little Montmartre theater, where one-act plays are given, were forced to withdraw a piece in which two women morphine fiends attack a 6-year-old girl during a revel. Even the callous French audience was not able to stand the disgusting details so vividly portrayed.

"HANDS OFF" IS HUGHES' STAND.

Treaty of Versailles and the result of the plebiscite.

"In reply I have the honor to inform you that, in my opinion, the settlement of such boundary disputes is a matter of European concern in which, in accord with the traditional policy of the United States, this government should not become involved. The attitude of the government is clearly understood by its representatives in Europe, who will therefore, so far as at present may be seen, take no part in the discussions concerning Upper Silesia, and will express no opinion as to the settlement."

POLAND'S APPEAL.

Poland, in appealing to the United States for support, said that the inter-Allied plebiscite commission had been holding in suspense for two months a decision and was "playing with the high-strung feelings of the population."

"It is rumored," said the note, "that a decision will not be in accordance with the outcome of the plebiscite, but in accordance with the political combinations and interests of powers represented in the inter-Allied plebiscite commission and the Supreme Council.

"The result of an unfavorable decision on Upper Silesia would be the return of over a million people under German bondage. Previous settlement of Polish affairs by the Supreme Council gave a basis for such a supposition. Inasmuch as the popular impression in Poland is that the decision on Danzig, Wilno, etc., taken by the delegates of the Allied powers, with the exception of France, has been prompted, not by principles of justice, but by the material interests of these powers, it is not surprising that the Poles of Silesia rushed to arms and preferred to perish rather than submit themselves to the political combinations."

REITERATE ATTITUDE.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 18.—Prime Minister Lloyd George issued a statement today reiterating the British attitude towards the Upper Silesian question expressed by him in his recent speech in the House of Commons, and disclaiming responsibility for the distorted reports in the French newspapers." In the course of the statement he said:

"The fate of Upper Silesia must be decided by the Supreme Council and not by Korfanty.

"Violation of the treaty cannot be allowed to break crockery in Europe with impunity. Somebody must place a restraining hand on them; otherwise there will be continual trouble."

PREMIER'S STATEMENT.

The Prime Minister's statement began as follows: "I adhere to the statement I made in the House of Commons on the subject of Silesia. Naturally I can only accept responsibility for what I actually said, and not for the truncated and distorted reports in the French newspapers. The almost unanimous approval given by the American and the Italian, as well as the British press, to the sentiments I then expressed, show that the great nations who stood by the side of France in the war mean to interpret the Treaty of Versailles fairly."

"I have never witnessed such unanimity on any question," continued the statement. "All shades of opinion in these three countries take the same view. It would be unfortunate were the French press to take a different view, but we must be tolerant of differences of opinion amongst ourselves.

"With all respect, I would say to the French press that the habit of treating every expression of Allied opinion which does not coincide with their own, as an impertinence, is fraught with mischief.

"That attitude of mind, if persisted in, will be fatal to any Entente.

STAND BY TREATY.

"The stand taken by the British, American and Italian public on the Silesian question ought not to be offensive to France. They stand by the Treaty of Versailles. They mean to apply the terms of the treaty justly, whether they happen to be for or against Germany.

"The course of the world in the coming years cannot be foreseen. The mists ahead are more than usually dense. Much will depend upon the Allies' holding together.

"Apart from treaty obligations, events which cannot be foreseen must determine the future groupings of the nations and the future of the world, and especially of Europe, will be determined by old or new friendships.

"Under these circumstances the Treaty of Versailles is a document of infinite moment, especially to the nations of the Entente. It binds us together when there is so much to divide us. Those who treat its provisions as if they were the sport of passion and prejudice, may not have to live long to regret their hotheadedness.

SHIRK NO DUTY.

"The British people shirk no part of their responsibility under this treaty. There are temporary differences which make it difficult to spare troops, but these I confidently anticipate, will be over soon, and I call attention to the fact that at the recent conference we intimated our readiness if Germany refused the terms of the Allied council, to place the British fleet at the disposal of the Allies for any operation that might be determined upon.

"The British government was anxious to have the division of Silesia considered at the London conference. All the facts of the plebiscite were known; however, our Allies were not ready to proceed with the discussion.

"We will abide faithfully by the decision given by a majority of the powers who have a voice under the treaty in defining the Silesian boundaries, whatever that verdict may be. We fully accept the plebiscite as an expression of the wishes of the people of Silesia, but having gone into the Great War, we sustained gigantic losses in defense of an old treaty to which this country was a party, and Great Britain cannot consent to stand by whilst the treaty her representatives signed less than two years ago is being trampled upon."

BANK CAPTURES PLUM

American Institution to Handle German 150,000,000 Gold Mark Payment.

BY HENRY WALES.

[EXCLUSIVE WIRELESS DISPATCH.]

PARIS, May 18.—An American bank, probably [illegible] will handle Germany's first reparations payment of 150,000,000 (about $37,500,000.) the Reparations Commission decided today. The commission will notify the German government to deposit the gold coin securities, with the Reichsbank and to send a check for the equivalent in marks to a New York bank. This bank will then send the check to Berlin, at the current exchange, to the Reparations Commission in Paris, which will deposit it in a French bank.

Although the actual gold will remain in Germany it will not be available for usage there, and it will be transferred from the Reichsbank to any one the American bank names.

The decision was taken because of the impracticability and expense of transferring fifty tons of gold to Paris, together with the great bulk of paper securities. The transaction is regarded as a plum for the American bank receiving it, and it is reported here that Thomas W. Lamont secured it for the Morgan bank during his visit here. Mr. Lamont left Paris for London last night.

SECURITIES VARIED.

The list of foreign securities with which Germany has offered to make up the 140,000,000 gold marks balance includes securities valued in American dollars, French, Belgian and Swiss francs, Dutch guilders, Scandinavian crowns, and various South American moneys. Some Russian rubles are also included, but they are covered by guarantees.

A popular outcry by the opposition to the French government is expected when it is learned that Germany is not shipping the 150,000,000 marks to Paris. The revelation that only 10,000,000 marks in gold are expected is a bitter pill, but the financial experts decided it was the only feasible means of effecting the transaction.

borders to labor and live shall be of a type and number that will melt into our population.

"We find that various governments are lending influence and support to secure for their nationals in countries foreign to them exclusive concessions over raw materials and implements of commerce. This will shut the door and close equality of opportunity.

CREATION OF TRUSTS.

"We find in some countries the creation of great trusts, whose activities can dominate the efforts of individual merchants of other nationalities in foreign trade. At the same time we and many other states continue systematically to prevent great consolidations that might dominate production and distribution.

"We find in various countries encouragement being given combinations and agreements between exporters and manufacturers, whose object is again to dominate certain trades. We find encouragement being given combinations of importers and thus the development of power to dictate prices and the yield of labor in exporting countries.

"It represents a tendency toward militant exploitation and domination of commerce of which the whole commercial world must take notice. The processes have not yet reached dimensions that make remedy impossible. The danger of further drift in these policies is not alone a danger in the extinction of individualism. It can, if it goes on, become a menace to the peace of the world."

Pacific Desk Company

Play to Millions of People Daily

Associated First National Pictures claims to represent the largest organization of Independent Theater Owners in the world.

This great institution purchases pictures from the producers and sells direct to the theaters.

Here again, as is invariably the case with the most successful enterprises, we find an organization which recognizes the supreme importance of Service in the execution of its vast activities.

And so, naturally, when Associated First National Pictures moved into its handsome offices in the new Pacific Finance Building, this same dominant business principle which identifies the Pacific Desk Company, led to the choice of this concern for supplying the office furnishings.

The personal equation is unquestionably the element which tips the invisible beam of decision as to where we shall do our trading.

One rarely stops to analyze the basic cause, but again and again we find ourselves attracted to the house in which the desire to serve transcends the wish to merely sell. This is the spirit which the Pacific Desk Company strives to perpetuate in its commercial relationships.

Vote for the Library Bonds

Every citizen of Los Angeles should get behind the Bonds for a Public Library Building, and boost for them until election day. There is no great municipal improvement which is so sadly needed, or which will benefit so large a number of people.

cover his health, and came here in January of this year. He was advised to spend the winter in a warmer climate and visited in California, returning early this month. His condition was favorable for an operation and continued improvement was noted until the heart attack which caused death.

Mrs. Lane and George W. Lane, a brother, were called to the former Secretary's bedside shortly before 8 a.m. today and were with him when he died. Last night it was thought that he was much improved.

Although Lane said following the operation that he was "surprised to be allve," his improvement recently had been so marked that his death was unexpected. His son, Franklin K. Lane, and his daughter, Mrs. Phillip Kauffman, were at their homes when their father died, as was his sister, Mrs. M. A. Andersen of Oakland, Cal.

George W. Lane said this morning that his brother left "no estate whatsoever."

The body will be taken to Chicago tonight, accompanied by his brother and widow.

George Lane said his brother did not leave a will.

BORN IN CANADA.

It was often said of Franklin K. Lane that if he had been born in the United States instead of Canada he would have been Presidential timber. After serving seven years in President Wilson's Cabinet as Secretary of the Interior, he resigned his $12,000-a-year post in expensive Washington early in 1920 "in justice to his family" to become vice-president and legal adviser of the Mexican petroleum companies controlled by Edward L. Doheny.

Born near Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, July 15, 1864, the son of a Canadian doctor who removed to California during the boy's childhood, young Lane was educated at the University of California, from which he was graduated in 1886. By reason of his scholastic achievements the honorary degree of LL.D. was conferred upon him some years later by his alma mater and by New York and Brown universities and the University of North Carolina.

BECAME NEWSPAPER MAN.

Upon leaving college he engaged in newspaper work, becoming part owner and editor of the Tacoma (Wash.) Daily News. In 1888 he was admitted to the bar of California and from 1897 until 1902 served as corporation counsel of San Francisco. In the latter year he was the Democratic candidate for Governor of California, but was not elected. He received the party vote of the State Legislature in 1902 for United States Senator. Appointed a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission by President Roosevelt in 1905, later becoming chairman, Lane was serving in that capacity when he was made Secretary of the Interior.

During his service on the Interstate Commerce Commission he earned the reputation of being a progressive. His decisions in the railway cases were said to have been almost invariably pleasing to men of advanced ideas. He favored for years a national corporation commission similar to the Interstate Commerce Commission, with power to regulate all business enterprises engaged in interstate commerce as the most effective remedy for trust evils. He also advocated a commission form of government for Alaska. He was elected a member of the permanent International Railway Commission, organized in 1910 at the international railway congress in Berne, Switzerland.

SIGNED MEXICAN PROTOCOL.

In 1916 Mr. Lane headed the American delegates at a joint conference with high commissioners from Mexico, as a result of which a protocol was signed at Atlantic City and United States troops were withdrawn from that country.

When the United States entered the war in 1917 Secretary Lane, in a number of public speeches, outlined the country's purposes and urged business men to show "sacrifices as worthy as those of the men on their way to the trenches." In numerous addresses in behalf of the Liberty Loans he declared the defeat of the United States was "unthinkable" and that the government was determined to see the war fought to a finish.

When peace came he devised plans for the employment of returning troops, urged Congress to federalize the Americanization of the foreign-born, aided in the reconstruction of France and other war-torn nations, and advocated immediate passage of a bill to give farms to soldiers. He was also active in the Council for National Defense and the American Red Cross.

SUPPORTER OF LEAGUE.

Secretary Lane was a keen supporter of the League of Nations covenant and advocated ratification of the Peace Treaty of Versailles.

In the summer of 1919 Secretary Lane recommended to the President the calling of a conference of representatives of American capital, labor and industry to discuss economic problems. The National Industrial Conference, of which Lane was made chairman, was the result. As chairman of the Railroad Wage Commission in 1918 he helped to settle a number of strikes and avert threatened walkouts.

Lane married in 1893 Miss Anne Wintermute of Tacoma, Wash. Two children were born to them, Mrs. Nancy Lane Kauffman of Washington and Lieut. Franklin K. Lane, Jr., U.S.A., of Los Angeles.

SHOCK IN WASHINGTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Word of the death of Franklin K. Lane came as a peculiar shock today to the nation's Capitol, for so many years even more his home than California. There were manifestations of grief from the President to the messengers in the Interior Department who had known so long the kindly, humorous, but efficient public servant.

Messages of sympathy to Mrs. Lane from the President and Mrs. Harding, former President Wilson and scores of others. The Harding message follows:

"I have just learned of the death of your distinguished husband and am writing to express my very great shock and my exceedingly deep sorrow over his untimely passing. He was an outstanding American who rendered most distinguished service to his country and found an abiding place in the affections of all who knew him well. Mrs. Harding joins me in an expression of most sympathetic condolence."

Mr. Wilson did not make public what he had said to Mrs. Lane of the man who stood by him in his Cabinet for seven years.

The blow fell most sharply at the home of Mrs. Phillip C. Kauffman, his only daughter.

VIEWS ON DEATH.

In a message sent to Washington friends after his recent operation Lane gave expression to some of his views on death and his impressions upon coming out from under the influence of the anaesthetic.

The message follows in part:

"It is Wednesday afternoon and I am now sitting up in bed talking to my good friend Cotter. Until yesterday I did not clearly visualize any one thing in this room and did not know that it had a window except that there was a place that noise came through, but I did know that it had a yellow oak door that stared at me with its great big square eye all day and all night. Last Friday, you see, about 10 in the morning, I took the step that I should have taken months, yes, years ago. Today, most tentatively, I crawled onto a chair and ate my first mouthful of solid food. But four days ago I managed to shave myself, and I am regarded as pretty spry.

"I have seen death come to men in various ways, some rather novel, western. I once saw a man hanged. And I have seen several men shot and came very near going out that way myself two or three times, but always the other fellow aimed poorly . . .

WALKED INTO VALLEY.

"But never before have I been called upon to deliberately walk into the valley of the shadow, and, say what you will, it is a great act. I have said during the past months of endless examination that a man with a little curiosity and little humor and a little money, who was not in too great pain, could enjoy himself studying the ways of doctors and nurses as he journeyed the invalid's path. It has indeed, made a flowery path for me, as much as any path could be in which a man suffered more humiliation and distress and thwarting and frustration, on the whole, than he did pain.

"But here was a path to the end of which I could not see. I was not compelled to take it. My very latest doctor advised me against taking it. I could live some time without taking it. It was a bet on the high card with a chance to win, and I took it.

"At this point occurred details regarding the preparations for the operation, with a note of the fact that a general anaesthetic could not be applied on account of the patient's heart, which "had been cutting up some didoes."

The statement continues:

HAD LONG WONDERED.

"For two days I had knowledge that this operation was to take place at this time and my nerves had not been just as good as they should have been. Those men who sleep twelve hours perfectly before being electrocuted have evidntly led more tranquil lives than I have or have less concern as to the future. Lo, I was to know the great secret! For four years I had been wondering, wondering. Often I had said to myself that I should summon to my mind when this moment came, some words that would be somewhat a synthesis of my philosophy. Socrates said to those who stood by after he had drunk the hemlock 'No evil can befall a good man, whether he be alive or dead.' I don't know how far from that we have gone in these 2400 years.

"The apothegm, however, was not opposite to me, because it involved a declaration that I was a good man, and I don't know anyone who has the right to so appreciate himself. And I had come to the conclusion that, perhaps, the best statement of my creed could be fitted into the words 'I accept,' which to me meant that if in the law of nature my individual spirit was to go back into the great ocean of spirits, my one duty was to conform. 'Lead kindly light' was all the gospel I had. I accepted."

MANY LOCAL FRIENDS.

Although he only maintained a temporary residence here, while he was connected with the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, Franklin K. Lane was well known in this city, where he numbered his friends and acquaintances by the hundreds.

After his retirement from the secretaryship of the Department of the Interior, March 1, 1920, he accepted a position as vice-president and counselor for the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport Company, of which E. L. Doheny of this place, is the head. The post is said to have carried with it a salary of $50,000.

J. M. Danziger, vice-president of the company, said yesterday that Lane died a genuinely poor man. Twenty-one years of public life had given him but a living salary, Danziger said, and sickness had doubtless drawn heavily upon the salary he had earned in the last year of his life, which accounts for his brother's statement to the effect that "he left no estate."

WILSON'S PRAISE.

Upon his retirement from the Cabinet, President Wilson addressed a note to him in which he said:

"I hope your future will be as full of honorable success as your past."

Lane divided his time between the company's offices in this city and New York during his connection with the oil company, and was on his way to the New York office when an attack of heart trouble caused him to turn aside from his route and journey to the Mayo Hospital in Rochester, Minn., for a second surgical operation.

The family home was maintained at Oakland for many years, but Mr. Lane always felt at home in Southern California, and took more than a friendly interest in the progress and development of this city. He addressed meetings of the Chamber of Commerce here several times in recent months, and was a frequent speaker at other public meetings when here.

Among his particular friends in this city were E. L. Doheny; J. M. Danziger; Isador B. Dockweiler and Tim Spellacy. He knew hundreds of other citizens by their first, as well as their last names. Speaking of him and his accomplishments, last night, Danziger characterized him as a true Democrat, a public servant for twenty-one years, who had so little ambition to accumulate worldly gain that he died a poor man.

REGAINS HEARING VIA NOSE DIVE.

Airplane Ride Proves Beneficial to Deaf Kansas Farmer.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

EMPORIA (Kan.) May 18. A nose dive in an airplane from a height of 4500 feet yesterday restored the hearing of John Fowler, a farmer living near Emporia. Fowler was unable to hear the noise of the motor until the dive was made. He now can hear distinctly. He lost his hearing a year ago.

"READ 'EM AND WEEP, FADE ME."

Bay City Girls Shake Wicked Wrist, Says Bailey.

"Teach 'Em? They Taught Me," He Asserts.

Police Are Interested in His Crap-Shooting School.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, May 17.—"I wish to equip my infant with a new set of moccasins."

"Good morning, seven."

"Be on your way, eleven, or I shall summon a cop. I have never been introduced to you."

It isn't Stanley E. Bailey's record as a distributor of doubtful checks that interests the San Francisco police. Detectives are on their way from the Pacific Coast today to take Mr. Bailey back to the Golden Gate, where he may be required to explain his tricks of penmanship. But that is only incidental.

Dispatches from San Francisco indicate that Mr. Bailey's greatest crime was this: He taught San Francisco's society women how to shoot craps, but not how to shoot them as well as he did. His profits from this course of instruction are said to have been enormous.

Little Joseph and his brethren, Large Richard and Ditto Elizabeth, were brought into the most exclusive circles of Nob Hill and introduced to women of fashion by Bailey. San Francisco society, being democratic to a degree, accepted these interlopers without any comment except the stock phrases of polite interchange, such as: "Read 'em and weep," "Shoot the piece," "Fade me boy, fade me," etc.

COSTLY INSTRUCTION.

Several prominent women are said to have attended his classes at the Hotel Del Monte, where they spent thousands of dollars in a scientific investigation of the law of averages.

Bailey will be asked also about the disappearance of a $5000 automobile, the property of one of the fashionable and enthusiastic crap-shooters, and concerning the failure of San Francisco banks to honor a number of checks left to meet hotel bills.

Mr. Bailey in his cell at the detective bureau scoffed at the suggestion that he had acted as mentor to the society women of California in matters of seven and eleven and such like.

"They didn't need any teaching," he declared. "The society women there carry dice in their handbags all the time and spend their spare moments shooting craps. Teach 'em! Those girls taught me."

AEOLIAN-VOCALIONS

Supplied by the Birkel Co.

Because of its superior reproducing qualities, its beautiful tonal results and its sturdy construction, the Vocalion was selected as the instrument best qualified to withstand these unusually trying requirements. A phonograph that will stand up under these severe tests is surely the best fitted instrument for service in your home.

The fact that the Vocalion was chosen as the instrument most truly in harmony with the interior decorations of these floating palaces is indeed a tribute to its beauty of line and its rich finish.

One may gain a fair conception of the wonderful decorative scheme of the Yale and Harvard from the beautiful Gothic-design Vocalion, shown above, duplicates of which have been placed on both ships.

The Vocalion may be obtained here on liberal monthly terms—in both the Period and the regular models.

MADAME CURIE YELLS FOR AID.

Los Angeles "Tipped Off" to Go Easy.

Eastern Greetings Give Her a Swollen Hand.

Noted Scientist Will Spend Two Days Here.

BY HARRY CARR.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—When Mme. Curie arrives in Los Angeles June 7, it will not be necessary to break the lady's hand in order to express gratitude to her for discovering radium.

When she appeared at Smith College last week she had such a cordial reception that her friends have been obliged to issue a special bulletin to the public asking people to whom she is introduced to go easy on the hand grip. Immediately after the reception at Smith she felt that her right hand was sore, it began to swell immediately afterward, and now is in a seriously lacerated condition.

The Smith girls say with indignation that it must have been some men doctors who were present—they shake hands like perfect ladies.

WAS NOT POSTED.

The truth is nobody took the trouble to tell the lady the technique of American handshaking. All our Presidents had this same trouble and every White House reception was invariably followed by the hot poultice until Roosevelt came along. Teddy discovered that the way to avoid a bruised hand was always to get the grip on the other fellow.

That explained his "de-lighted" and his quick cordial handshake. It wasn't so much that he loved as it was that he wanted to grip your hand before you could grip his.

Mme. Curie has made the biggest hit of any foreign celebrity who has come to New York since Joffre. She has a shy way of asking queer embarrassing questions. She gave all the New York papers a chuckle the other day by asking the Vice-President in Washington what was the difference between the Democratic and Republican parties.

One of the papers remarked grimly that if the lady found out it is to be hoped that she slipped the information to the rest of the nation.

TRIP HURRIED ONE.

Mme. Curie's first plan was to go only as far West as the Grand Canyon. She now intends to leave New York June 1, arriving in Dayton June 2, the following day she will go to Chicago. Her next stopping place will be Grand Canyon on June 6, arriving in Los Angeles June 7, she will be in Pasadena June 8, and again in Los Angeles the next day. Her present plan is to leave for Chicago that night. She will sail for France June 22.

Mme. Curie, by the way, has issued a denial of her reported claim that radium would infallibly cure cancer if used rightly. She says she has never made such a statement. That radium treatment is beneficial in cancer cases is as far as she has ever gone.

Last night the little French woman managed to shake all the scientific big bugs who have camped on her trail since her arrival, and went to the theater to see "Enter Madam," which she enjoyed with the fresh delight of a child.

JOHNSON SEEKS NEW QUARREL.

Would Block Confirmation of Schurman's Name.

Pro-Japanese Tendencies is Basis of Opposition.

Harding Gratified to Secure Acceptance of Post.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Hiram Johnson is picking another quarrel with the administration. This time he is the leader of a little circle of Senators and western men who propose to prevent, if possible, the confirmation of Dr. James Gould Schurman for Ambassador to China. The ground of their opposition is that of alleged pro-Japanese tendencies on the part of Dr. Schurman, who is regarded by many as an ideal candidate for the mission to Peking. For many years he was the distinguished head of Cornell University and is widely known in international law and intercourse.

President Harding was highly gratified when he secured the acceptance of Dr. Schurman, and has received many letters and telegrams of congratulation upon his nomination of such a scholarly and well-equipped American for the China post.

CHINA ALSO PLEASED.

His appointment caused much gratification also in China, where it was looked upon as a desire of the Harding administration to still further strengthen the friendship which has always existed between the two countries.

SHOWS JOHNSON PETTINESS.

Those best informed upon the qualifications and predilections of Dr. Schurman state positively that the charges are trivial and without foundation. They regard the opposition as another evidence of his pettiness in opposing any nomination of President Harding on which the slightest objection could be made. They cite the recent actions of Johnson as the building up of a one-sided feud between the California Senator and the administration in which Johnson has been the aggressor and always defeated.

Like the nomination of David H. Blair, named for Internal Revenue Commissioner, the Senate will undoubtedly confirm Dr. Schurman without even the formality of hearing the alleged charges, and whatever action the committee may take the Senate is sure to confirm him as soon as it gets the opportunity to vote on his selection.

Senator Johnson has picked out another losing fight and is getting farther out beyond the breastworks with every proposal of this kind that he makes.

Painter Packs 1000 Silver Dollars in Open Sack Seven Miles on Wager.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

HURLEY (Wis.) May 18.—By carrying 1000 silver dollars in an open sack, with both arms to the shoulder, from Hurley to Bessemer, Mich., seven miles, William Jalo won a wager of $1000. Jalo, who is a painter and is 50 years of age, made the trip in one hour and fifty minutes. The load weighed sixty-nine pounds.

CITE COUNSEL FOR BERGDOLL.

Slacker's Attorney Forced to Answer Questions.

Loses Defiant Air in Face of Jail Sentence.

House Committee Refuses to Hear Defense.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Threatened with a jail sentence if he persisted in refusing to answer questions, Harry L. Weinberger, erstwhile counsel for Emma Goldman and more recently attorney for Grover C. Bergdoll, the millionaire draft slacker, abandoned his defiant air before the House investigating committee and agreed to furnish the information desired.

At the same time the committee issued a new summons upon Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, the mother of the escaped slacker, notifying her to appear before the committee in Washington tomorrow with books and papers showing the financial accounts of her sons, Grover and Erwin.

TOLD MRS. BERGDOLL ILL.

When Mrs. Bergdoll was before the committee last week she promised to furnish the committee with books and papers showing the financial transactions of her slacker sons. John F. McDevitt, an agent of the Department of Justice, called upon Mrs. Bergdoll for the books last night and was informed she was ill.

Representative Peters, chairman of the committee, indicated that drastic action would follow if she refused to deliver the books and papers.

Weinberger aroused the ire of the committee by attempting to read a lengthy prepared statement in which he pictured Grover Bergdoll as a much wronged man and denied the right of the committee to legally inquire into his case.

ASKED ABOUT FEES.

The committee declined to listen and proceeded to ask questions about the fees Weinberger received. Weinberger declined to answer. The committe immediately voted to cite him for contempt before the bar of the House. Weinberger, warned that a jail sentenced awaited him, came back after lunch and gained his freedom by answering the questions asked. His fee in the first phase of the Bergdoll case was $5000, he said. He has received nothing since.

LEVY ON PROPERTY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.—Judgment was entered today in the Federal court against all the property of Mrs. Emma C. Bergdoll, yesterday sentenced to a year and a day imprisonment and fined $7000 on charges of conspiracy to aid her sons, Grover C. and Erwin R. Bergdoll, to desert from the United States Army. This was done to insure payment of the fine. Mrs. Bergdoll was reported to have said that she would never pay the fine.

Los Angeles Public Schools

SEVENTEEN million, two hundred and fifty thousand dollars is the money value of Los Angeles public schools.

The value of our school system to the children of the City cannot be measured in dollars and cents. There is probably no other investment that pays as large dividends as educating the youth of our land, and in this particular work Los Angeles has long been a leader.

Our school district comprises six hundred and fifty square miles.

Four of our high schools have vocational and trade courses.

1152 school buildings
185 grammar schools
15 high schools
8 junior high schools
121,432 pupils
4325 teachers

Thousands of tourists and nonresidents take advantage of our mild, equitable climate and superior educational facilities by sending their children here.

Both pupils and teachers require good, wholesome, nourishing food in order that they may do efficient school work. Failure to pass examinations is frequently attributed to a lack of proper nourishment.

Our "Self Service" plan of dining enables one to select just what articles or variety of food that appeals to the eye and appetite, and that is best suited to individual requirements.

We invite you to eat breakfast, luncheon or dinner—where quality never varies—where cleanliness is a habit

BY CHAPIN HALL.

In the monthly financial letter issued by the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, J. A. Graves, president of that institution, sees some improvement in trade conditions, "but," he adds, "buying still goes on from hand to mouth. People are still waiting for bargains. Buying is indulged in as a matter of necessity, to supply goods actually needed for quick turnover."

Mr. Graves's views are of value, not only because of their sound basis, but because they often act as a brake upon our enthusiasms should the latter assume too roseate a hue, and when he takes a fling at sustained high prices his viewpoint will be readily conceded by the majority of readers.

The little things in this world, in the end, count, he says, and while these little things that the public wants are selling at prohibitive prices, commercial conditions will be sadly out of joint. When economy, thrift and painstaking service take the place of extravagance, shirking and an avoidance of duty, so that the cost of production can be kept within reasonable limits, then, and not till then, will the worst be over.

The letter predicts a smaller citrus yield based on an excessive bloom, but it also forecasts cheaper freight rates. "Former rates on oranges have been maintained because the growers were helpless. Now that they have another outlet for their fruit (water) the roads will give them better terms."

In financial matters there is said to be an easing up. Speculation is quiet, and reduced business demands require less money for daily operations. Yet, while business has slowed up, taking the nation as a whole, and bank clearings have decreased, unfortunately bank loans have not decreased in proportion. In this city, on Jan. 1, 1921, the deposits in all of the banks were, in round numbers, $443,000,000.

Of this amount, the savings banks and trust companies held approximately $260,000,000, leaving but $183,000,000 for the commercial banks. The former banks, not desiring to tie up too much of their funds in long time real estate loans, have loaned millions of dollars upon bank acceptances and commercial paper away from Los Angeles. These loans, to that extent, curtail the supply of loanable funds for purely local demands.

This, of course, makes the local borrowers pay higher rates of interest than they otherwise would. Interest rates, however, play no favorites. Local banks must compete with the markets of the nation, as far as interest is concerned. If New York, Chicago and other financial eastern centers, pay high interest rates on approved securities, money will go to those centers for investment. When interest rates recede, local interests get the benefit of this recession. Resources of banks, as a rule, are decreasing.

The review concludes:

"Taxation will be felt in California, in 1921, as it never has been before. With new barley quoted at $20 a ton, with hay declining in price, and many of the products of the soil hardly bringing sufficient to pay the expenses of raising them, the taxes to be paid this year will weigh more heavily upon the people than at any time in the past. Hit their pocketbooks hard enough and the voters will rebel. God speed the day when California can be given both an honest and economical administration — something which many people believe, it has not had for ten years past!

"Do not expect too much for the rest of 1921. Many signs point to decreased activity."

COPPER SITUATION.

"The controlling factor in the copper situation today is the foreign demand, and I look for a clearing of the skies in the near future, when demand for domestic copper should be revived on a big scale." This is the reported declaration of D. C. Jackling, the copper king who amplified his soothing prediction by saying that with all the big copper companies practically closed down, the six months' stocks on hand are being reduced in a way that must soon help conditions, and this is bringing nearer day by day the time when copper mines must resume production. On the other hand a Gibson dispatch yesterday said that pessimism in steel circles is assuming a more concrete form in the shape of predictions that the dividend on Republic Steel will be reduced or passed at the next meeting.

FOR LOWER RATES.

An open letter issued over the signature of G. Harold Powell, chairman of the Producers' Transportation Committee of the State Market Commission, announces a "Save the West" campaign, having for its purpose the securing of lower freight rates.

Powell's committee alleges that the excessive railroad freight rates have placed the agricultural and horticultural industries on the Pacific Coast, especially those producing a high tonnage per acre, in a precarious condition, because the advances which have taken place within the last few years have added a cost to the producer which more than equals the average profit which he has derived from his land during the last fifteen years, and when capitalized at 7 per cent has the same effect as placing a mortgage of from $1500 to $2000 or more on every acre of land. Not only have the average profits been taken from the industry, but the capitalization of the advance on an acreage basis is more than the average value of the fruit and vegetable lands, it is said.

PUBLIC UTILITIES.

It is an encouraging sign of the times that the public is beginning to be more appreciative of public utility investments; their needs and the realization that net revenue rather than gross earnings must be the basis upon which to figure.

Statistics recently prepared indicate that 833 gas companies operating in 1400 towns have been granted a total of 1382 increases, and that where the original readjustment of rates has proved insufficient, additional increases have been given. The electric railway companies in 243 of the 340 cities in the United States of 25,000 population or over are now charging fares ranging from 6 to 10 cents.

NEWFOUNDLAND OFFERING.

A syndicate headed by Lee Higginson and Dillon Read & Co. is offering a new issue of $4,500,000 government of Newfoundland fifteen-year 6% per cent gold bonds. The Dominion of Newfoundland, probably the oldest British colony, has an area of more than 42,000 square miles, with a population of 247,710, according to a 1914 estimate. The general funded debt of the dominion in 1919 was $42,033,926.

The principal industries consist of agriculture, the lumber industry and fishing. The country also has large mineral deposits. The bonds are being offered at 93 2-8, to yield about 7.20 per cent. Both principal and interest are payable in gold in New York, London and St. Johns.

IMPROVED WIRELESS.

Recent improvements introduced in the naval wireless telegraph station at Cavite now enable the transmission of radio messages from the Philippines to San Francisco without relay. A large increase in electrical power and the construction of telegraph lines between Cavite and Los Banos are responsible for this direct trans-Pacific wireless service, covering 7000 miles in extent.

HIGH SPOTS.

Banker says that so long as the little things the public wants are held at prohibitive prices the times will be out of joint.

Copper king has the first encouraging words for the future of that industry coming from an authoritative source in several months.

Fight for lower freight rates takes form. Claim is made that excessive rates are imperilling our agricultural and horticultural industries.

Newfoundland enters financial arena with $4,500,000 government issue offered at an attractive price. Big Canadian loan said to be hatching.

Improved wireless service to Philippines and Orient interests Los Angeles foreign traders.

Heavy local demand for building loans reported by specialists in this line.

Mexican bonds are commencing to move on this side of the border, a movement which will be accelerated after Obregon is recognized.

Foreign exchange is stronger and business tone in its overseas aspect correspondingly improved.

BAD REPORTS ON WINTER WHEAT CROP KEEP COMING.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—Between the unsettling effect of the news from Springfield, Ill., regarding the probable passage of the Lantz bill to place the grain trade under the supervision of the Secretary of Agriculture of Illinois and the conflicting crop reports grain traders had a lively day. Prices declined early only to advance on expert buying of wheat and closed around the top with net gains of 2 1-4 to 3 cents on wheat, 3-8@1 on corn, ¼@¾ in oats and 2@2½ on rye. Provisions advanced and closed 2½ higher on lard, 7½@12½ higher on ribs and 10 cents up on pork.

Bad reports on the winter wheat crop continue to come from Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, more coming from the latter State than heretofore. Rains are needed in parts of Kansas. There were good rains in the Northwest which relieved selling and the early decline. The government weekly crop report, however, was generally favorable so that the conflicting statements caused traders.

Buying of 1,250,000 bushels wheat for export largely at the Gulf was to cover old sales. Italy, France and Belgium were in the market last and Greece was expected to buy another 1,000,000 bushels, although that was through Manitoba this time. Cash wheat was in big commission houses and the professionals were bearish on the July. The May deal in the selling was by the Northwest and Southwestern houses at 2@3¢ over the July. Buying of May and selling of July was a big factor in the trade while in the July local professionals who have been acting sellers for some days were mostly on the buying side. Shorts and the big houses had resting orders to sell on every half cent advance.

Corn traders who have been active on the selling side were among the most buyers today. The country movement is still fairly large, but it was estimated that 200,000 to 300,000 bushels were sold which will be taken in the pit by sales of July. There are indications of increased receipts, the corn having been sold last week. Shipping sales were 227,000 bushels, including 100,000 bushels to the seaboard for export with charters for 170,000 bushels to Buffalo.

Crop reports on oats indicated spotted conditions and there was enough unfavorable news in them to induce moderate buying of them, September which advanced from 32 to 40¼ cents, it closed Tuesday at 41@41¼c. All deliveries are large and exceed last years. Cash prices were off 1@2c with shipping sales of 200,000 bushels and charters for 80,000 bushels. Receipts, 90 cars.

Export sales of 100,000 bushels rye were made for shipment from Chicago and Buffalo. Exporters were in the market for July and there were commission house orders for September. The latter sold at 67¾, and July 67¼@67½, while May lagged although bunching at $1.00, a gain of 2 cents.

Commission houses bought lard and ribs while the selling was by local traders. There was selling of ribs and buying of lard as the latter is relatively $1.50 per 100 pounds above lard.

10,000 Barrels a Day

PORTLAND FLOURING MILLS COMPANY has Eleven Plants in the States of Oregon and Washington. Their combined capacity is more than Ten Thousand Barrels of Flour daily. The Plants are modern, fully equipped and kept up to date. Other cereals are manufactured in large quantities.

Consider: The Company deals in an absolutely indispensable product. The magnificent Wheat fields of the Northwest are at its doors —certainty of supplies. Its products go to the Orient, to the Philippines, to Central and South America, to the Hawaiian Islands, and up and down the Pacific Coast—certainty of wide, profitable markets close at hand.

Consider: The Company has been in business for 37 Years—37 years of uninterrupted business, years of growth, of increasing trade, of increasing capital, of increasing Profits—not a blot upon its life-long record.

The Company has borrowed from us Three Million Dollars upon its First Mortgage 8% Fifteen-Year Sinking Fund Gold Bonds. The Security is a First Mortgage upon the assets of the Company—assets worth three times the entire bond issue. For years the Company's earnings have averaged over three times the maximum interest charge on this bond issue.

The money was borrowed to retire other indebtedness, to pay for additions to property, to increase working Capital—in other words the borrowed money goes into the business and not out of it.

The Sinking Fund provides that $100,000 of these bonds will be paid off by the Company each year—that the debt will steadily grow less, the interest charges will steadily grow less, means a steady market for the bonds, means that the Security margin and the earnings margin, large as they are, will steadily grow larger.

Price, par and accrued interest, yielding the Investor full 8% on his money. Ask for Circular on this issue giving the facts in detail.

The House of Rollins

The Bond House of E. H. Rollins & Sons was founded in 1876. Its first offices were in Concord, New Hampshire, and Denver, Colorado. Within a few years the main office was transferred to Boston where the central organization still remains

The Hon. Edward H. Rollins, former United States Senator from New Hampshire, was the head of the business and his sons, Edward W. Rollins, the present head of the firm, and Frank W. Rollins, late Governor of New Hampshire, were associated with him.

Major offices have been successfully established in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Denver, San Francisco and Los Angeles, and smaller offices in many other cities. Thus the house has a broad scope, and is able to come in close contact with investors and investment situations in practically every sectionof the United States.

Any house which survives in business for forty-five years must be conservative in its judgment and fair in its dealings with the public.

Security is a First Mortgage upon the entire assets of the Company—assets worth more than three times the entire bond issue. For many years the Company's earnings have averaged over three times the maximum interest charges on this bond issue.

The money was borrowed to retire other indebtedness, to pay for additions to properties, to increase working Capital—in other words, the borrowed money goes into the business, not out of it.

The Sinking Fund provision means that $100.000 of these bonds will be paid off by the Company each year—that the debt will steadily grow less, the interest charges will steadily grow less, means a steady market for these bonds, means that the Security margin and the earnings margin, large as they are, will steadily grow larger.

Price, par and accrued interest, yielding the Investor full 8% on his money. Ask for Circular on this issue giving the facts in detail.

Plenty of Money for Building Loans

Building a new home or apartment-house requires ready money. To expedite its immediate erection we are prepared to make liberal loans. Loans on any projected or recently completed residence or apartment-house that is well located in Los Angeles or its immediate vicinity will be Closed Immediately Without Delay—

Loans to any amount will be made on apartment-houses, but on residences the limit is $5000. Each loan is made for 15 years and may be paid off on or after three years without bonus. Interest is payable June 1 and December 1 in each year and principal is reduced by the payment semi-annually of 3 per cent of the face of the loan. When "Building Loans" are made, papers must be recorded before any material is delivered or labor performed. Details will be furnished on application.

MILLIONS FROM 300,000

It is estimated that before the war the number of bond holders in America was only 300,000. More than 20,000,000 persons are said to have subscribed to our various government issues during the war.

As a result, millions of people are now owners of bonds. They have learned that bonds protect their savings and pay a good income. Bonds in small denominations are now issued so that everyone may share the benefits of a safe investment. We are offering public utility bonds in denominations as low as $100 and yielding over 8%.

MARKET NEWS

New York, May 18.—Monday, Germany bought 2,250,000 pounds of copper at 13½ cents a pound C.I.F. Hamburg.

Advices received from reliable sources to effect that California Petroleum will be placed on a dividend basis shortly, either 5 or 6 per cent.

The Monthly Payment Plan

Do you know that under the terms of the Monthly Payment Plan you actually paying 6% in dividends offsets our interest charge is well secured and from the time of purchase? You are aware that many high-grade seasoned stocks and bonds selling at below market are selling at prices to yield from 8% to 10%, these yields showing quite a substantial surplus over and above interest charge?

Let us suggest by correspondence attractive market investments to fit present time. Inquiries invited. Descriptive leaflet free upon request.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—Stock trading today presented two divergent aspects. Rails were active and strong at gross advances of 1 to 3 points, while numerous industrials and specialties irregularly extended great losses. The movement in transportations had its inception in the announcement that the United States Railway Labor Board had decided on a downward revision of wages, effective July 1.

Junior secondary issues benefited almost as much as the more seasoned or dividend paying shares. Conspicuous features of the rise, however, included the representative grangers, transcontinentals and coalers, the southern systems also showing marked improvement.

Heaviness of industrials was due mainly to doubt respecting the action of the Republic Iron and Steel directors of the quarterly dividend. Oils, especially Mexicans, were heavily traded in, but Mexican Petroleum finished at a nominal gain. Sales, 675,000 shares.

All call loans were made at 7 per cent. Leading foreign exchanges were strong.

Changes in domestic and foreign bond issues were mostly towards moderately lower levels. Total sales (par value) $9,875,000.

Take Your Choice

Within the next few weeks, one of two things is going to happen—either you will become a stockholder in the

Huntington National Oil Company

—or you will NOT.

One thing is certain. By the manner in which our sales of stock have started out, the present allotment of shares to be sold at par—10c—is not going to last so very long.

People these days want their money's worth. Show them a pair of shoes with REAL VALUE, and they BUY. Show them an investment opportunity that looks like a WINNER, and they BUY

This has been the experience of HUNTINGTON NATIONAL. The profit situation in Huntington Beach is getting more and more satisfactory every day. Proven territory is still yielding wells that should result in Big Profits for those concerned. Other territory, conceded to be within the proven territory, but not yet proven, is looking better and better, with immediate probabilities that before many weeks have passed, NEW producing acreage will be on the map of that new wonder field.

HUNTINGTON NATIONAL is rushing preparations for drilling on ground that is only a few feet from actual production. We have every reason in the world to believe that we will get just as good production as the wells pouring out liquid wealth just a short distance from us.

There's a lot we COULD say, but we'd rather have you FIND OUT FOR YOURSELF. Then you will KNOW.

We have a new booklet, just off the press. It's well worth reading. Come in and get YOUR copy before the supply is exhausted. Or, if you prefer, phone, write, or USE THE COUPON.

The popular stock—in popular demand

HUNTINGTON HAWTHORNE

—HUNTINGTON HAWTHORNE has taken the big lead in the 10c stocks. There is every reason for the popular demand for this issue. Yesterday I received a good many orders for HUNTINGTON HAWTHORNE—particularly from people to whom I sold TEXCAL at a low price. These people have at various times visited HUNTINGTON BEACH field. Naturally they visited the TEXCAL property and when I point out to them the exact location of the HUNTINGTON HAWTHORNE lease, they appreciate at once why I advise and urge the purchase of

HUNTINGTON HAWTHORNE At 10c a Share

Some people are more or less undecided about buying oil stock. There are some that usually wait until the last moment. These people are usually disappointed. The time to buy stock at a low price is when it is first offered. You then avail yourself of THE BIG OPPORTUNITY.

HUNTINGTON HAWTHORNE is your big opportunity today. If you delay in placing your order for this stock, I say to you that you are going to be disappointed in securing HUNTINGTON HAWTHORNE at 10c a share. You will pay more—a whole lot more.

Send me your order now—this very day. Come to my office or mail me your order—either way. But be sure that you place your order with me for HUNTINGTON HAWTHORNE at 10c a share.

What is the Real Outlook for the Copper Industry?

What is going to be done with the present big surplus of copper metal?

What is the prospect of an increasing demand for copper from Europe, and when is it likely to begin?

Is this the time to purchase good copper stocks?

These questions, together with a review of the entire copper situation, are covered in detail in a specially prepared circular we have for free distribution.

FEW PRICE CHANGES ON PRODUCE MARKET.

ASPARAGUS, SUMMER SQUASH DECLINE; TOMATOES FIRMER UNDER LIGHT SUPPLIES.

Prices were firm for most lines of fruits and vegetables on the local produce market yesterday, although some of the leading lines showed a sharp downward tendency. Receipts, both from the country and by rail, were moderate, and good stock moved readily at the level of the preceding day. Asparagus was lower yesterday, best Northern stock showing a decline of 2 cents per pound, with sales at 9 to 12 cents per pound, according to quality. Local stock was in good demand at 12 to 15 cents per pound. Summer squash declined 10 cents, the best stock moving in small lots at 90 cents to $1.15 per crate. Strawberries, which have been advancing steadily during the past week, dropped about 25 cents per crate, best No. 1 stock bringing from $4.50 to $5.00 per crate, while some of the extra fancy grades moved at $5.75. Arrivals of tomatoes from the Imperial Valley were moderate, and because of the cleaning up of the Mexican stock, prices for this commodity advanced slightly, with sales of the fancy offerings at $1.75 to $2.00. Kentucky Wonder string beans were about 1 cent per pound higher, the market for this commodity ranging from 10 to 13 cents per pound.

The carlot shipping market for lettuce was again weak, and the movement was very light. Cash sales were reported at $1.75 to $2 per crate, according to the quality and condition of the offerings, and wire sales ranged from $2 to $2.25. Most of the offerings were of poor quality. Shipments from Southern California totaled 25 carloads. The Eastern markets displayed a weaker tendency owing to continued heavy receipts.

Coachella Valley Bermuda onions declined slightly yesterday. The wire inquiry is very light, and the movement was slow. Yellow Bermudas were selling at $1.10 to $1.20 per crate, while the Wax variety was bringing from $1.45 to $1.50.

DAILY MARKET REPORT.

These are the actual prices obtained yesterday by Los Angeles wholesalers from their sales to retailers, peddlers, hotels, restaurants, cafeterias, etc., as compiled by the United States Bureau of Markets. Terms—Cash on the walk:

APPLES—1 broken car on track at 9 a.m. Supplies liberal, movement slow, market steady. California, bushel boxes, Newtowns, best, 2.00@2.15; Romes fancy, 2.75@3.25a. Oregons and Washingtons, bushel boxes, extra fancy Winesaps, large sizes, 2.00@2.25; small sizes, box as 2.50; various varieties, loose, best, 8@9; peaches, 6@8 per lb.

APRICOTS—Supplies light, market steady, mostly 2.10@2.35 per 20-lb. box.

ARTICHOKES—Supplies liberal, market steady, mostly 75@1.00; few fancy, 1.25@1.50 per dozen.

ASPARAGUS—Arrivals past 24 hours, 2 cars California and 250 crates by express. Supplies liberal, market weaker. Local,

FOR SALE—

BANKRUPTCY COURT CALLS ATTENTION

TO THE SALE of the 6-family flat building owned by the estate, located at Florence and Figueroa, to satisfy the first lien of $8000.

THE SALE will be held on May 24th at 11 a.m., at the west door of the County Courthouse, on Broadway near Temple. The Farmers and Merchants Bank of Los Angeles, agent Company of Redlands, also holds the first trust deed and have foreclosed thereon.

The price placed on the property by the bankruptcy was $28,000, the loan against the property being in excess of $20,000. The effect of the foreclosure under the first trust deed will be to give the purchaser a free and clear title, with no equity of redemption whatever.

THE COURT APPRAISEMENT on the property was about the sum of $18,000.

RENTALS vary from $500 to $350 depending upon the season, or $5000 to $4000. Figured upon a yearly basis.

THE ONLY INTEREST of the Bankruptcy Court in this sale is to have the property sold to the highest bidder for cash and have it delivered to the purchaser free and clear of property to the end that said claims will not be presented against the property, but will continue in due share in dividends with the other unsecured creditors.

INCOME Property for Sale.

FOR SALE—OR EXCHANGE—New and modern income property, high-class flats of 6 units, all under lease and bringing in $12,900 a year. The building was substantially constructed of the finest materials by the owner, as an investment. And it was built from cellar to roof—not just thrown together. There are tile baths, double thickness oak floors, tile, most expensive and durable plumbing, lighting fixtures and hardware that money could buy. And skilled workmen, under the personal supervision of the owner, were employed in putting these materials together. Consequently, the decoration and expense of upkeep on this property will be practically nothing in the years to come. It is located in the exclusive Wilshire district, where values due to the high class of improvements that are constantly going on here must surely increase. It is in the very heart of this district, close to Lafayette Park, a beautiful 10-acre tract of recognized as the "cream of the residences." The income is about one-half what it should be, according to the rental scale in effect in Los Angeles today. The building was erected about 2 years ago, when labor and materials were both plentiful and cheap, and for this reason I am willing to offer this handsome income property for only $85,000.

WILL TAKE HIGH-CLASS RESIDENCE OR HOLLYWOOD WILSHIRE OR WESTERN BUNGALOW FROM $20,000 TO $30,000 IN TRADE. BALANCE CASH AND MORTGAGE.

GEDDES EXUDES BRITISH CHEER.

British Ambassador on Trip Praises America.

Declares Blighty Muddling Back to Normalcy.

Workingman Enjoys His Ale, Profiteers Squelched.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—"Blighty" has muddled back to normalcy. No longer do the profiteering landlords pull the leg of the English citizenry. A marble slab marked "R. I. P." has been placed with cheers at the grave of the late lamented "Dora," the war-time censorship hobgoblin. Rashers of bacon have resumed that chestnutty succulence in the Strand restaurants. And the British workingman's ale is once more a noble beverage.

Is England's future epitomized in the famous Lloyd George smile? Well, rather. And is Downing street fretting about a war some time with "the States?" It's enough to make all sane men laugh.

TO TOUR WEST.

That is just what Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador to the United States, did, when asked about the possibility of an Anglo-American clash as the outcome of the Irish tangle today. He came to Chicago with Lady Geddes, a former American girl, by the way, for a forty-eight hour social visit after a ten-day getting-acquainted journey in the West. Sir Auckland and his wife will return to Washington tomorrow night.

"I would be called prejudiced if I said that diplomatic relations between Great Britain and the United States were never so smoothly adjusted as at present," he said. "The war, you know, has knitted things."

"And Ireland?" it was suggested.

"Ah, please don't," he protested. "An Ambassador is not allowed to make public his private opinions. But, I say, what a hustling country is the Southwest. I just returned from Texas, and the Southwest made a great impression on me."

SQUELCH RENT HOGS.

They have squelched the rent hogs in England, the kitchenette apartmenteers may be interested to know. Sir Auckland said the English government financed the building of thousands of homes for the working and middle classes, when it was realized after the war that there was a shortage of 550,000 houses. And the British are looking forward to an era of prosperity.

"Sir Auckland," began a visitor, "being as you once were a college professor at McGill University in Montreal, what do you think of Mr. Edison's labeling college students as ignoramuses?"

The British Ambassador waved an indifferent palm. He laughed.

"My sensations were merely a feeling of boredom," he said. "Mr. Edison, evidently, has not had much to do with college men."

The yoke of war-time restrictions, the tyranny of bureaucracy, the interference with private opinions and actions have been thrown off by the liberty-loving Britons, he said.

Prohibition has been very beneficial to towns, Sir Auckland thought, but added that he had not noticed it in the large cities.

SHE'S NOT LIKE SAME WOMAN

Mrs. Korboe Was in Terrible Health Two Years.

Obtained Wonderful Relief by Taking Tanlac.

Recommends It From Bottom of Her Heart.

"My family and the neighbors know the dreadful condition I was in for two years and how wonderful Tanlac has fixed me up," said Mrs. S. M. Korboe of 910 W. 49th St., Los Angeles. Mrs. Korboe has resided here for thirty-four years, and is highly respected by all who know her.

"Why if I had taken Tanlac when I first got sick I believe it would have saved me from all the suffering I had to go through with. I had no appetite, and the little I ate get awful faint and dizzy. I was bothered almost continually with dreadful sick headaches, and would get awful faint and idizzy. I was so weak all the time I couldn't even look after my housework, and I could find nothing to help me until my next door neighbor got such splendid results from Tanlac and I began taking it.

"The medicine was the very thing I needed and three bottles have made me feel like a different person. My appetite is splendid, I digest my food perfectly, and enjoy all meals. I am rid of the headaches and that weak dizzy feeling, and can do all my housework with ease. My sleep used to be restless and broken, but I sleep like a child every night now. I recommend Tanlac from the bottom of my heart." Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles by the Owl Drug Co. and leading Druggists.—[Advertisement.

FIGHT TO BLOCK SEWER PROGRAM IS LAUNCHED.

Bond Foes Charge Efforts to Push Over Costly Outfall Project, Burial of Crouch Offer.

Opposition to the approval by the voters on June 7 of the proposed bond issue of $12,250,000 for the building of a new thirty-mile outfall sewer from the city to the sea crystallized yesterday with the submission to the Council of the Crouch plan for combining the disposal of garbage and sewage in a practical plan for the manufacture from this waste matter into commercial fertilizer. Objections to the bonds have been voiced at a number of meetings of the City Club and other civic organizations on the following grounds:

First, that insufficient study of the sewage problem of the city has been made.

Second, that as a business proposition, the citizens should by their votes take a determined stand against the open efforts to rush through a prepared sewer building program.

Third, that under the present plans, no guarantee is given to the residents of the beach cities that the present condition caused by sewage outfall at the beaches will be changed, and that consequently if the beach cities carry out their announced plans, the building and operation of the sewer may be indefinitely halted by costly court injunctions.

Fourth, that the refusal of the outfall sewer advocates to consider seriously and sincerely the possibilities of manufacturing commercial fertilizer out of sewage, as other cities are doing, may result in the loss of thousands of dollars to the city and to the agricultural interests of Southern California, at the same time wasting millions of dollars in building a new sewer when the city's problem might be solved in other ways.

ELECTION ASKED FOR.

While many months of preliminary work by Chief Engineer Mulholland and eastern experts were spent before the voters were asked to spend $22,000,000 for the building of the Aqueduct, it was pointed out yesterday by those who are opposing the sewer bonds that the first heard of the project was on November 30 last, less than six months ago, when City Engineer Griffin presented his plans for a new outfall sewer to the Board of Public Works and asked that a special bond election for the sewer be held on March 1.

The Board of Public Works declined to be rushed, and on January 18, City Engineer Griffin again asked that his outfall sewer plans be approved and a special election be held not later than March 31. His first estimates of cost were $12,200,000, but later these figures were raised to $12,550,000, with a request that a special election be held on March 31. The City Council saw the folly of trying to jam through a project of this immensity without widespread discussion throughout the city as opposition had already developed at the City Club and among a number of engineers of the city who had made a study of modern sewage treatment plants and who believed that a thorough study should be made by experts before any proposition was placed before the voters.

CONSULTATION CALLED.

Chief Engineer Mulholland of the Bureau of Water Works and Supply was called into consultation by the City Council and he advised the appointment of sewage experts. George W. Fuller of New York and George C. Whipple of Harvard University were appointed by the City Council. They are men of national prominence in the engineering profession, but local engineers told Mr. Fuller and Mr. Whipple before they left for the East, at a meeting of the City Council, that the easterners had not been given sufficient time or opportunity to study all phases of the problem, that they had been here less than two weeks and that they had worked almost entirely from data prepared by City Engineer Griffin, who had already programed the building of a new outfall sewer to the sea.

APPROPRIATION URGED.

Mr. Fuller and Mr. Whipple, in their report, recommended that the proposed bond issue be raised from $12,850,000 to $14,000,000, in order to provide additions to the Griffin plans and including the building of an experimental sewage treatment plant. It was thought by the local advocates of the outfall sewer that this change would placate those local engineers, who had been urging a comprehensive and thorough investigation of the possibilities of sewage treatment. But far from quieting the opposing engineers, the tagging on, as it were, of an experimental plant to the Griffin outfall sewer plans, only made the opponents of the sewer more determined than ever to defeat the issue and to bring about a detailed, first-hand investigation of the city's problem. These opponents of the sewer bonds have declared from the floor of the City Council, and at the rather exciting meeting at the City Club, that no harm could result from a stay of the refusal of the voters to be hurried into the building of a tremendous sewer, the burden on which could be relieved by the diversion of storm waters during rainy seasons, and by keeping out of the sewer industrial wastes.

PUBLICITY FEARED.

The opponents of the outfall sewer bonds declared yesterday that the offer of C. D. Crouch to treat sewage at the present garbage disposal plant of the Pacific Reduction Company was in line with a number of offers which had been made to solve the city's sewage problem, all of which had been disposed of in an offhand manner by the engineering department of the city. The City Council yesterday took the same view of the Crouch proposal and fear was expressed by Councilmen who are advocates of the sewer bonds that too much publicity and discussion of the Crouch offer might defeat the sewer bonds. So Mr. Crouch's letter was ordered filed after statements had been made that the offer was simply an attempt to defeat the bonds. The City Council did, however, reject the one bid received from ranchers for the city's garbage to be used in feeding it to hogs, ending for the present all fear that the city might return to this method of handling the city's wastes, and paving the way for the purchase of the plant of the Pacific Reduction Company, where the city's garbage is disposed of at present. Should the city take over the plant, the municipality could then, if it desired, agree to a demonstration of the possibilities of converting the sewage solids or sludge and the garbage int odry, commercial fertilizer, thus filling an agricultural need of Southern California, and at the same time relieving the burden on the present outfall sewer, while making, the sponsors of the plan assert, a profit for the city.

The one bid received yesterday for the city's garbage for hog-feeding purposes was from C. H. Hopkins of the Diamond Bar ranch, whose associates in making the offer are Fred E. Lewis of Spadra, A. B. Miller of Montana and Kinney Bros. & Neel of Venice, and they offered 25 cents a ton for the garbage if delivered to a loading station or 60 cents a ton if the city would place it on railroad cars. Representatives of the bidders at City Hall yesterday stated that it was planned to feed the garbage to 18,000 hogs on the Fontana ranch in San Bernardino county. The Board of Public Works did not take the offer seriously, and referred it to the City Council, where it was promptly rejected by unanimous vote.

The Pacific Reduction Company holds a ten-year contract to the city under which it pays 51 cents a ton for all garbage delivered to its plant at Santa Fe avenue and the Los Angeles River, and this agreement does not expire until 1923. The company has expressed a desire to surrender its contract and has offered to sell its plant to the city. While the company sets a value of $450,000 on the plant, the corporation has offered to abide by a price fixed by arbiters, one to be selected by the company, one by the city and the third chosen by the other two men selected.

"Mr. Crouch's offer is worthy of consideration," said Public Works Commissioner Treat, "and we shall consider it carefully. In this day no city official has the right to take an arbitrary stand in these matters and to say 'this plan or that plan is not practical.'"

MAN BEATEN IN JAIL, IS CHARGE

Grand Jurors Investigate Report of Brutality.

Friends Say Hurt Prisoner Left for Hours in Cell.

Venice Police Chief Asserts Ignorance of Complaint.

Charges that Manuel Hondon, a Mexican dancer, was brutally beaten in the Venice police station and left in a cell there for hours without any medical attention, were under investigation by the county grand jury yesterday.

Seven witnesses, including Chief of Police Loomis of Venice, were called during the day and eight more are expected to testify. The inquiry, which is being conducted by Deputy Dist.-Atty. Powell, will be resumed this morning.

Hondon, accompanied by his young wife and relatives, appeared in the grand jury waiting room swathed in bandages. The asserted assault upon him is said to have taken place April 1. The preliminary investigation, which led to the grand jury inquiry, was started three weeks ago, according to attaches of the District Attorney's office.

MAN ARRESTED.

Friends of the young Mexican, who was one of the dancers in the Mission Play, say that he was arrested in an alley back of the bath house and taken to the Venice Police Station, and that a high police official struck him several times, breaking his jaw and inflicting other serious injuries. Following this purported assault Hondon is said to have been placed in a cell and kept there over night. Next morning, according to his friends, when the seriousness of his condition was realized by the police official, Hondon was taken to a hospital and later removed to his home.

A small amount of money was given to Hondon's wife, her friends said, in an effort to compensate her for the injuries received by her husband.

Hondon was in an intoxicated condition when placed under arrest, some of the witnesses said. He was trying to demonstrate to his friends a certain dance, when the arrest took place. At least two witnesses are said to have seen the assault in the police station.

DENIES KNOWLEDGE.

Asked for his version of the purported assault and the lack of medical attention, Chief Loomis denied that he had any knowledge of it or knew that the man was injured until the day after the arrest was made.

"This is the first I have heard of the details in this case," Chief Loomis stated last night. "I appeared before the grand jury, in answer to a subpoena, and remained there about five or ten minutes. Of course, I cannot disclose what I testified."

"The facts, as I remember them, were that this man was arrested early in April by Officer Ostroff. He and seven or eight others were fighting on Ocean Front. The others escaped. The man was brought to the station and locked CALLS :: PIONEER'S :: SON :: CRUEL.

Dancer Would Divorce Football Hero.

Mrs. Virginia C. Dodson.

MEMBERS of pioneer families of Los Angeles crowded into Judge Summerfield's court yesterday as witnesses and spectators when the divorce suit of Mrs. Virginia C. Dodson, former Orpheum dancer, against James H. Dodson, Jr., scion of one of our oldest families and one-time captain of the University of California football team, was scheduled for a showing on the court screen, according to a crowded calendar, the case went over until today. The attorneys say the trial will occupy three days.

Mrs. Dodson is seeking a divorce on the ground of cruelty. They were married in this city Aug. 10, 1917, and separated June 18 last. Mrs. Dodson asserts that Mr. Dodson would not seek employment. During the early days of their marriage, they lived with friends in Hornitos, this State. She says that when she scolded him for being idle, he grew angry and struck her on the face.

This and other acts of purported cruelty Mr. Dodson denies. His mother is wealthy. Mrs. Dodson declares that Mr. Dodson receives, in addition to the salary his mother pays him for working for her, between $200 and $500 a month.

It is charged in the complaint that Mr. Dodson corresponded with a single woman in Santa Barbara, and that against his wife's protest, he took girls to Vernon.

Yesterday there was a rumor that the case may be settled out of court, but by the line-up of witnesses a bitter contest is expected. Attorney Darrow represents Mrs. Dodson. Attorney Clewett is counsel for Mr. Dodson.

SHIPS' STATUS MADE CLEAR

Unionism Imputations Against Yale and Harvard Emphatically Refuted.

Because of certain popular misapprehensions regarding the attitude in the shipping strike of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, operator of the steamer Yale, recently put back into Coast service, and of the Harvard, shortly, to follow, telegraphic correspondence was made public yesterday between Admiral Benson, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, and A. J. Frey, general manager of the steamship company, in which the latter makes clear that the company has in no way made any agreement with or concessions to the unions; that, on the contrary, the union threat to tie up the Yale if her owners did not sign the union agreement was flatly defied. The Yale is now making regular schedule.

Admiral Benson's telegram of inquiry and Mr. Frey's answer follow:

"Washington (D. C.) May 15, '21.
"Los Angeles Steamship Company,
"Los Angeles, Cal.

"It has been reported that your company is about to sign agreement with union to operate your Los Angeles-San Francisco service vessels under old wage scale. Shipping Board and steamship owners operating under wage scale 15 per cent less than that in effect April 30. This reduction arrived at after mature and careful consideration and is necessary in interest of American merchant marine. If action reported to be in contemplation by your company is taken it will undoubtedly mean a split in ranks of Pacific owners and operators and our efforts to establish merchant marine on efficient and competitive basis greatly handicapped. Request that you carefully consider this matter and operate your vessels under new wage scale effect May 1, thereby helping us in our endeavor.

[Signed] "W. S. BENSON,
"Chairman."

MR. FREY'S ANSWER:

"Los Angeles, May 17, 1921.
"Rear-Admiral W. S. Benson,
"Chairman, United States Shipping Board,
"Washington, D. C.

"Referring to your telegram of May 15.

"If it had been intimated to you that Los Angeles Steamship Company about sign agreement with unions you have been misinformed.

"We purchased Yale and Harvard (ex-Charles) from Navy Department summer 1920 for $1,755,000, and have since expended on these two vessels approximately $2,000,000. Yale recently completed and left Los Angeles Harbor on initial voyage for San Francisco May 2. On arrival San Francisco maritime unions advised me unless signed year's contract ship would be tied up. Informed them in response most emphatically if that was an ultimatum then ship would tie up, as we would positively not sign agreement. Yale made two round voyages, and, due to our refusal sign agreement, all officers and crew were called off ship on May 7 at Wilmington. As result of this placed vessel out of commission. On May 13 issued written notification to our former officers and employees we would resume operations, with Yale sailing from Los Angeles May 16, and that any former officers and employees who reported for duty by noon May 14 would be given their former positions on same rate of wage as they enjoyed when they left ship. Practically all returned and Yale sailed for San Francisco yesterday.

"We have signed no agreement with unions and do not intend to. With reference to wage scale; these vessels, as you know, are equipped with high-powered direct connected Parsons turbines and take very much higher class of intelligence in turbine room than average reciprocating engine job. Also we are furnishing de luxe service on twenty-knot schedule between Los Angeles Harbor and San Francisco, which requires very highest class of help in all departments. I began building up our organization for Yale and Harvard as far back as August, last year, combing Pacific Coast to get most desirable employees. I established wage scale which in no case was less than wage scale established by Shipping Board and in some instances higher. We took many of these employees out of other positions on absolute promise these salaries would be maintained. You can readily understand how inconsistent it would now be for me in face of these direct promises to break our word and arbitrarily reduce salaries of these men 15 per cent.

"So far as this company is concerned possession or nonpossession of union card is not inquired into or taken into consideration when engaging employees.

"Harvard reconstruction not yet completed and will not be for some thirty days.

"To show our good faith we noti-

USES POEM IN PLEA IN THEFT CASE.

Complaint Dismissed After Attorney Waxes Fanciful in Local Court.

Apologizing first to Justice Brown, then to the Bard of Avan, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hill recited an extemporaneous poem yesterday when he urged that the charge of larceny against Mrs. Nena Enos be dismissed.

Mrs. Enos was accused of taking three pairs of "teddy bears," a dress and some other articles from Vera Cross of 640 Stanford avenue. According to the testimony before Justice Brown yesterday, Mrs. Enos suspected Miss Cross of the theft of her husband and took the wearing apparel in revenge. Then she was arrested.

Since Mrs. Enos has learned that Miss Cross was not attempting to steal the affections of Mr. Enos, and a reconciliation has been affected between Mr. and Mrs. Enos, Mr. Hill asked that the case be dismissed.

Mr. Hill declared that he did not want it understood that he favors a wife retaliating when someone stole her husband. Then he recited a poem of his own. Here it is:

"She who steals my teddies steals trash,
But she who filches from me my spouse
Takes that which doth not enrich her
But makes me mad, indeed."

The charge was dismissed.

Open Shop Men Fill Striking Printers' Jobs.

With all striking compositors and cylinder pressmen replaced by non-union workmen, the Master Printers' Association announced yesterday that it expects the printers' strike in this city to break up within a week.

Seneca Beach, manager of the association, said a few platen and cylinder press-feeders are still needed, but that all the women who struck in the book binderies have been replaced and that the labor situation is growing easier each day.

"Many of the workers in the printing trades struck because they were misled by their union as to the actual facts," said Mr. Beach. Now that they are getting the truth, the impulse to loaf is dying out, and men are more ambitious to get back at steady jobs."

Mail Handlers to be Taught Marksmanship.

Postoffice employees, who are to be armed hereafter to stop the forays on valuable mail, are to be instructed in marksmanship, according to the statement of Asst. Postmaster Foster yesterday.

Daniel M. Kloster and J. W. Newser, employee of the local postoffice, both of whom had experience in the Army during the World War, have been appointed to teach marksmanship to the men who will carry arms. These include clerks at all of the windows, where public funds are handled, drivers and guards of the mail wagons and night watchmen. The last-named class will be armed with sawed-off shotguns, the others with revolvers.

A shooting range will be obtained and the work of increasing the efficiency of the gun squad will be begun immediately. The men with the firearms will be instructed to shoot to kill.

FOREIGN POST FOR TWINING.

Rear-Admiral is to be Naval Attache in London.

Expects to Leave America in August, He Says.

Will Remain Fleet Chief of Staff Till June.

Rear-Admiral Twining, Chief of Staff of the Pacific Fleet, announced yesterday on board the flagship New Mexico that he expects to leave America for London about August 1, to take up his duties as naval attache to the American Embassy at the Court of St. James.

It has been rumored that Admiral Twining was slated for the post for several months past, but not until yesterday did the admiral commit himself on the subject. He stated he will leave here on June 10 for Washington, and from there will go to London.

Admiral Twining also stated that the general trend of opinion among fleet officials is that Admiral Eberle will receive the appointment as successor to Admiral Rodman as commander-in-chief of the Pacific Fleet.

Contrary to reports that he would leave for Washington next week, Admiral Twining stated he will not be relieved of his present post before June 10. He added that while his new appointment has not been officially announced, he has received several letters from Washington recently stating unofficially that he will be selected for the post at London.

Fight on German Films is to Be Carried to East.

The campaign to prevent the showing of "made in Germany" motion pictures in American theaters, which was launched here a few days ago when a local theater exhibiting "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," was stormed by several thousand indignant citizens, is probably to be extended within a few days to Chicago, New York, Washington and all other cities where the nation's 15,000 motion picture theaters are located.

At a meeting of the Loyal American Film League, held at 6412 Hollywood Boulevard, last night, steps were taken to send a representative to the three cities named where he will confer with American Legion officials, clubwomen and representatives of all other organizations interested in the fight to prevent German film producers from placing their "made in Germany" stamp upon the American industry. In conjunction with this action, every motion picture exhibitor in the United States will be apprised of the recent demonstrations here.

"If we can stop the showing of German-made pictures in New York as successfully as we did here, our fight will be won," said Walter Long, a member of the league.

FINED FOR FLOGGING OF EDITOR.

Legion Men at Carpinteria Plead Guilty to Attacking Disliked Writer.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, May 18.—Five of the Carpinteria American Legion men who thrashed Arthur M. Clark, editor of the Herald of that place, because his editorials did not agree with their viewpoint, were arrested by Sheriff Ross today and each, Eddie Lobero, William McCampbell, Benjamin D. Moore, Emery Ramey and Fred Hansen, paid a fine of $100.

They pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace W. H. Wheaton, waived right of attorney and time for passing judgment, but after the fines were assessed the five asked the justice whether it was possible under the law to withdraw their pleas of guilty.

"I know our action was legally wrong," declared Moore, "but we talked it over and we could see no way out as the law would not open a way whereby we could stop the editor from writing objectionable matter and we selected the best means we thought to stop him. We had given him several warnings."

The defendants admitted that the circumstances of the flogging were as Clark had stated them last night. They also claimed that while their act was not officially ordered by Howland Russell Post of Carpinteria, yet every man of the post would stand back of them as they had been selected for the task.

The community is excited, and opinion among Santa Barbara Legion members is divided. It was declared this afternoon that the affair will become a national issue and that the Carpinteria post must purge itself of lawlessness or an effort will be made to have its charter canceled. Some Legion men here sided with the floggers.

Rumors were rife tonight that certain friends of the floggers plan further action if Mr. Clark continues his criticism of the American Legion. Mr. Clark's friends have advised him to go armed and to shoot to kill if any further attempt at violence is made.

It was also reported tonight that persons who severely censure those responsible for the attack will ask the District Attorney to call the grand jury at once to make a thorough inquiry into the affair and to bring to book every member of Howland Russell Post who attended the meetings which preceded the flogging of the editor.

LEGALITY ATTACKED.

Suit Filed to Void Incorporation of Montebello as City.

Quo warranto proceedings were brought yesterday against the city of Montebello and its officers, elected recently, to declare the incorporation of the city into the sixth class illegal and void. The election was held Oct. 6, 1920, the vote being 401, of which seventy-two were cast against incorporation.

BANDIT CHASED INTO LAW'S NET.

Hold-up Man Nabbed Fleeing from Robbery Scene.

Confesses Long Crime Record, Starting in East.

Prisoner is Also Wanted by Oakland Police.

Driven by a crowd of enraged pedestrians into the arms of three police officers, Reggie Locke, 23 years of age, bank bandit, highwayman, street thug and burglar, was captured shortly after noon yesterday after he, alone and unmasked, held up and robbed Sam Rosenblum as he stood behind the counters of his jewelry store at 222 South Main street. At Central Police Station Locke made a full confession.

In his statment to the police Locke told of looting the money sacks of two bank messengers on April 12 in Denver of $23,000 and of his escape in a stolen automobile with two other bandits, who took part in the robbery.

He related how he first began his career as a bandit in Minneapolis, where he robbed pedestrians on the streets, and also told of a bold daylight hold-up of a jewelry store in Oakland.

Locke entered the South Main-street jewelry store yesterday at about 12:30 p.m. Walking up to Mr. Rosenblum, who was alone in the place, he drew a ring from his finger and asked the jeweler to look it over. Then he whipped out a heavy revolver and demanded his victim's money.

As Rosenblum surrendered a purse containing $12, Dave Yavitch, a cousin of the jeweler, entered the establishment. When Locke turned to face Mr. Yavitch, Rosenblum grabbed for the revolver, knocking the weapon to the floor. Locke fled with Mr. Yavitch, Rosenblum and a score of pedestrians at his heels. Less than twenty feet from the scene of the hold-up, the bandit ran into the arms of Police Detectives Posner and Adams and Detective John Dymond of the District Attorney's office. Following a desperate struggle, Locke was overpowered and handcuffed.

CONFESSES RECORD.

"I was out of work and starving," declared the prisoner. "I was unable to get work in Minneapolis, although I tried everywhere. Then a fellow who always seemed to have a lot of money told me how easy it was to hold people up. I bought a revolver and went out with him.

"I left Minneapolis when things got too hot for me, and went to Denver. I got in with a couple of fellows and we planned a robbery to get a lot of money. On April 12 we got a line on a bank messenger and held him up near the stockyards. He was carrying money from a bank to the stockyards. I don't know which bank the boy and a companion were working for. We got $23,000 and escaped in an automobile.

"My split of the loot amounted to $7000. I left the money in my room after the hold-up. When I returned from a motion-picture show the cash and my two friends were gone. I guess they stole all of the loot. I left town at once and rode the freights to Oakland. Two weeks ago I stuck up a small jewelry store in Oakland and got about $100 and a little jewelry. After two or three days in San Francisco I came to Los Angeles. I tried to get work here and failed. Then I stuck up the jewelry store and got pinched. Now I guess I'm on the way to the big house."

Locke, the police say, was known in Denver as J. Clark and Art Willis; in Minneapolis as Rex Click, and in Oakland as Art Williams. The Denver robbery by far was the most successful. Art Willis, dispatches said last night, was one of three bandits that held up the auditor and a clerk of the Stockyards National Bank as they were transporting $23,000 in silver in a taxicab from the United States National Bank. This was April 12 of this year. The bandits in another automobile ran alongside of the bank messengers, presented pistols and forced them to stop. The messengers later said they had left their pistols out of reach. The bandits escaped with the money, contained in eight sacks. Joe Chere and his wife later were captured after a fight with the police in Erie, Pa., in which Chere was wounded, and $4300 was found in their room. Then Tom Coleman was captured in Denver. They are in jail awaiting trial at Denver.

The Oakland robbery was committed last Tuesday, when a man entered the jewelry store of Davidson & Licht in the business center and, while two traffic policemen stood twenty feet away, removed such stock as he pleased while he held off the clerks with a pistol. He escaped in the crowds.

A circular from the Denver police giving the description and picture of the man arrested here is on file at the Central Police Station. A reward of $2000 is offered for his capture. No record for Locke in Minneapolis or Oakland is in the hands of the local police. Records were asked for by telegraph following his arrest.

Locke told the police that he was born in Canada and has parents living there. He stated that he was a private in the Canadian army and saw service in France.

FUND DRIVE IS LAUNCHED BY Y. W. C. A.

Eleven Teams in Ten-Day Campaign Report Initial Contributions.

The Y.W.C.A. launched its ten-day campaign yesterday when a brigade of approximately 150 girls and women after their first half-day of work, turned in a total report at the initial noon-day luncheon of $6660.15.

The team workers were enthusiastic despite the fact that the reaching of a $100,000 goal in ten days means a strenuous campaign.

Yesterday's report included $5762.65 from the executive committee of which Mrs. S. W. Crabill is chairman.

Teams No. 5 and 9, captained respectively by Mrs. James Montgomery and Mrs. Charles F. Nelson, turned in the best initial reports of $265 and $235.

Captains of the Y.W.C.A. women's teams are as follows: Executive—Mrs. S. W. Crabill; No. 2, Mrs. J. E. Coffin; No. 3, Miss Phyllis Grey; No. 4, Miss Mae Johnson; No. 5, Mrs. James Montgomery; No. 6, Miss Carrie Elwood; No. 7, Mrs. John Beal; No. 8, Mrs. W. H. Smith; No. 9, Mrs. Charles F. Nelson; No. 10, Miss Alberta Newton, and No. 11, Mrs. Lawrence Burck.

Miss Agnes Wilson of the First National Bank is general of the "opportunity" division formed among the business women, and Mrs. Docia A. Conley is general of the "activity" division.

Mrs. Nichols Milbank, president of the Y.W.C.A., is chairman of the campaign executive committee; Judge W. H. Thomas is the noon-day speaker, and Ray Condit community song leader.

The campaign is for $100,000 to be used for maintenance and to provide $40,000 to supplement a $50,000 fund to be used to build a gymnasium and swimming pool for girls.

As its campaign slogan the Y.W.C.A. has adopted "Straight Ahead for the Y.W.C.A. Gymnasium," this being used in connection with "A Stronger, Happier Girlhood—a Better, Finer City."

QUIT TOBACCO OR LOSE JOBS.

Long Beach Teachers Must Not Smoke if They Want to Continue Work.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LONG BEACH, May 18.—If there are any teachers now employed in the Long Beach public schools who use tobacco, either on or off duty, they must sign the pledge or else they will find their names dropped from the rolls when the teachers are employed for the next semester. This was the edict of the Board of Education yesterday.

A communication from J. J. Bryant of the No Tobacco League, requesting that no teacher who uses tobacco be employed in the local schools, brought the subject before the board. The board decided not to dismiss those teachers now employed who are smokers, but requested the superintendent to investigate how extensively the weed is being used and to ask those who have the habit to cease smoking.

WAS PIONEER TEACHER.

Mrs. Martha A. White, Veteran Educator of Los Angeles, is Buried.

Funeral services for Mrs. Martha A. White, 72 years old, who died last Sunday after an illness of more than three years, were conducted at 2 p.m. yesterday at the chapel of Booth & Boylson. Burial was in Rosedale Cemetery.

Mrs. White was one of the earliest pioneers of California. She came here with her parents when she was but 2 years of age. In the late 60's Mrs. White graduated from the Normal School at San Francisco and was one of the first women to receive a life certificate as a schoolteacher in this State.

For more than thirty years she taught in the schools of Los Angeles and for about twenty-nine years was principal of the Ann-street School.

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. Fred C. Martin, 1261 North Broadway, where Mrs. White resided.

CLOTHIER GOING TO EUROPE FOR STYLES.

James Oviatt of the firm of Alexander & Oviatt, clothiers, is to leave today on a semiannual buying trip to eastern and foreign markets. Mr. Oviatt will sail from New York June 4 on the Olympic and will visit the merchandise centers of Great Britain, France and England to secure exclusive fabrics and patterns in shirtings, neckwear, hosiery, etc., and to supervise the execution of the firm's individual models in imported overcoats and sport clothing.

TO GIVE CARD PARTY.

A card party will be given by the Foreign Relief Committee at the Bryson Apartments, May 26, according to an announcement made yesterday by Mrs. Willoughby Rodman, who will act as chairman.

Jacoby's 46th Anniversary Bulletin

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 19, 1921 — PUBLISHED BY JACOBY BROS., LOS ANGELES

New Merchandise Galore Is Here!

Did You Know That All Jacoby Suits Are Reduced?

Sports Capes of Knitted Wool—Wear Anniversary Tags $16.98

The vogue of the cape is strong and growing stronger—and Anniversary prices make Jacoby's line well nigh irresistible!

—These knitted capes come in such striking two-tone combinations—turquoise-with-white, rose-with-gray, henna-with-gray, black-with-white, tomato-with-gray, gray-with-Copenhagen and tan-with-henna.

—They are full length and have the huge, wrappy collars which are the same tone as the border which finishes the bottom of the garment.

Brush Wool Wraps, $24.98

—These smart, comfortable capes or mantles are greatly to the fore, and both the brush wool of which they are made, and the colorings make a pleasing impression. They are light in weight, but delightfully warm. In black, white and a color range including jade, Copenhagen, rose and brown.

Sport Capes at $10.98

—They are the very thing for motoring, beach and general wear, and for evening they are ideal, for they cannot crush any light, dainty frock.

—The capes are $10.98, are of brush wool finished with fringe about the bottom and have a fringed scarf about the neck.

—In plaids and two-tone effects, such as gray-and-black, and wine, navy or brown with tan.

Third Floor, South Building—Jacoby's

Sport Skirts Are Out To Win in the Anniversary At $12.98

—They comprise a fetching array of new plaids and stripes in color combinations that are harmonious and effective.

—Especially attractive are new plaid skirts of prunella, that fabric beloved by Mistress "'75"—as we; as by matrons of an earlier time. These are in box pleats of various sizes as well as side pleated styles. Sizes 26 to 34.

Third Floor, South Building—Jacoby's.

—Opportunities to choose from suits of unexcelled style, quality and workmanship at the advantageous prices named in the Anniversary Event, are so rare that we hear on every hand words of praise and congratulations for the offerings on sale at Jacoby's this week.

—We want to impress upon you that this is not a "job lot," or a "clearance" or anything of the sort—every suit is of the kind that it is necessary for a well-equipped department like ours to have in stock—in season and out—and every suit is a "gem."

—There is a properly wide selection to please the taste—as well as the purse—and there are suits correct for every type of figure—the smartly, strictly tailored models, the semi-tailored of long straight lines, and the suits that are designed for dressy wear, braided and embroidered.

—They are principally of navy and black with a goodly number of the exquisite shades of tan and gray so liked by many women for summer wear.

26 Suits at $23.00
50 Suits at $28.00
36 Suits at $38.00
52 Suits at $53.00
33 Suits at $63.00
18 Suits at $73.00
10 Suits at $83.00
9 Suits at $88.00

Third Floor, South Building—Jacoby's

Skirts Semi-Made in Jacoby's Tailoring Department for $1.00

—To take advantage of this price, it is only necessary to buy materials in Jacoby's Yardage Section.

—Your skirt will be cut, fitted, basted and turned over to you in condition for the home dressmaker to finish it easily and quickly.

—Skirts completely finished for $2.50, subject to same conditions.

Second Floor, South Building—Jacoby's.

Men's Gordon Sox At 15c a Pair

—These nationally advertised sox are too well known to need more than the name and the price and the briefest of description.

—They are of good clean combed cotton yarn with linen heels and toes for extra wear. Black only.

Main Floor, North Building—Jacoby's

Two Corset Specials That Women Will Appreciate

There are exceptional values in both these Anniversary assortments and they are only two of the interesting things in Jacoby's Corset Department.

Corsets at $1.49

—A late topless model made of fancy figured pink material and lightly boned. This style is admirable for women of slight and medium figure. Sizes 21 to 26.

Corsets at $3.98

—Back and front lace corsets in low and medium bust styles. They are made of pink broche, designed for women of slight or average figure and come in sizes 21 to 28.

Second Floor, North Building—Jacoby's.

1000 Play Suits Are Tagged "59c" for The Anniversary

And the youngsters will want a supply of these for their summer playdays

—They are of medium weight denim, play suit cloth or khaki twill in blue or brown. Low or high neck; long or short sleeve styles. Plenty of sizes from 3 to 8.

The Floor o' Youth—The Fourth —Jacoby's.

Girls' White Regulation Dresses Sharply Reduced

They are odd sizes and are somewhat soiled, so the price has been lowered for a quick disposal in the Anniversary!

—The majority of these frocks are in the larger sizes. Then there are fetching little sport models in white stripes or combined with plain white.

—Many frocks of white poplin and cord are set off with touches of handwork. Sizes range from 6 to 14.

The Floor o' Youth —the Fourth—Jacoby's.

Mr. "75" Would Have Been Glad to Pay More Than $1.49 For These Shirts

And Mr. "'21" will be quick to note their superiority!

—They are made of woven and corded striped madras in both the bold and conservative effects.

—In every detail of fabric, cut and workmanship, they prove their right to a higher price mark.

—These sketches were made from actual scenes in the badly crowded quarters of the Los Angeles Public Library day before yesterday!

No, Gentle Reader, These Scenes Are Not From 1875, But in the Best Library L. A. Boasts Today

Los Angeles Started Cooping Her Library Up in the Top Floor of Buildings Back in 1875 and Can't Seem to Get Out of the Habit! Let's Get in the Class With Pasadena, San Diego and Long Beach and Own Our Own Library—Vote Yes on No. 3

THEY loved music in the old days
Dated, eighteen-seventy-five.
And the printer-man has told ways
Talent kept the muse alive.
"Home talent plans to play
"Queen Esther"
In our own Turnverein Hall."
(Such news items never pester
So the paper told them all.)
"They're rehearsing the Cantata,
"They're rehearsing it some more.
"They will play it, as a 'starter'
"Monday, unless rain-drops pour,
"Costumes come from San Francisco."
("Queen Esther" was the newsman's'stress.)
Effort counts in times like this, so "Esther" was a grand success!
"'75" loved music dearly
Music, mirth and lively "shows."
And "'21" news tells quite clearly
Los Angeles' love for these things grows.

Mabel M. Parks.

—The interior scenes depict 1921 conditions when our artist went to the library a few days ago in search of inspiration.

—Anybody who spends any time at all in the Los Angeles Public Library knows that it is handicapped most deplorably by overcrowding and that this state of things needs speedy remedy.

—In 1875 the Los Angeles Library was "tucked up" in the upper part of the old Downey Block.

—In 1921 the Library is still "tucked up", this time on the upper floors of the Metropolitan Building.

—This is the only city of any size that does not own its own library building.

—"Too expensive?" Is that your idea of the trouble Mr. "1921"? Let us tell you that to grant all that is asked in the way of bond issue, would only increase taxation about 15 cents on each thousand dollars.

—To be specific; an owner of property valued at $5000 would only pay the additional sum of fifty cents to relieve these disgraceful conditions.

—Jacoby's asks all its friends to vote "Yes" on Proposition No. 3.

—They include medium and low and topless styles with medium or long hip and particularly good boning. The material is an excellent grade of pink broche.

Second Floor, North Building—Jacoby's.

Women's Novelty Footwear Takes on Anniversary Prices Thursday—$4.85

—The great variety of Footwear Styles the summer has brought are fully represented at Jacoby's, and when you realize that the Anniversary Sale Event has brought with it prices that really are lower than the almost mythical "pre-war prices," besides—you will not have that guilty feeling of wicked extravagance when you decide, after trying on two styles, to take both!

—Many women have profited by the rare opportunities offered in the Shoe Department during this Anniversary Sale, and the sales totals have daily soared higher and higher. But you won't wonder at this after you have read the list and have come to see for yourself these Slippers and Oxfords priced at $4.85.

—Grey Suede Slippers have one strap and military heels.

—Oxford Ties in either plain or Brogue style come in black, brown and white.

—Brown Kid Slippers have either one or two straps and high French heels or Baby Louis heels.

THE WHOLE TRUTH.

Daniel Frohman is emphatic in his appeal for truth in advertising. The theatrical business is strong for the naked truth—the more naked the better. Didst ever hear of a theatrical press agent who offered any deviation from the exact truth? Never!

EXPERT TESTIMONY.

Government experts were able to figure a reduction of 3 per cent in the food cost to the average family during the month of April. But this doesn't mean much. The government sharps have been able to do a lot of things with figures that the rest of us were unable to accomplish.

WILD MEN.

Explorers in the Philippine wilds report that the Igorrotes are still primitive. They dwell in the jungle and wear nothing whatever save a narrow cord about the waist. This is probably to keep them from getting sunburned. Girls who have to wear sport skirts will envy the Igorrotes their freedom.

REAL RICHES.

Of course, Los Angeles county is the greatest county in the world—as a farming community as well as in many other ways. The value of her farm property alone now exceeds $400,000,000 and the annual value of her crops is nearly $63,000,000. No other county in America nearly approaches this in either respect.

A POSTME OF THE UPLIFT.

Georges Carpentier has a full-length mirror in his private training quarters and does his boxing in front of the same. He also has a valet and a Parisian chef. Georges is doing the uplift in the prize-fight game and is removing the sport from its lowbrow environment. When he gets through with his mission Jack Dempsey will be fit to pour tea in any parlor.

CROSS PURPOSES.

The soviet government is still holding numbers of Americans as prisoners with the idea of forcing the official recognition of the authority of the Commune. Meanwhile the United States declares that there can be no possible recognition of the soviet power as long as a single American is held a prisoner. The situation is getting nobody anywhere and is not to be readily improved.

OUR GRAPES ABROAD.

Now France and Italy are making arrangements to purchase a large part of the wine-grape crop of California. Their own crops are not sufficient to meet the demand and they seek American grapes to make wine for future consumption. A good many Americans wouldn't believe it, but the California wines were equal to the products of Spain, Italy or France in their grade. Now France and Italy propose to furnish the proof themselves by using the California grapes for their best efforts in wine pressing.

KNOCK OR BOOST.

The appointment of David H. Blair as Internal Revenue Commissioner has been confirmed, in spite of the opposition of Senator Johnson. If Hiram is going to fight everybody who voted for the other fellow he has embarked upon a career of sustained battlement that will endure till the cows come home. If to prefer someone else to Johnson as President is to be marked as a foe of the nation, then the country will score about 97 per cent traitor. Senator Johnson makes the unhappy mistake of thinking that his dinky little personal grudges are the grievances of the universe. It is impossible for a man to be both a statesman and a common scold.

SKIES ARE CLEARING.

Various grand jury investigations of graft and blackmail in labor unions in the building trades are clearing the skies. Much delayed construction is now under way and it is possible to make a reasonably accurate estimate of the cost of building. For a long time that depended upon the erratic and uncertain demands of the walking delegates. Sometimes they would extort more profit than the traffic would bear. Just now they are afraid to levy blackmail or call strikes. Few contractors or workmen would respond to their demands, anyhow. As a result the building situation is much improved in the large cities and a definite program of construction is under way. The country looks pretty good, after all.

BOOZE AT THE BORDER.

A shipment of 200 barrels of whisky from San Francisco to Tia Juana has been halted on the plea that the cargo is rather large for medicinal purposes. It might seem so at first, but there are a lot of sick people around Tia Juana and the hills back of it are full of rattlesnakes. If any American citizen now in Mexico should die of snake bite his relatives could sue the government for a million dollars' damage because of this delay in providing the necessary relief. Does the administration care to assume a responsibility of this kind? The government is not a doctor and, even if this prescription does seem to be a rather heavy one, is the patient to be left to perish? This is a question not to be brazenly sneered at. We have had war with Mexico before for a lesser one.

PROTECTING AMERICAN STANDARDS.

One does not have to follow the tariff discussions in the Senate very far to discover that the free-traders, making use of subsidies provided by the eastern importers, are pursuing their old tactics to defeat the different tariff schedules in detail, without disclosing their animosity to the principle of protection. They seek to divide the Republican forces, to array one section of the country against another, to so weaken each schedule that, when they are grouped, the whole tariff bill will be impotent to protect American labor and industry against cheap foreign competition.

That an absolute necessity exists for a protective tariff, both to produce revenue and to preserve American wage schedules and standards of living, is hardly contested. The method of attack is to array selfish sectional interests against the general public interest. The fight on the citrus fruit tariff is a good illustration. The citrus industry in the United States is confined very largely to California and Florida, although Arizona and two Southern States are also interested. The free-traders seek to array the representatives of the States that produce no citrus fruits against the citrus-fruit industry.

Before the war Germany supplied dyestuffs to the world; but when trade with Germany was suspended this country was compelled of necessity to furnish its own. A number of companies were formed and a good beginning was made to establish a dyestuffs industry in the United States. Now the war, from a business standpoint, is over. Our ports are again open to cargoes of foreign dyestuffs and the industrious German manufacturers are seeking to recapture their old markets. Members of Congress, under the influence of the New York importers, are protesting against a tariff on dyestuffs sufficient to permit the development of the industry in the United States. They argue that the proposed schedules will increase the cost of manufactured textile goods, that it will levy a tribute on the many for the benefit of the few. They have no desire to see our country become self-supporting. If it were so, the importing business would go into an early decline.

These same free-traders are working industriously to stir up a sentiment in New England against the proposed tariff on beans. They say that California is trying to levy tribute on Boston by keeping the Chinese and Manchurian beans off the American market. Why should the whole of Boston pay more for its "brown bread and" in order to enrich a few bean growers in California? We know the answer here. Our farmers are prevented by the Chinese exclusion law from employing orientals to raise beans, but they are forced into competition with those raised by this same cheap labor on foreign soil. But the cunning enemies of protective tariff studiously avoid the California point of view.

Similar attacks are being made on the sugar schedule, the woolen schedule and others that mean the very lives of industries, but immediately affect only the sections where they are located. If the free-traders can thus succeed in breaking each separate stick the faggot itself will be without stability. The free-trader cunningly asks, "If there is no single schedule that does not increase the cost to the many for the benefit of the few, why a protective tariff?" Their assumption is plausible, but not true. There is probably not a single article produced in the United States that, by reason of cheap foreign labor, cannot be secured somewhere else for less than the cost of production here. Free trade will lower the cost of living by throwing 15,000,000 workmen in the United States out of employment. The American standard of living depends upon the American standard of wages. What would it benefit the man with the empty pay envelope to have the prices of his supplies reduced by one-half?

European economists say that the result of high wages and the consequent cost of production in this country is bound to make the American market the best in the world in which to sell and the worst in which to buy. That is the eventuality which we must seek to evade. It is true that wages in many industries are now at a peak that cannot be maintained. The era of silk shirts is drawing to an end. But there is a happy medium between a silk shirt and no shirt at all. Experience has proved that a protective tariff means a full dinner pail. If we can continue to provide adequately for our workers the rest of the community will be able to shift for themselves.

Our agriculturists, too, must not be overlooked. The majority of the population of our country still cling to the farms, and we must not permit our greed for cheaper foodstuffs in the cities to blind us to the fact that the farming interests need protection from pauper labor abroad. John Ruskin once drew a graphic pen picture of the farmer digging his crop of potatoes and the other classes of society lined up along the row holding out their hands for a part of the crop. He said that embodied the problem of modern civilization to persuade the farmer who produced to divide his crop with the nonproducers.

Of course, this illustration contains only a half truth; for potatoes alone will not sustain life, and the farmer owed to other classes of society the implements with which he had tended his crop, the clothing that protected him from the sun and wind, his habitation and the fuel by which it was warmed and the printed word which raised his hours of leisure above those of the brute. But it is nevertheless true that cities could not exist if farms were uncultivated and that we must not sacrifice the interests of the agriculturists to our desire to secure food at a slightly lower price.

Free-traders have pounced upon the word "profiteer" and are mouthing it like a dog worrying a bone. They assert that tariffs fatten the profiteers and starve the rest of the country. We have but to reflect upon the condition of our lemon growers, our bean growers and our cotton growers to discover the falsity of the charge.

Protection is necessary to preserve American standards of living. The truth of that maxim has been proved by fifty years of actual experience in this country during alternating periods of adequate tariffs and free trade. And the same degree of protection which we demand for our California products we must be willing to grant to those of other communities. There was once an ass elected to Congress from the northern part of the State who made a speech during a tariff discussion in which he advocated adequate schedules for our California products and free trade for those of the rest of the country. He has, happily, been retired to private life.

BUNKO OR MERE IMPERTINENCE?

House-to-house canvassers are active in the city, inquiring into the savings accounts of the householders. They purport to be in the employ of "one of the most important banking associations on the Coast" and profess to be compiling statistics of the individuals or families that have saved more than $100 during the past year. The young man canvassing in the North Union avenue district, upon being asked for more explicit details of his authority for making these intimate inquiries, declined to furnish any specific name, merely repeating that he represented an important banking association.

Now this may be a bona fide compilation, but, on the other hand, citizens may be excused if they regard it as somewhat of an impertinence—or even with suspicion. Such data, in the hands of the wrong people, must necessarily prove a dangerous weapon. Under the circumstances, the compilation should certainly be made under the authority of the government, by responsible officials. But, in any case, why the secrecy as to the title of the "important banking association," which one would suppose in a position to furnish the data themselves as regards savings accounts, if not of the teapot and stocking accumulations.

It seems desirable that a little more light should be thrown upon this particular activity. If not the lawful authorities, then who exactly is making this elaborate tabulation of names, addresses and savings accounts? The data will prove a very valuable mailing list when complete and could be put to base uses.

One canvasser, when it was suggested that the inquiries savored of impertinence and his authority was questioned, declared that he had a perfect right to demand the information and that penalties would be forthcoming for denial. But he declined to give his authority or furnish any further information about the scheme, except that the statistics were required for compilation.

Guileless citizens will stand for a good deal of this sort of thing, and the petition canvasser has acclimatized them to harassing impertinence, but when it comes to furnishing a stranger young man with the details of one's private finances the limit seems surely to have been reached. It is doubtful whether any authority other than the government would be justified in making such house-to-house inquiries; but certainly no such compilation should be made under any conditions and by any authority without the fullest publicity and the most unimpeachable credentials.

THE MUSES TO THE RESCUE.

The uplifting propensities of art, literature and music have long been urged, and the soft and inspiring strains of music were promptly adopted by the picture studios to inspire the actors and directors to greater perfection. We are authoritatively informed that all the greatest film stars enjoy this aid to inspiration, excepting only the author.

And now comes the poetic mannequin—just when dress needed elevating, too. It appears that the latest requirement in the mannequin, that charming young person who inspires the modiste to brilliant design and the buyer to purchase thereof—is an ability to recite delicate poetry the while she gracefully revolves in the showroom for inspection. She must be able to declaim suitable verse to inspire monsieur the designer while he creates the styles for the gowns, and still more seductive poetry while she is parading for Madame la Profiteer's inspection thereof with a view to purchase.

There will be Omar Khayyam gowns and Keats gowns, Wordsworth gowns and Amy Lowell gowns—and some of them will have rhyme and reason and some of them will be distinctly vers libre. There will be sonnet gowns, chic and very abbreviated, and narrative poems with a story and a moral. A John Masefield gown is liable to be a bit raw-meaty, and heaven alone knows what will materialize through some of the modern realistic school of poets with a weakness for calling a spade a spade. Of course, poetry should have an ennobling influence on dress, but if they take a couple of Byron's unpublished poems they will have to be strictly boudoir gowns. Before this vogue goes any farther it might be as well for the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations to "resolute" in favor of Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Eugene Field. The nation, of course, that doesn't respect its poets is beneath contempt—but we must draw the line somewhere.

WORTHY OF HIS HIRE.

Everybody admits that the laborer is worthy of his hire. It is not always easy to agree upon what that is, however. For instance, how much is it worth for a man to carry small reinforcing rods from one spot to another and tie them with bits of wire? Such "labor" doesn't require the slightest skill or much muscle. Yet unions back East decided that only men belonging to the structural iron workers could handle the rods and they must be paid $1 per hour. There are industries in which that amount of recompense is fairly earned, but the job mentioned is not worth it, Boston contractors declare. They argued this and other points with the men and the result was that they had a strike on their hands. The men suffered and so did the employers and the public. Building was practically tied up. Finally the employers decided to institute the system of the "free shop" or, as it is known outside of Boston, the open shop. Now unskilled labor is handling the rods at 55 cents an hour and the men are reported to be doing twice as much work as the union workers accomplished at nearly double the wage. They use an automatic pump for certain work connected with the building trades. It does not require anyone to look after it, but the union demanded that it should have a hoisting engineer to watch it and that he, too, should get $1 an hour and collect double time for Sundays when he didn't go near the pump but stayed at home. Was that man worthy of what the union considered should be his hire? The contractors decided he wasn't and they broke loose from that and other absurd rules. They have found the result so beneficial that Boston newspapers quote the head of the Building Trades Employers' Association as saying there is to be no going back.

MAD DOG SCARES.

Excitable persons are beginning to rear up over hydrophobia scares and communities are enforcing ordinances for the muzzling of all dogs. Were it not for a few timorous official "experts" a mad dog would seldom be known or found. If there is anything in the world more calculated than another to make a dog mad it is in being compelled to wear a muzzle. How would the fat doctor like it if he were forced to wear a ponderous metal muzzle over his beak and jowls during all of June and July? He would commence to foam before the end of the first week. Yet some boards of health will not hesitate to order every dog in the community into muzzles for three months if Fido chances to show a bit of steam in pursuing a flea. There will be less hydrophobia if the dogs have freedom and water than if they are locked up in muzzles that prevent them from reaching their natural tormentors. How would the doctor like it if he were to be shot on his appearing in the street without a muzzle?

A YOUTHFUL PEOPLE.

The most vivid impression made upon a prominent European woman who recently visited the United States for ten weeks was the youthfulness of the American mind, as she put it. She meant it as a compliment. The nation's freshness of view, its freedom from ancient traditions such as hold many European peoples in a mental groove, appealed to this stranger. Probably most foreign observers who have come here have gone away with similar impressions. They see in Americans an energetic, restless, inquiring people, ever seeking things that are new, always trying to reach into the future with their minds as with their physical energies. It is proof of youthfulness, this spirit which induces a race to keep its face turned toward the rising sun rather than continually glancing back to watch the mileposts that have been passed or striving to maintain traditions.—[Brooklyn Standard-Union.

TWO MINUTES OF OPTIMISM.

BY HERMAN J. STICH.

The Trail to Happiness.

Talking about nature—

Do you know what it means to observe, to really see?

It means to use your eyes to note clearly, and your mind to comprehend thoroughly what most people come in contact with sometimes constantly and do not notice or absorb.

It means looking through the outer shell or appearance of things and learning to read something of their hidden meaning.

It means to have sight and also insight, to look with one's physical eyes and also with the vision of the spirit.

Most of us, so far as seeing and understanding nature is concerned, are like fishermen and sailors, who, unless they are especially taught, do not know how to swim.

We see so much, we observe and interpret and appreciate little or nothing.

Which is only one of a number of good reasons why every man and every woman who is a nature lover (and we are every single one of us just that, though we may not know it,) who revels in a jaunt through the woods and is slave to the imperious call of the healing green, finds in Curwood's "God's Country" what he has all along felt, but somehow or other, perhaps, has failed to voice.

Its pages radiate the great OUT OF DOORS; the murmurings of rippling waters fill the soft air with soothing song; the scent of growing things, fragrant with the perfumes of myriad flowers, stirs the heart unaccountably, satisfying many—half-smothered longing and vaguely evolved conviction.

And it may be that you will end by concluding with Curwood that God lives in the rose and in the tree, just as he lives in the heart of man; that it is God who breathes in the grass that makes the earth so comfortable to tread upon; He lives in the song of birds.

It is something to think about when a man becomes bent or broken in body or soul. Instinctively, he turns to nature to seek—and he finds—rest, recuperation, strength, peace and contentment.

The open skies, the free airs, the fields, forests, meadows and waters—these are God's greatest gifts to man; these are His eternal restorers, elixirs that are far more potent to cure ills, to soothe scars, to fill and allay aching voids than are the greatest formulas of all the physicians on earth.

They are our priceless possessions—and, as with so many of our other priceless possessions, we neglect them, do not see them, in fact, and so, too frequently, fail to follow the trail to happiness.

And it is to this trail that it is Curwood's desire, his ambition and his great goal to lead us.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

MAIL ROBBERIES.

Once a man could send a letter this wide continent across and he didn't need to sweat or walk the floor through fear of loss. We had faith in Uncle Sammy as the guardian of the mail, and the robber's fate was clammy who would lift our uncle's kale. Oft I mailed a million dollars to some creditors of mine—men who dealt in socks and collars or in hops or kickless wine—and they always got the plunder on the right and proper day; it was then a thing of wonder if a kopeck went astray. Then the robber told his fellow, when they planned a crib to slam, "Steal from any other fellow—do not steal from Uncle Sam; for thieves have tried in countless numbers that old graft without avail, for our uncle never slumbers and he never quits a trail." But the robbers now are busy swiping mail from Uncle Sam, and he's looking pained and dizzy and as helpless as a clam.
Every day a fortune's taken from the mails, the nation grieves, and the sleuths bring home no bacon when they go to pinch the thieves.
Every day thieves make a killing, stealing valued postal cards, and I fear to mail a shilling, as do all the other bards. WALT MASON.

SERMONETTES.

BY N. W. PHIEBROOK.

The beginning of the Christian life is not an emotion, an asset or a feeling, but a decision.

Every evil thing in the world today exists because men have chosen to do evil.

It is no proof of the scripturalness of a sermon that the audience goes home feeling good.

The word of Christ deals with eternal facts. After men have disputed, denied and forgotten them the facts remain.

It is a fact proven by human experience since the days of Adam that no man who is out of harmony with God can withstand the forces of evil which are in this world.

The Sermon on the Mount, if given full control of a man's life, lifts his whole being to a higher plane, purifying, refining and ennobling body, mind and spirit.

The course of doctrinal research for two thousand years is strewn with the wreck of theological sure things. But vital truth—that which fell from the lips of Jesus Christ—is eternal as God is eternal.

Paul warned the early Christians to beware lest they be led away by the craftiness of the devil—from the "simplicity that is in Christ." As neither the gospel nor human nature has changed from that day to this, is not the same warning pertinent today?

Making a Distinction.

"I don't believe you know the difference between classical music and jazz."

"Yes, I do," exclaimed Mr. Cumrox. "In classical music the members of the orchestra sit still and in jazz they jump all over the platform."—[Washington Star.

A TEST FOR MR. EDISON.

With all due respect for a very distinguished gentleman, it must be said that Mr. Edison's method of measuring intelligence, if turned against himself, might easily and swiftly register him among the nincompoops.

Suppose, for example, that Mr. Edison is put upon honor this morning not to resort to the reference library and is then confronted not with a hundred and fifty test questions, but only with the subjoined ten, with ten minutes in which to overhaul his memory cells:

(1.) Where was the Serbonian bog and what entire armies were sunk therein?

(2.) Who wrote "Mary had a little lamb"?

(3.) In what town in Illinois did Abraham Lincoln deliver his longest speech in the debate with Douglas?

(4.) Where is Sidi Bou Said?

(5.) Give the text of the Curse of Ernulphus.

(6.) What was the date of the invention of the ordinary cartwheel?

(7.) What is a bunnalanna?

(8.) When and why was the digamma dropped?

(9.) How many white beans, on the average, to the bushel?

(10.) Who struck William Patterson, and why?

There is no greater humbug than what is called "research work" in matters of this sort. Dictionary and cyclopaedia and phrase book hunting is not real research work. Yet five minutes with the card index and book shelves often give to a pretentious individual a sense of general information and a fancied proprietorship in special knowledge which twenty years of important and original study may not induce.

We shall not think less highly of Mr. Edison's mentality—that is a word in fashion—if he frankly confesses that without recourse to adventitious aid he must flunk on every one of the ten.

The principle is simple enough and obvious enough. The wise employer will try to ascertain the quality of the intelligence rather than the mere contents of the memory of those on whose assistance he expects to depend; the sharpness of the blade of the plane, not the bulk of the pile of shavings.—[New York Herald.

NORWAY'S ANNIVERSARY

BY A. D. MacKAYE.

Wherever three Norwegians gather on the 17th of May, even though it be on the forecastle of some ship at sea, right there and then will take place a celebration of Norway's Fourth of July, in honor of the granting of a constitution and its own Parliament, or Storthing, to this ancient kingdom. Not only in Norway, but in practically every city of the United States, there will be celebrations in honor of this day by Norwegians and their descendants, though many of the latter do not even speak their parents' language; a fact which proves how thoroughly the Scandinavians become real Americans in the second generation.

In Los Angeles the 17th of May was celebrated by the 4000 local Norwegians and their friends on Sunday with a picnic and proper observances at Sycamore Grove. But thousands of them will recall the more comprehensive observance of the day in Norway.

From all over the country whole families flock to Christiania, the capital, where the most elaborate ceremonies take place and the greatest gaiety reigns during the day and night. Promptly at 6 o'clock in the morning all of the populace who can gather near and around the ancient Vor Erelsers Kirke, where the day starts with a musical program from its tower. This is followed by a parade of the school children through the streets, each waving a small Norwegian flag. Then comes the parade of the university students, who march to the wide steps of Christiania University and render a program of song in great choruses.

Although throughout the entire city, as well as every district in Norway, celebrations are in progress during the day, the great center of attraction is at the Festningen, or fortress park, beside beautiful Christiania Fiord. Here the dancing commences early in the day and often lasts throughout most of the following night. At this time the big military park presents the appearance of a most colorful festival, as many of the women and girls wear the picturesque old Norwegian costumes.

There are also addresses, explaining the why and the wherefore of the celebration, but in the main the interest centers in just a plain "good time," with dancing as the most popular outdoor sport. To register joy is the motto for the day, and there are probably few places in the world where this joy is more generally expressed by an entire population than in Norway.

LAWYERS STILL IN LEAD.

The law-making department of the government continues to be run, as it has been practically ever since the foundation of the republic, by lawyers. Statistics of the incoming Congress show that members of the legal profession so far outnumber bankers, farmers, publishers and manufacturers as to leave the other businesses and professions scarcely a "look-in."

The number of lawyers in the new House of Representatives is 298. As for the other professions, bankers come second with twenty-six, farmers are third with twenty-two, which is more than they have had at any time in the last decade.

Newspaper publishers are fourth with twenty.

Manufacturers have sixteen of their number in the House.

The new Congress has one member whose last nonpolitical employment, so far as can be ascertained, was as a beer agent. That employment being now gone, his Congressional salary will come in quite handy.

Congress has only one actor, Julius Kahn of California, who has served in many Congresses preceding. He is about the only entertainer left. John Baer, the cartoonist and chalk talker from North Dakota, retiring March 4. Only one woman in the new Congress keeps a restaurant in her own home town.—[Literary Digest.

STUDENTS PLAN EGYPTIAN FETE.

Art Institute Members to Open Lips of Sphinx.

Daring Costumes Prepared for Entertainment.

Historical Characters of Nile to be Portrayed.

Egypt, the far-famed mistress of a thousand secrets, will be reincarnated, pepped up with more than a dash of modern jazz and paraded before the public a week from Saturday at the Otis Art Institute, where, it was announced yesterday, all students are co-operating in preparations for a fete that promises to overshadow any previous effort of the Institution.

By the time Cleopatra takes the arm of Marc Antony and starts the grand march at 9 p.m. it is believed even the tongue of the Sphinx will be loosened and Egypt's secrets, portrayed under modern interpretation, will begin to unfold.

Cleopatra, it might be added, will be impersonated by the winner in a recent popularity contest. Her identity is being withheld until the night of the fete. Marc Antony will be represented by the winner among the men students in the same contest.

"Atmosphere" for the fete is now being prepared by the dozens of square yards. More than fifty huge posters of original design will be completed by the night of the entertainment and the interior of the institute will be transformed to scenes on the banks of the Nile so that the Pharaohs, who will be there in considerable numbers, may feel at home.

Daring costumes will be a feature of the fete. Students of the designing class have been at work for several days on costumes that will blend with the Bohemian spirit of the occasion. In addition to the dancing, there will be several special numbers, including burlesques on bits of Egyptian history and the breaking of silence by the Sphinx with an address on prohibition.

Tickets to the entertainment may be obtained from any of the students or from the institute office. The proceeds of the fete will be applied to a scholarship for meritorious work by art students and it is hoped to make the affair into an annual benefit for this purpose.

TO CUT SUGAR RATES.

Espee May Restore Former Differential for Car Shipments East.

The restoration of the old differential for carload shipments of refined sugar from this city to eastern points loomed as a strong probability yesterday, when it was announced at San Francisco that the existing rate will be reduced by the Southern Pacific on June 27.

H. C. Hallmark, general freight agent for the company, stated last night that he had not been advised of the new rate, but that one might be expected soon.

The sugar companies of this State, he said, asked the railroads some time ago to give them a rate which would restore the old differential between shipments from here to Mississippi Valley points and shipments from New Orleans and New York to those places.

WALKS FROM DETROIT.

Hiker Makes Trip in Six Weeks and Six Hours on Twelve Cents.

Edward H. Cochran, carrying letters from the mayors of fourteen cities in the Middle West, has arrived in Los Angeles after hiking from Detroit in six weeks and six hours.

Mr. Cochran, who undertook the trip for love of walking and to be outdoors, started from Detroit with 57 cents and arrived here with 45 cents. He made his expenses by selling photographs at various points along the route.

The long-distance hiker is trying to locate his sister, Mrs. Katherine Ohlinger, who, he believes, is living here or in Long Beach. He plans to start walking back to Detroit next month.

CHURCHES BACK DRIVE OF SALVATION ARMY.

FEDERATION TO CO-OPERATE IN MAKING SUNDAY HOME SERVICE DAY.

Urging general support and unanimously indorsing the campaign of the Salvation Army, the Church Federation of Los Angeles yesterday went on record as giving 100 per cent co-operation to make next Sunday home service day in every Protestant church in Los Angeles.

The Executive Committee of the Church Federation of Los Angeles unanimously indorses the Salvation Army campaign now being carried on," reported Rev. S. J. Montgomery, executive secretary, in a communication addressed to the Salvation Army headquarters.

The Temple Baptist Church, which meets in the Philharmonic Auditorium, through its trustees, is going even a step beyond the Executive Committee, and has turned over its entire Sunday-evening service to the Salvation Army. For the first time, members of the Salvation Army staff, the Salvation Army band and nurses from the Maternity Home and the Day Nursery will conduct the service of the largest congregation in Los Angeles.

Declaring their intention to give the Salvation Army message to their congregations next Sunday, the following pastors have given their individual indorsement to the cause: The Rev. C. R. Gray, Trinity Church; the Rev. Elmer E. Helms, Trinity (Auditorium) Methodist Church; the Rev. R. A. Torrey, Bible Institute; the Rev. Carl Patton, First Congregational Church; the Rev. E. F. Daugherty, First Church of Christ, and the Rev. J. Lincoln, Angelika Lutheran Church.

Offering doughnuts for sale at booths Friday and Saturday on the street corners in the retail district, the Salvation Army will revert to a custom of years gone by. Turning over the establishment and equipment of his Bake-rite Do-nut Shop, James Edmunds has generously offered, as his donation to the cause, the profits of the sale.

Bacon is First San Diego Mayor by Court Ruling.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, May 18. — John L. Bacon is Mayor of San Diego by Superior Court recount of ballots, as well as by official count and the first to bear the title in this city by judgment of court. The recount of ballots, through contest of the official count brought by James E. Wadham, defeated by Mayor Bacon with a majority of eighty-two votes, according to the official count, was completed and judgment recorded this afternoon. The recount totals as added by attorneys and so stipulated to the court by both sides stood: Bacon, 18,303; Wadham, 18,225. By the recount Mr. Wadham cut down Mayor Bacon's majority by four votes, leaving a majority of seventy-eight.

"There is no question that Mr. Bacon received a majority of the votes for Mayor," stated Mr. Wadham when the recount had been completed. "I want to compliment the election boards and the official canvassers on the accuracy of their tallies and the voters upon the scarcity of disfigured ballots."

In giving the judgment of the court, Judge J. P. Wood of Los Angeles, who was called to sit in the case, complimented the County Clerk for efficiency in arrangements for the recount.

FRIENDS OF CHILDREN OFFER USE OF CARS.

MANY AUTOMOBILES AVAILABLE FOR THEATER PARTY; MORE ARE NEEDED.

Many friends of children in Los Angeles offered the use of their automobiles yesterday to carry children to and from the Mission Theater next Saturday morning, when a special party will be given for nearly 1000 children from orphans' homes and other institutions by The Times. Special films, with funny features, will be shown, and Charlie Murray, Ben Turpin and Phyllis Haver, three of the comedians who will be shown on the screen, will be present in person to entertain the children.

The show will begin at 9 o'clock and will close at 11 o'clock. Those who wish to help give these little children a happy time by taking them to the theater and back again to their homes are asked to fill in the coupon printed in this issue and mail it promptly to the Theater Party Editor of The Times.

The Broadway Department Store has selected some pleasing little gifts, and every boy and girl guest at the party will receive one. C. Sharpe-Minor was tuning up his big organ yesterday, so it will play all over the theater. Sometimes the tune is heard in front and sometimes at the rear. Mr. Minor is going to play "Mother Goose" melodies and other numbers requested by the children themselves.

THEATER PARTY EDITOR, LOS ANGELES "TIMES":

I will furnish automobile and driver to help carry children to the Mission Theater, Ninth and Broadway, Saturday morning, May 21, at 9 o'clock and back to their homes at 11 o'clock.

Furniture Which Will Create An Atmosphere of Youth in the Child's Bedroom

The child's bedroom suite in the sketch is finished in stippled ivory, becomingly decorated.

When the boy and girl have outgrown the nursery and are ready for a room of their own, there is nothing that will implant in their impressionistic minds a love of the beautiful, the wholesome, and the orderly, more effectively than a well-arranged, daintily furnished, suitable bedroom.

It is typical of many other equally beautiful, equally praiseworthy suites of childs' bedroom furniture which have arrived recently in Barker Bros.' Children's Store, where a nearly complete new line of children's furniture is now on display.

A recent large shipment of BABY CARRIAGES brought many new models of attractive baby conveyances at attractive prices.

SERVICES FOR HERO.

Last Tribute is Paid to A. T. Berger, Who Gave Life in War.

Funeral services for Alexander T. Berger, killed in action at Soissons, France, on July 19, 1918, were conducted yesterday at the Los Angeles crematory, with Dean MacCormack of St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral officiating.

The deceased was a member of the Seventy-eighth Company, United States Marines. Through arrangements with the government, the body was disinterred and brought to Los Angeles under special escort from Hoboken. The dead soldier left his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Berger of 190 South Ardmore street, a sister, Mary Berger, and a brother, Harry Hoen Berger.

Alexander Berger, uncle of the dead hero, presented a fountain to Tucson in memory of his nephew and twelve other students of the Tucson High School, who enlisted at the outbreak of the war.

WOULD BAR ALL GERMAN FILMS.

Long Beach Veterans Adopt Resolutions.

Bank Announces Changes in Officers.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, May 18.—Members of the local post, American Legion, today placed themselves on record as opposed to showing German-made films in the United States. A resolution passed by the local World War veterans charges that the films imported from Germany are not labeled German, but European films, and resolves that Congress be petitioned to enact legislation to force the proper labeling of these films and to enact tariff laws that will protect American industry and labor.

One of the German films costing less than $10,000 for the making would have cost at least $350,000 here, it was pointed out, on account of the higher standard of labor and art in this country. Several of the Hollywood studios have closed and stopped production because of the removal of American capital from the industry in this country to Germany, it was said, and the Hollywood situation has caused unemployment among service men and others. A part of the resolution charges the German-made films with being unfit for public presentation as the moral standard is that of Germany and not America.

NEW BANK OFFICERS.

Following the purchase of a large block of stock of the Exchange National Bank of this city by Leo M. Meeker, changes in the personnel of the bank were announced today. Mr. Meeker is president of the First National Bank of El Monte and former owner of the First National Bank of Puente, the Puente Savings and First National Bank of Garden Grove.

Charles A. Wiley, president of the local bank for the past ten years, will retire from that office, but will remain chairman of the board of directors and chairman of the loan committee. Mr. Wiley was recently elected president of the Mutual Building and Loan Association, succeeding the late W. S. Stevens. The other officers leaving the Exchange National Bank are W. J. Morrison, first vice-president, and W. J. Gardner, cashier. At a meeting of the board of directors Mr. Meeker was elected president, J. R. Davis, cashier of the First National Bank of Ontario, will succeed Mr. Gardner as cashier.

CHILD BADLY INJURED.

Struck by an automobile driven by V. E. Burch of 3020 Theresa street, Ross Davenport, Jr., 3½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ross Davenport, 128 East Seventh street, was seriously, if not fatally, injured today.

The accident occurred in the alley between Pine and Locust avenues and Sixth and Seventh streets. The child suffered a basal fracture of the skull and had not regained consciousness at a late hour this afternoon. Little hope for his recovery was held by Dr. R. J. Silverthorne, who treated the child at the Seaside Hospital.

BLUE BIRD BRINGS LUCK TO FISHERMEN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, May 18.—Santa Monica fishermen are convinced that the blue bird, the purveyor of happiness, visited the Santa Monica pier about 8 o'clock this morning. With its wings of a bright blue, sparkling in the early sunlight, with drops of water it had caught while skimming across the water, a strange winged creature of about a foog in length swept to the railing of the pier today, attracting the attention of the fishermen with its unusual beauty. Its head was ruffled with a peculiar overgrowth of feathers that stood straight up. Veteran anglers say the bird has never been seen here before.

After flapping the water from its wings and gazing around the pier for five minutes, the bird sailed out over the ocean again. Fishermen declare that for several hours after the appearance of the creature, the schools of yellow fin were thicker than they have been before this season.

HOLD NO INQUEST.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, May 18.—No inquest will be held in connection with the death of Mrs. Helen Wood, who shot herself last night in her room at the Finckle-Arms Apartments, in the absence of her husband and son. The Coroner will sign a certificate of suicide.

Albert E. Wood, the husband, is at a loss to explain the cause of his wife's action. He says that she was well and happy until last evening, when she informed him at the dinner table of an Ocean Park restaurant, that she did not feel well. She went home and was found by her husband an hour later, lying lifeless across her bed.

HIGHWAY BANDIT.

Robber Takes Valuables From Ontario Couple.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ONTARIO, May 18.—Officers of Ontario and Southern California were today searching for a highway bandit, who late last night held up Harland Wood, aged 19, of 421 North Palm avenue, and Miss Mildred Thorpe, of Alta Loma, as they were driving along the Foothill Boulevard in a motor car near the Claremont High School, and stripped them of all their valuables.

The man, who is described as being tall and slender and wearing a dark slouch hat and a long overcoat buttoned about the throat, stopped the car and pulled the two occupants from it. He secured a diamond-studded bracelet, a diamond ring and a sterling silver bar pin from the girl and a gold signet ring, a gold watch and $4.75 from the young man.

Neither of his victims were able to say positively whether the man held a knife or a gun in his right hand but both are positive he held a weapon. The bandit handled young Wood so roughly that he tore his clothing in extracting articles of value from his pockets. When he had completed his search of the couple he ordered them to beat it.

Elks of Three Cities Gather at San Bernardino.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, May 18.—All the officers of the Elks of Redlands, Riverside and San Bernardino will gather in San Bernardino Friday, for a luncheon that is to be given there in honor of Grand Exalted Ruler William M. Abbott.

Mr. Abbott and his party plan to spend three days in Southern California so as to get in touch with the plans for the grand reunion, which is to be held in Los Angeles. They will hold a series of group meetings averaging two each day.

From San Bernardino they will go to Pasadena, where there is to be a meeting of the lodges of that vicinity.

CLUB HOLDS BANQUET.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN FERNANDO, May 18.—The San Fernando Ad Club held a banquet last night at the Porter Hotel. F. W. Prince spoke on "San Fernando—Its Past;" C. S. McCormick, president of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke on "San Fernando's Present," and Capt. C. S. Conner, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, took as his subject: "The Future of San Fernando." There were a number of musical selections. About fifty guests were present.

The directors of the Chamber of Commerce today decided to hold a community banquet on June 10. Several noted speakers are expected to address the gathering. A musical program will be rendered also. The affair will be held in the patio of the Porter Hotel.

BOOST AMPHITHEATER.

Whittier Students Stage Play to Raise Funds.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, May 18.—This is to be "Amphitheater Week" at Whittier and the students at the college have set a mark of 1000 tickets to be sold for the senior class play "The Scarlet Letter," to be given June 6, in aid of the amphitheater, which is now under construction.

An immense thermometer has been placed in the assembly room at the college and already the red mercury has run up to 600. Saturday is to be amphitheater tag day, when badges will be sold at 10 cents each by children who wish to aid in the good work.

The amphitheater is to be located on the west campus on what is known as fire hill, and it is to have a seating capacity of 6000 that may be extended indefinitely. The stage will be 75 by 150 feet and will be electric lighted. The adjoining athletic field will be used as a parking place for automobiles.

ASKS HIGHER RATES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SAN FERNANDO, May 18.—The Original Bus Line, operating stages between Los Angeles, Burbank and San Fernando, was given a hearing before Examiner W. T. Satterwait of the Railway Commission of California, at the City Hall in San Fernando this morning on an application to increase its rates charged on both single fare and commutation tickets. The increase desired is 25 per cent, approximately. Earl Wyvell, the auditor, presented a transcript of the books showing a deficit of $10,800 for the last year. W. C. Dunlap, the proprietor, gave similar testimony.

Judge H. A. Decker and L. Q. Branson, for the San Fernando Chamber of Commerce, and Hugh R. Pomeroy, secretary of the Burbank Chamber of Commerce, were present as friends of the court. J. C. Harrison, the rate expert of the Railroad Board, represented the people. At the conclusion of the hearing the case was taken under advisement.

DOG POISONER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

REDLANDS, May 18.—Six dogs belonging to owners living in three blocks in State street from Sixth to Tenth street, died last night from the effects of poison. The police are making every effort to find the person responsible.

So far they have not been able to determine just what kind of poison was used. It made the dogs sneeze, violently and continuously, and they seemed to die of strangulation. One of the dogs was a fine Airedale, another a collie and the others "just dogs."

JUDGE LEAVES FOR BORDER.

Judge Stephens left Tuesday for El Centro, where he will sit for Judge W. M. Conkling in a case in which the latter is disqualified. Judge Conkling will sit in Judge Stephens's court.

OPPOSE COSTLY OUTFALL SEWER.

the reference to a committee for investigation of the Crouch offer with its attendant results and publicity would endanger the carrying of the $12,250,000 outfall sewer bonds which are to be voted upon on June 7, the advocates in the City Council of the sewer bonds were able to rush through at yesterday morning's session a quick temporary burial ceremony for Mr. Crouch's letter, it being ordered filed. Speaking of the action of the Council, President Workman said:

"The bid of the hog feeders for the city's garbage was so low that it was not worthy of consideration. These interests have long told us that they desired an opportunity to bid for the city's garbage, and they have had it, and have not made good their claims.

FAVORS PURCHASE.

"If the city can purchase the plant of the Pacific Reduction Company and dispose of the garbage as well as collect it, which the city does at present, I am in favor of the city's buying the plant."

Mr. Crouch said:

"It appears that my letter offering a solution of the difficulties in the way of taking care of the city's garbage and, incidentally, abating to a considerable extent the sewage nuisance has been misinterpreted by certain Councilmen.

"My greatest concern is that Los Angeles shall not slip back into the slothful, vicious habit of feeding garbage to hogs. I have been constantly fighting against this method for oven ten years, principally because I feel that it is basically wrong. It seems that the immediate danger in this direction has been averted by the rejection today of the only hog-feeding bid presented.

"At the same time I do not propose that the garbage plant, for the existence of which I am responsible, shall be relegated to the discard. It has been and is a wonderful success. There is no reason why it should be abandoned at this time, and I shall continue to battle with all my power any attempt in this direction.

"The fact that I designed and built this plant and that it has successfully done the things I told the city it would do, entitles my present proposal to be given serious consideration, especially at this time when the city is fairly desperate for some one to lead it out of the mass in which it finds itself.

QUICK RELIEF PLAN.

"I am told that certain Councilmen are angry because this plan has been presented just before the election at which the sewer bonds are to be voted upon, intimating that I favor the defeat of the bonds. This is not true. I have only slight interest in this phase of the question, except that my plan offers quick relief for the overtaxed outfall.

"Whether or not a new outfall is built, it is vital that the solids be removed from the sewage and the system I propose makes it possible profitably to use the sewage and some of the garbage to produce a good commercial fertilizer.

"The eminent engineers from the East voiced this necessity in their report and added a large sum to their estimates to cover the cost of sludge plants. My plan hooks up perfectly with the engineers' recommendations.

"These Councilmen may succeed in temporarily pigeon-holing my proposal, but such action does not solve the city's garbage and sewage problems. This is the thing of interest to the people of this city and I feel certain that a sane and satisfactory solution will be agreed upon in time."

ASK APPRAISAL OF HARBOR LAND.

president of the Trona corporation, offering to sell the company's property for $200,000, and in view of this difference in valuations, condemnation proceedings were proposed, but an act of the Legislature was required to make valid the donation by the city.

The Legislature having passed and the Governor having signed the necessary enabling act, the harbor residents desire immediate action so that all necessary legal steps can be taken to offer the site to the government to insure the establishment of the base at the harbor and on which the government plans to expend $5,000,000. An initial appropriation of $1,000,000 for the base is included in the naval appropriations bill now pending in Congress.

ACQUIT PATROLMAN.

Jury Finds Policeman Not Guilty of Gambling.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, May 18.—Patrolman Joseph C. Lawrence of the Pasadent police department was found not guilty of a charge of gambling when off duty. A jury in Police Court this afternoon returned a verdict after a few minutes' deliberation.

Witnesses for the defense testified that Officer Lawrence, off duty, had just entered the garage where a game of craps was in progress and that he had caught up the dice and announced "the place is pinched," when Police Sergeant Joe Nichols, on duty, entered and arrested Lawrence for gambling, also arresting the others.

The incident has attracted much attention.

PAYING OIL WELD.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WHITTIER, May 18.—The latest encroachment on Whittier's residential district by oil wells, is that of the Whitley No. 5, which was brought in yesterday, with what promises to be an average daily output of 500 barrels.

It is the furthest east of a string of wells operating in Rideout Heights. Other wells along this line have had difficulty with water, but in this new well, the water has been under control and the well is one of the most promising in the district.

Young Faces Often Disfigured By Impurities of Blood

Few boys and girls pass through the period from 14 to 20 without being afflicted with pimples, blackheads, rashes, or other skin eruptions.

These conditions are nearly always due to disordered or impoverished blood, but are often mistaken for serious diseases, and the afflicted one is shunned by acquaintances.

Don't let your boy or girl suffer needlessly. Start at once to clean the blood out and keep it so! That's the way to insure a clear complexion, sparkling eyes, and a light, springy step!

AMERICAN POLOISTS DEFEAT BRITISHERS.

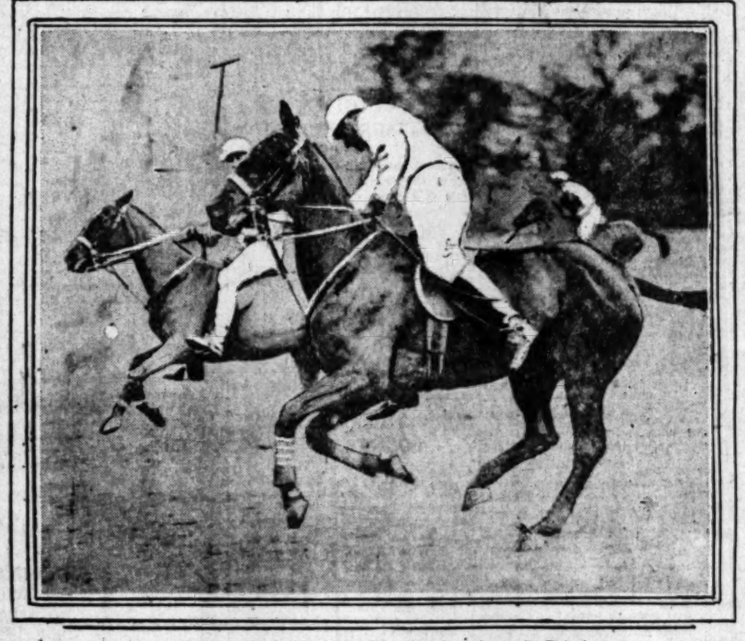
[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 18.—The American polo players who are in training to meet an English team for the international polo cup next month today defeated the Strawbridge team, 11 to 5.

"DAD" MEEK ON JOB.

Some rare old ten pin knocking is expected to take place tonight at the Eldorado alley, when the Gene Murphy knock 'em dead team, with Capt. "Dad" Meek on the job, tackles the all northern aggregation of maple busters.

Planning to Bring Home Polo Crown.



An Exciting Bit of Practice Play by Americans in Britain.

Here's part of our championship American polo team practicing at Sunbury Field, Hurlingham, Eng., for the coming international matches which will be played soon between England and the United States. Experts agree that the Yanks have a splendid chance of bringing home the bacon.

FRENCHMAN STARTS AT EASY RATE.

Takes a Short Walk; Tries Out His English; and that's About All.

BY RAY PEARSON.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—Georges Carpentier, his 175-pound frame wrapped in a heavy bathrobe, which covered pajamas of varied hues, was sitting on the rail of the porch of his training camp at Manhasset this afternoon giving us a line on how rapidly he is picking up the American language when the name of Stanley Ketchel, former middleweight champion, was mentioned.

"Ketchel was what you call it a man keeler, wasn't he?" remarked the Frenchman in English easily understood. Then he lapsed into silence for a brief period when a smile lit up his face and he continued with a shrug of his shoulders:

"Dempsey also is a man keeler? He no keel a man."

LEARNING ENGLISH.

Carpentier is rapidly learning the American tongue and his remark concerning Dempsey was not made in a boastful vein. Rather he is modest, but behind his modesty the element of confidence is strong and one listening to him gains no idea that he fears the outcome of the championship clash with Jack Dempsey on July 2 at Jersey City.

When reference was made to an erroneous report circulated last night that he had been killed in a motor accident on the Hempstead turnpike Georges showed some impatience. At first he laughed with others at the fake report, but suddenly grew serious and the smile disappeared from his face as he waved his hands and exclaimed: "They won't get that report in Paris, will they?"

He was thinking of his wife and five-months-old son in France and his voice returning to normal pitch, he added:

DIDN'T LIKE IT.

"It would be terrible for Mme. Carpentier to hear that I had been killed in America. I hope they didn't hear it over there."

Many calls came asking verification of the report. The same "bunk" was circulated from Benton Harbor about Jack Dempsey when he was training for the fight with Miske last summer. Wildcatting in fight rumors is a favorite stunt for a mysterious somebody.

Carpentier passed the day in restfulness. He did not dress and did not even shave until late in the afternoon. Such a thing as training is too far distant to be of consequence and he said today that it probably would be late next week before the routine work was started.

Francois Descamps railroaded into New York this afternoon to purchase a motor car. Said car is needed to transport Carpentier from the Manhasset camp to dirt roads some distance away for the road work he is to begin next week. The highway in the immediate vicinity of the camp is of macadam and burns the feet, so dirt road travel is essential.

A GREAT HELP.

Gus Wilson continues to be a great help to the newspaper men. The prevalent notion that Wilson is an American was knocked cookoo today when Gus informed us that he is a Frenchman from Alsace. Asked where he got Gus Wilson for a name he answered that "Gus Wilson" was his sporting handle.

A huge batch of telegrams and letters welcoming Carpentier to America and extending good wishes were received this morning. Several of them came from American Legion posts. One was from the Ravenswood Post of Chicago.

DEMPSEY IS WONDER AT TELEGRAPHY

Boxing Champion Slaps Off Dots and Dashes in Atlantic City Cottage.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.) May 18. The whole world may not know it, but nevertheless it is a fact that Jack Dempsey is now a wonderful telegraph operator. Yes, indeed, the big fighter has jumped to the dot and dash league, and to see Jack lay hands on a wireless instrument is a rare treat.

Dempsey puts in much spare time at his cottage at Atlantic City when he is not training for his duel with Georges Carpentier, behind the key, thumping away for dear life, just for the sake of sending messages to anyone in the world who cares enough to intercept them.

ADMITS IT.

Dempsey admits that he is a good operator, and up to date no one has had the front to question the claim. Thus Jack goes unchallenged with another title.

The big fighter was attacking an especially constructed instrument, which was built for his benefit in the living quarters of his training camp, when we tiptoed our way into his presence.

Jack started to explain the various systems of wireless telegraphy for our benefit, which included the Morse and Continental codes. We were rather surprised to find the scrapper well-versed in the general systems, while his knowledge of codes just about paralyzed us with astonishment.

The champion hops from one fad to another, and right now, he would rather discuss the intricacies of the dots and dash world, than have you ask anything about his engagement with Georges Carpentier.

JUST A KID.

"He is just a big kid, always at some kind of play," said Jack Kearns, "and he will have to play his string out before we find him taking up some other sort of amusement."

The whole plant was getting an awful razz from Dempsey, as we hopped out of the place. Jack was happy at his progress of the game, but the folks in adjoining cottages for miles around are likely to complain about the thundering noises coming from the camp while the champion is pounding out his much jumbled assortment of dots and dashes.

AERO CLUB STAGES BIG BALLOON RACE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—Nine balloons, to be piloted by some of the country's foremost aeronauts, have been entered in the national balloon race at Birmingham, Ala., Saturday, the Aero Club of America announced today.

Lieut.-Col. Frank P. Lahm, U.S.A., winner of the first Gordon Bennett balloon race, will pilot the army balloon. His side will be Maj. Oscar Westover, chief of the balloon and airship division of the air service.

H. E. Honeywell, Bernard Von Hoffman, Capt. John Berry and J. S. McKibben, all representing St. Louis, have entered balloons.

The Akron Chamber of Commerce has entered "The City of Akron," to be piloted by Wade T. Van Orman. The municipality of Birmingham has entered the "City of Birmingham," with Roy F. Donaldson as pilot.

Ralph Upson, who won the Gordon Bennett race in 1913, is another entrant. The navy will be represented by Lieut.-Commander L. J. Roth, with Lieut. H. E. Halland, U.S.N., as aide.

Allan R. Hawley will represent the Aero Club of America as referee in the race.

JAP TEAM GRABS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—The University of Waseda (Japan) baseball team defeated the University of Chicago, 8 to 7, in ten innings today.

HIGH INTEREST IN GOLF MATCH.

British Sporting Circles Ponder Saturday's Clash.

Dr. Paul Hunter of Los Angeles Makes Impression.

England to Send Her Best Against Invading Stars.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, May 18.—The main topic of interest of the moment in British golfing circles is what will be the outcome of the match to be played Saturday at Hoylake between American and British teams.

Experts are generally agreed that Great Britain will have to put forward her strongest contingent of golfers. The teams will be made up of eight men on each side.

PLACE FOR CHAMP.

It is generally assumed that places on the local eight will be given to the amateur champion, Cyril Tolley, and E. W. E. Holderness, a favorite for the coming championship, and M. W. Seymour, who recently won the Golf Illustrated gold vase.

Of the American players a great impression has been made by Jesse Guilford of Boston, and Dr. Paul D. Hunter of Los Angeles, both of whom have made Hoylake links in 72, which is only one stroke above the record. British experts are of the opinion that Charles Evans, Jr., American national amateur champion; Francis Ouimet of Boston, and Bobby Jones of Atlanta will prove worthy opponents for any men that Great Britain selects to meet them.

HOYLAKE (Eng.) May 18.—With the approach of the date set for the British amateur golf championship to be played over the Hoylake course next week, the links daily are becoming more crowded with aspirants for the championship and spectators.

Presence of the American golfers has created extraordinary interest.

Charles Evans, Jr., and Bobby Jones, of the American team, today were pitted against a formidable pair of home players, D. Armour, French champion, and Harold H. Hilton, former British amateur champion, in a practice round, but defeated the local men, 2 to 1.

DOYLE TO GIVE BOUTS FOR ACTORS' FUND.

Jack Doyle, famous boxing promoter, is to desert his Vernon arena, transferring his activities to the fashionable Beverly Hills district. Doyle will promote a series of four-round boxing matches at the Speedway on Saturday June 4 as a part of the huge Actors' Fund festival which is to be staged by nearly 1000 actors and actresses under direction of Daniel Frohman, president of the fund.

A regulation ring will be constructed in a scenic building which will be a replica of Doyles famous Vernon fight emporium. The bouts he will stage, will be regular battles and will doubtless be attended by a number of spectators who have never before witnessed a boxing exhibition.

"Wad" Wadhams, Doyle's matchmaker, will look after the details of the show. He declared last night that he will arrange some of the best matches ever witnessed in any California ring.

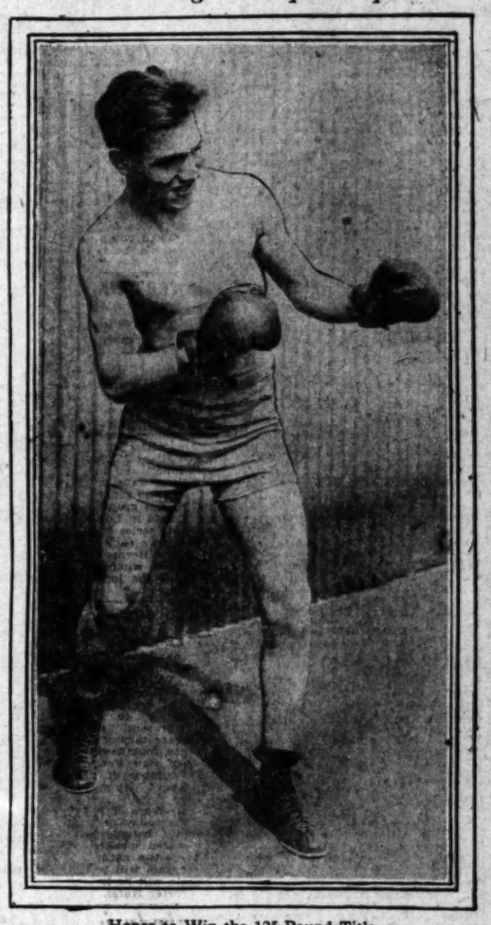
In Boxing Championships.



Hopes to Win the 125-Pound Title.

Joe Long, an unattached featherweight, who is entered in the amateur boxing championships starting at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tonight. Dozens of the best fighters in the south have entered the tourney, which will continue Friday, with finals slated for Saturday night.

L.A.A.C. BOUTS TONIGHT.

With the largest and most representative list of entries ever attracted by the event and rivalry unusually keen, many sharp contests are expected in the Southern California boxing championships at the Los Angeles Athletic Club tonight, tomorrow and Saturday night. A.A.U. officials predict that the bouts will excel anything put up heretofore by amateurs. There will be about sixty-five competitors for the gold and silver medals. The hardest battling will be between L.A.A.C. boys and the cracks of the Pacific Fleet.

Good men represent the Athletic Club in each of the eight classes, and the navy also makes an exceptional showing, the U.S.S. Idaho and Mississippi having entered all their champions—and some who expect to be champions. Lieut. Daniel Miller of the reserve destroyer Force, San Diego, whose boxers have made creditable records in L.A.A.C. shows for some months, is eager to cop off a few of the titles. He has entered his three crackajacks.

COMMITTEE TO ASSIGN MATCHES.

Tennis Association Will Tomorrow Name the Dates for Davis Cup Play.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, May 18.—The Davis cup committee of the United States Lawn Tennis Association will meet Friday to assign the matches that are to take place in this country. If all the matches that appear likely to be held here are played, arrangements must be made to accommodate seven events in addition to the challenge round.

The committee also will determine the policy to be followed in selecting the team to represent the United States this year. Proposed revisions of the regulations governing this contest, will also be discussed.

Teams representing England and Spain will meet in London on May 23, 24 and 25.

The majority of the other preliminary matches will be played in this country. Indications are that the following combinations will represent several of the countries:

England, A. R. F. Kingscote, W. O. Crawley, M. Woosnam and R. Lycett.

Australia: J. B. Hawkes, N. Peach, J. O. Anderson and Todd.

France: A. H. Gobert, W. H. Laurents and J. Brugnon.

Japan: I. Kumagae, S. Kashio and Zenzo Shimidzu.

Spain: M. Alonzo, J. M. Mouso, A. Flauquer and Count Gomer.

Belgium: Washer and Lammens.

Denmark: Teguer and K. Hendriksen.

ASKS GAVVY FOR AN EXPLANATION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—President William H. McCarthy of the Pacific Coast Babeball League, telegraphed today to Manager Cravath of the Salt Lake team to inquire whether the report was true that Third Baseman Don Brown of his team spiked First Baseman Jim O'Connell of the San Francisco club, in Sunday's game here as a result of instructions from Cravath to "get" O'Connell. Brown was fined $100 for spiking O'Connell.

MALIGN SPIRITS PLEASE REFRAIN

McCredie's Misfits Actually Ruin Los Angeles Team.

Rummy Tailenders Biff Aldridge and Master Lyons.

Alleged Baseball Game Brings Laughs from Fans.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Prepare to turn on the weeps, maties, for this is sure a sad story, worthy the pen of a sob sister.

Walter McCredie gave us the horse laugh, while his Beavers razzed our Angels, 9 to 4.

The tailenders gave our ball team a side swipe long to be remembered. Suggested the side swipe delivered by the tail end of a sportive whale, and knocked our athletes cuckoo.

IS UNHEEDED.

The solemn warning issued two days ago not to hold the league trailers too lightly, went unheeded, and yesterday's solemn referendum was the result.

Shortenders, who string with tailenders, closed the day with a roll large enough to choke the Panama Canal. Los Angeles opened a 2-to-1 favorite, and closed like a defunct bank.

"Take nothing for granted in baseball," was the pet slogan of Harry Pulliam, late president of the National League, and it's a good interior decoration for your brown derby.

TO USE HAMMER.

Today, Red Killefer will line his team up in the clubhouse, and passing down said line will tap each one on the head with a tack hammer. If any athlete gives off a sound like a tin can, then Mr. Killefer will know that he is warming a flivver in his bosom which may sometime turn and sting him on the ball field.

Los Angeles deemed it a fit occasion to practice with a new combination. Bert Niehoff was shifted to second, and Howard Lindimore established at third, with Rollie Zeider playing the splinters on and off the bench. Also, the team was without the massive services of Wahoo Sam Crawford, who was incapacitated by some fashionable malady like spring fever or the pip.

RUBE IN RIGHT.

So Rube Ellis got out and wahooed around in right field, with his back to the sun. This is the first time that the back of Rube's ears ever have been exposed to the sun for nine innings, and their once noticeable pallor has been succeeded by the warm glow of health. Viewed from the rear, Mr. Ellis now looks like he is wearing a couple of geraniums pinned on both edges of his head.

Rudy Kallio's right-handed stuff put the rollers under the Angels, while at least two Los Angeles pitchers looked alike to Portland. Killefer resorted to Aldridge, Reinhart and Agnew. Aldridge was ripped loose in the fifth after being banged for six runs.

SEND IN LYONS.

Reinhart stopped the visitors for a couple of rounds, but his stuff

Busy Week for High School Teams; Many Homers Smashed Out in Big Leagues.

ONLY SIX LEFT FOR TITLE PLAY

Our High School Baseball Tangle Unraveled.

Busy Schedule This Week for Would-be Champs.

Many Rooting for Lincoln to Win Today's Game.

The high school baseball situation, which has been very complicated, up to date, is getting to a point where the ordinary fan can untangle it without the aid of higher mathematics. As a result of numerous playoffs held last week, there are but six teams left in the running for the Southern California title. These teams are Lincoln High, Riverside, Santa Paula, Alhambra, San Diego and Vissmount. This week playoffs are scheduled for all of these would-be champs, which will leave only three teams to scrap it out.

COMPLICATED.

San Diego, holder of the Coast and Bay League titles, will meet Vissmount, champs of the Southern League. Alhambra, winner of the Central and Valley divisions, is scheduled to cross bats with Santa Paula, who boasts of the championship of the Northern and San Fernando leagues. Lincoln High, holder of the city and Orange county titles, meets Riverside, this afternoon. Riverside burst into the limelight by coming out on top in the Citrus and Riverside county sections.

The winner between the Railsplitters and Riverside will tangle with the victor of the Alhambra-Santa Paula fray. Then, after these two teams have had it out, the doubtful winner will fight it out with the winner of San Diego's fracas with Vissmount, for the final Southern California championship. The holder of this title will have the privilege of playing a few dozen more games to decide the State championship.

ARE BOTH FAST.

The Lincoln-Riverside game will take place this afternoon on Jefferson High's diamond. Both teams are fast, and a close game is expected. Coach Tommy Davis of the Railsplitters says his team is in the pink of condition, and Tommy ought to know. He is undecided as to which one of his star pitchers will start the game. The choice is between Trautwein, a southpaw, and Fisher. Both men are hurlers of ability. Hostetter will be behind the plate for the local team.

Every high school in Los Angeles is rooting for Lincoln in this afternoon's game. A crowd of 1500 is expected to witness the fray. Art Kruger will umpire in his best manner. The game will be called promptly at 3:15.

Rickenbacker is to Test Plane on Saturday.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SAN DIEGO, May 18.—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, who is planning a cross-continental flight to attend ceremonies in Washington, D. C., to mark the sailing of the first American contingent of troops to France for the great war, will come here Saturday to test a reconstructed De Haviland airplane in which he intends to fly, according to word received here today. Men at Rockwell Field, Army flying base, will equip the plane along the lines of that used by the late Lieut. William D. Coney in his attempt to make a non-stop transcontinental flight.

After testing out the plane, Rickenbacker will fly to Oakland, from which city, according to announcement, he will start his flight to Washington. He plans to make only one stop, at Omaha, on his trip East.

CHAMP DEMPSEY MAY TAKE TO AIR.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—If an airplane journey can be arranged, Champion Jack Dempsey will fly from New Jersey to Benton Harbor, Mich., and act as the third man in the ring on July 4 at the Benny Leonard-Sailor Friedman match, it was announced today by Floyd Fitzsimmons, who closed the match yesterday. The Michigan promoter said he had received Dempsey's promise to referee if he could get there in time after the Carpentier match on July 2 at Jersey City.

LEAGUE REORGANIZES.

An enthusiastic meeting was held at 217 Mercantile Place last night and the reorganization of the Inter-city Baseball League took place. Frank Kerwin was re-elected president of the circuit and Joe Rafferty is to take care of the duties of secretary and treasurer. The league schedule will start off with a bang on Saturday, May 28.

WORLD'S STARS IN TENNIS MATCHES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, May 18.—The world's hard court tennis championship matches, to begin May 28, have drawn entrants from the world's best talent and additional players are expected to enroll before the closing of the list, May 22.

The French team contains such players as Andre Gobert, W. H. Laurentx, J. Brugnon, Max Decugis and Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen. Decugis and Mlle. Lenglen are matched in the mixed doubles championship against William T. Tilden, II, and Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, Americans.

In the men's doubles, Gobert and Laurents will meet Tilden and Arnold Jones. Spain has entered a large team and Rumania and Denmark also will send players.

GOLF TOURNAMENT ON NASHVILLE LINKS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—The western junior golf championship tournament has at last found a suitable resting place for its competition. President Walter Keith of the Nashville Golf and Country Club came forward last week and requested that the play be held at Nashville. Today he was granted the event for his club and the dates have been set as August 2, 4 and 5.

GIANTS PLAY SATURDAY.

The Alexander Giants and Otto Finley's All-Stars will furnish the attraction at Alexander Park next Saturday afternoon. Finley has lined up a club that should give the Giants one of the hardest rubs they have had this season. The Giants will play the Union Tool Company at Torrance Sunday. The game will be played in the Managers' Association.

FIRST TRIPLE PLAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DETROIT, May 18.—Detroit executed a triple play against Boston in the fourth today, but could not solve Jones and was beaten, 2 to 0. It was the Tigers' first shutout this year. The triple play came after two men had scored. With Hendryx second and McInnis on first, Scott attempted to bunt. He lined to Young, who touched out McInnis and threw to Bush, who tagged Hendryx off second. It was the first triple play of the year in the American League. The score:

CHICAGO WILL ENTER NATIONAL A.A.U. MEET.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, May 18.—The Chicago Athletic Association will send a team of eleven men to national Amateur Athletic Union senior track and field championships at Pasadena, Cal., on July 4 and 5, it was announced today.

MALIGN SPIRITS PLEASE REFRAIN.

was deemed too valuable to squander in an apparently lost cause. So Lyons was sent in to assimilate whatever the Beavers had in reserve, which was considerable.

Kallio blanked the Angels for six rounds, but a bit of bad playing was bunched back of him in the seventh, and the home folks massed one run. He skidded or became a bit careless in the ninth with two outs, when three runs were put across on a bunch of hits by McAuley, Carroll, Griggs and Ellis. At no other time did the native bugs get a cheer for their war tax.

DAME IN PINK.

Portland was not without moral support. This came from a mysterious dame in pink, who repeatedly emitted falsetto yelps of encouragement. She always would load up her nose with powder before shooting off her face. Many charges of expensive ammunition were fired.

Portland produced a punch yesterday, and strikes one as a club which will win some games if given good pitching. As everybody knows, winning the first ten games in a season is always the hardest.

That the Beavers were out for all the business which was to be had became evident in the third, when Genin, Butler and Wolfer festooned singles. Supplementing these were a brace of sacrifices for two runs. Baker and Kallio grouped infield hits with a sacrifice and a forceout for an ace in the fourth.

CHASE VIC.

A hit batsman and two hits for a run chased Aldridge off the range in the fifth, and two more counted before Rienhart could iron out the wrinkles. One of these came home on a single by Young, a Los Angeles product, enrolled in the McCredie school of shortstops. Young, with a triple back of Cox's triple in the seventh, drove across another run and aided another tally around with a safety in the ninth.

Cox, also an output of the local sand lots, was there with two long shots, a double and a triple, one leaner blow and a sacrifice.

Henry Berry and Jack Bliss sat in the same box and dug up baseball mummies from the catacombs of memory. Hen went back as far as Van Haltren, but Jack was forced to stop with Deacon and Van Buren.

HEN OIL KING.

Hen is now an oil king, with his revolving throne situated over a gusher in Maricopa. Mr. Bliss is in the cooperage business in St. Louis and specializes in making barrels. That is, his hired help does. Prohibition didn't hurt his business. That's because Jack is a far-seeing business man. When he saw the country was going dry he had the plans refitted to manufacture barrels which conform strictly to the Volstead Act. No barrel now comes out of the establishment with a bunghole in it. But the bungholes are not a loss. They are put up in separate packages and sold for rat holes to sand pounders. The score:

BUDGET GIVEN APPROVAL.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]
ST. LOUIS, May 18.—A budget of $1,000,000 to carry on the benevolent and mission work of the Presbyterian Church was approved by the committee on systematic beneficence and stewardship at a conference preliminary to the Sixty-third General Assembly today.

The committee estimated the per capita assessment of members for carrying out the proposed program will approximate $11,81.

DRY AGENTS LOSE JOBS.

Lack of Money Forces Curtailment; Hard Blow to Law Enforcement.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, May 18.—Prohibition enforcement throughout the United States for forty days, beginning next Friday, will be more conspicuous in the breach than in the observance because of lack of men and money. Failure to obtain the deficiency appropriation from Congress demanded by the enforcement situation has made necessary the discharge of hundreds of enforcement agents all over the United States, many of the Chicago force having already been stricken from the pay roll.

All employees except the civil service employees and group heads in charge of offices must go and the enforcement service will be unable to rally again until the regular appropriation for next year is available July 1.

BLOW TO ENFORCEMENT.

Prohibition Commissioner Kramer says that this will be a blow to the enforcement cause, difficult as it is at best, but that nothing can be done about it.

WILL LOSE MANY AGENTS.

Several weeks ago in order to save money, the prohibition commissioner ordered that no traveling expenses be incurred and that the agents refrain from spending money to obtain evidence. This plan, it is said, was responsible for the bureau being able to keep the agents on until May 20.

It is said that probably the worst results will come from the failure of the men to report back for work on July 1. Many of the agents, it is said, are paid small salaries and they cannot afford to remain idle for forty days. Many of them have told the officials that they will try to obtain employment elsewhere.

Another phase of the situation is that many of the agents who will be furloughed have cases pending in court and after they leave the bureau it will be difficult to find them to subpoena them to testify.

TWENTY THOUSAND LOST IN SWINDLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MILWAUKEE, May 18.—Revelations of a swindle by which the Cudahy Bros. Packing Company of Cudahy, Wis., lost at least $20,000 made today to Dist.-Atty. Zabel, resulted in two warrants, one for a traveling salesman of the concern and another for a butcher, said to be an accomplice. False sales and shipping blanks are said to have been used.

FOX TERRIER MAKES PARACHUTE DESCENT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

RANTOUL (Ill.) May 18.—"Bing," a fox terrier, made a descent of 1500 feet in a parachute from an airplane at Chaunte Field today. When "Bing" landed he worked himself free from his harness, overcame another dog sent to prevent his onward journey and ran to headquarters with a message carried in a pouch suspended from his neck.

The performance was to show the practicability of using dogs to carry messages when an airplane is unable to land.

SHARP LINE IS DRAWN FOR DRY LAW SEARCH.

POLICE NOT BOUND BY RULE ON WARRANTS APPLYING TO FEDERAL AGENTS.

Joseph Kittich of Gardena was found not guilty by a jury in U. S. District Judge Trippet's court yesterday of violation of the liquor laws in a case which was marked by a ruling from the court on the legality of search and seizure under the Volstead Act.

The point of law arose when the government sought to introduce into evidence some liquor and a still seized at the Kittich garage by Patrolman Taylor of the harbor district. Officer Taylor testified that in the absence of Mr. Kittich and without the consent of the wife of the accused he entered the garage and seized the evidence. A motion for the exclusion of the evidence was made on the point that Taylor had no search warrant and was therefore not authorized to enter the garage.

Judge Trippet, basing his ruling on the case of Weeks vs. the United States, declared that although Federal officers may not enter premises without warrants, municipal officers are not bound by this provision. Informally, Judge Trippet explained last night that the Volstead enforcement provisions do not apply to municipal officers because they are not United States officers. The Wright Act, which has been signed by Gov. Stephens, will soon become a law and will conform the State laws with the Volstead Act.

City Prosecutor Widney said last night that municipal officers have no constitutional right to enter or search private premises without a search warrant, but that in emergency cases in which the officers believe they can secure evidence of a crime they frequently decide what to do on the basis of practicability. If such searches are made and result in the procuring of no evidence the injured persons usually have good grounds for civil suits for damages.

NEW DUTIES GIVEN INDUSTRIAL BOARD.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, May 18.—A group of bills substituting the Industrial Accident Commission for the State Bureau of Labor Statistics as the agency for the promulgation and enforcement of safety orders was signed late today by Gov. Stephens. One of the measures provide for temporary floors for the use of workmen in buildings under construction.

Senate bill No. 260, increasing the fee for the annual inspection of elevators from $3 to $4, was signed, as was another measure granting the Federal government rights of way over State lands for construction of public works.

FLASHES.

A PLUMED HERO.

THAT'S DOUG FAIRBANKS IN STUDIO FIRE.

By Grace Kingsley.

"S'death, my good swordsmen, will ye join me in a bout against the scurvy knaves! Hey there you guys! Fire! Fire! Get a move and turn on the hose, can't you?"

That's the holler—or words to that effect—which rang out yesterday in clarion tones, at the Douglas Fairbanks set in the Brunton Studios, when, during the making of a scene, the flame in the fireplace set ablaze the whole of the back of a large and expensive set.

It was Fairbanks, himself, who emitted the yell, and who, having no time to change to the professional red shirt, but clad in his romantic togs which he wears in "The Three Musketeers" leaped to the fire hose, as head of the Fairbanks Fire Brigade, and led his fellow players' action in the role of firemen.

Just as Fairbanks, doublet, hose, sword, plumed hat and all, leaped into the thick of the smoke, bluey! —down fell a papier mache wall, setting his cloak afire. The hose was quickly turned his way, however, and while the plume on his hat and the mustache he was tenderly fostering, were made to droop disconsolately by the water, still he might count himself lucky, as only his cloak was irreparably damaged.

The blaze was quickly extinguished on the set, with a loss, it is stated, of something like $1000 worth of furniture and scenery. While it is being rebuilt, and while Fairbanks is waiting for another cape to be made, and is once more training his mustache to turn up devilishly at the corners, some exterior scenes will be filmed.

On the set at the time, besides Fairbanks, were Fred Niblo, director, Mary MacLaren, and others.

Keaton with First National.

You can't keep a good man down, nor keep a good man from beating even his own record. Anyway pot Buster Keaton. According to word received yesterday, Associated First National's newest star is Keaton, who has been making a series of comedies for Metro.

But Keaton's pictures have been steadily rising in market and entertainment value and First National is said to have had its eye on the comedian for many months. According to word received yesterday, he has been signed on a long-term contract with First National, but no details were forthcoming.

Buster Keaton is now in New York, whither he was reported to have gone to make final arrangements for his marriage to Natalie Talmadge. The wedding date has not been announced, and rumors were rife that the engagement had been broken, but now it is said that if anything is going to be broken it is merely the head of a rival of Keaton's.

Mabel Taliaferro En Route.

Mabel Taliaferro is on her way to California.

As Miss Taliaferro's work in "Sentimental Tommy," to be seen at Grauman's next week, is said to be the best thing she has ever done on the screen, it isn't surprising that she has been offered a picture contract in the West.

Details regarding this contract are to be forthcoming later.

May Collins to Star.

And speaking of picture-starring contracts, May Collins, now with Universal, is said to have received a big offer from one of the important companies. No signatures have yet been affixed, however, so nothing more can be said on the subject at this time.

White Horse Lost.

Unless the police are able to locate a white horse stolen from the stables on the Hal E. Roach moving picture lot at Culver City, some time Tuesday night, a Ruth Roland serial will have to be retaken.

The horse, according to Bud Asborne, motion picture actor and a star in the new Roland serial, has been ridden by him during a number of scenes in the picture, and is booked to appear again. Unless the horse is recovered, another will have to be used and all scenes in which it appears retaken.

The animal, according to a report to the police yesterday, was the property of Osborne, and was stolen from the Roach stables Tuesday night. Up to a late hour yesterday the police had been unable to locate the horse.

Hampton Understudies Bee.

It isn't every picture producer these days who can boast two pictures going at once in the downtown section, but that'll be the proud claim of Benjamin Hampton, beginning Saturday. On that date there will begin running simultaneously at the Alhambra and Miller's, respectively, "A Certain Rich Man" and "The Dwelling Place of Light."

Mr. Hampton keeps merrily along with production. Yesterday he commenced work at Brunton studios on a film version of Clara Louise Burnham's story, "Heart's Haven."

Jean Hersholt is codirecting with Director Howe.

The cast includes Robert McKim, Carl Gantvoort, Harry Lorraine, Jean Hersholt, Frank Hayes, Claire Adams, Aggie Herring, Frankie Lee and Betty Brice.

Holubar Leaves for North.

Allen Holubar and his wife, Dorothy Phillips, have gone to San Francisco, presumably to look for locations for Holubar's forthcoming production.

Beat Him to It.

After all, does a man bear an unvarying similarity to himself? This is the bewildered question which Roscoe Arbuckle has been asking himself ever since his recent trip to Paris.

The chubby comedian chanced to stroll by a small theater near his hotel in the gay French city. One of his comedies was to open that night. A crowd stood about, and an interpreter read to him a sign offering $15 to the person who could best impersonate the famous American actor, Roscoe Arbuckle.

Whereupon Roscoe dashed madly back stage, and the interpreter entered his name as a candidate.

Not a soul around the theater recognized Arbuckle. Entry after entry wobbled across the stage trying to impersonate him, and then Roscoe himself came on.

Finally prizes were given out, and what was the comedian's amazement when he was handed seventh prize—not even third or fourth—but seventh! Evidently there were better Arbuckles in the house than he! And the prize was a gallery ticket to see the picture in which he was appearing.

He didn't go—and, furthermore, speaking of travel and "The Traveling Salesman," in which Arbuckle appears at Grauman's this week, Roscoe is wondering whether it pays to travel at all!

George Walsh Leaves.

George Walsh has gone back to New York after finishing a picture under direction of his brother, R. A. Walsh, at Brunton studios.

Ivan Christy Re-Nigs.

The sad news is at hand that Ivan Christy, a player who used to be with the Biograph Company in this city, has gone and got himself arrested back in New York for alleged failure to pay alimony to his wife, Mrs. Love Christy.

At present Christy is playing with Valerie Bergere in "The Moth."

Wesley Barry Shifts.

Wesley Barry is going to leave his old college chum, Marshall Neilan, long enough to appear in a picture for Harry Rapf.

Wesley is back in New York, and they've engaged him to play the leading role in Gus Edwards's kid picture, "School Days."

If It Excites You to Know It—

Jerome Storm has added Wallace Beery to the cast of "The Rosary," on which he shortly will start production at the Selig-Rork studios.

Art Accord will try an entirely original stunt one day this week as a thrill in the sixteenth episode of his chapter melodrama, "The White Horseman," being made for Universal. He will try to rope a speeding airplane, while galloping on horseback.

Joe Martin is terribly disappointed about his role of a bellboy in his latest Universal comedy, "The Monkey Bellhop." When Harry Burns wrote the story and began directing it, Joe Martin naturally assumed his bellhop uniform would carry the customary bootlegging concession. And now A. C. Stecker, his chief trainer, and Burns, decline to let him peddle the peppery punch.

"They're just making a monkey of me," was Joe's comment.

Eileen Sedgwick Recovers.

Eileen Sedgwick, Universal serial star, who has been in the hospital for the last few weeks recovering from an operation for appendicitis, has now regained her health and has been visiting the studio for the past several days.

She will resume her work on her current serial, "The Terror Trail," at Universal this week, under direction of Edward Kull.

Domestic Note.

Now that the secret of her marriage has been revealed, Gladys Walton, the youthful Universal star, and her husband, have left the parental roof and have set up housekeeping in one of the cutest little bungalows in Hollywood.

MAGICIANS SHOW.

Mystifying Feats Will be Performed at Gamut.

In co-operation, it is said, with the Society of American Magicians, which has been instrumental in exposing a number of spiritualistic fakers, the Los Angeles Society of Magicians is also bent upon rooting out spurious mediums and at its annual show to be given this evening at the Gamut Club Theater, many of the feats, it is announced, will prove far more mysterious than those utilized by the charlatans, yet all are admittedly the result of trickery and digital dexterity.

The show has been augmented by the addition of Pitzer. Floyd G. Thayer, illusionist, will cause pigeons to appear and disappear as well as perform an interesting series of other magical experiments. Adam Hull Shirk, Paramount publicity director on the Coast, is to give impressions of three famous magnicians — Houdini, Hearrman and Ching Ling Foo. He will be assisted by Shannon Day, a clever young screen actress.

Shigeta, court performer from Nippon, is to do oriental magnic; Mario, the ventriloquist, will add comedy; Walter Hiers is to tell funny stories, Maude Ryan will sing popular songs, Prof. Harry Cooke, one of the oldest living magicians, is to give some examples of old school conjuring; Glyn Don will do a challenge escape act; Roth, the memory expert, will offer a novel act; Fewins will give some interesting feats in thimble and cigarette manipulation.

Harry Kellar, dean of magicians, is honorary president of the society.

SHE'S :: TO :: WED :: WAR :: HERO.

Clever Leading Woman of Films.

Betty Ross Clarke,

Who is engaged to marry Lieut. Arthur Collins, English aviator. Miss Clarke is appearing in "The Traveling Salesman," Roscoe Arbuckle's feature at Grauman's.

RADIOS.

WASHBURN FILM SOON.

REPRESENTS RESULT OF HIS TOUR ABROAD.

By Edwin Schallert.

Indications are for an early showing of one of the first films produced abroad by an American actor, namely "The Road to London," which Bryant Washburn made in England last summer. The release date is scheduled as June 19, and it is understood that prints are shortly to be shipped to various parts of the country so that they may be inspected by exhibitors.

Considerable interest attached to Mr. Washburn's unique enterprise, because of the fact that he undertook, with only small technical assistance, to assemble a company and make a picture abroad, under circumstances that were then none too favorable to such an invasion.

He was very successful in obtaining the requisite permission to use notable locations in and about London. His company was made up entirely of English actors, the leading woman being Joan Morgan, a noted beauty of the London stage, who also at one time appeared in this country in a picture.

Mr. Washburn, himself, has been making personal appearances throughout the country, telling of his experiences in Europe. Of late he has been sojourning in Chicago and it is understood that he is to continue his tour, speaking in connection with some of the first runs of the picture.

Combining Entertainment.

That personal appearance bug seems to be very infectious at present in the screen world. George Beban, for instance. He traveled practically all over the entire country with his film, "One Man in a Million," talking and in some instances presenting his twenty-five-minute sketch, "The Sign of the Rose." So closely does the Beban part in the picture resemble the character of the sketch, it is said, that the combination is particularly fitting.

Mr. Beban will return to this city Friday. He will be tendered a special reception by city officials, prominent business men and noted members of filmland. He is personally to appear in connection with "One Man in a Million" at the Kinema.

And that isn't the only affair of the kind the theater has planned for the near future. For, according to announcement, David Butler and Colleen Moore are to stage a special act with "The Sky Pilot." Probably, too, Dorothy Phillips will appear on the stage when "Man, Woman, Marriage" is shown.

The First National house expects to follow the custom quite regularly, it would seem.

Blue Among 'Em Too.

Monte Blue is right in line with this general movement toward the stage in the picture theater. For last night at the New Symphony he gave a brief talk at the showing of "A Perfect Crime," The Allan Dwan picture, in which he is featured.

New Film Enterprise.

A chance will shortly be given the dramatic critics to criticise their own acting, for they were exploited professionally by studio and theater publicity agents in a one-reel comedy at an informal gathering of the scribes Tuesday night at the Hollywood studios. That is, it is anticipated that the film will be a comedy, although nobody will know until it is released. Perhaps it will be a good substitute for "The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari," now that this film is off the list.

The moving picture was the novel climax of the entertainment provided the dramatic critics, following the dinner given in their honor by the Wampas, which is the name of the publicity men's organization. All the members of the staff of the local newspapers were required to act out various roles in an al fresco newspaper office at the studio.

Additional enjoyment was provided by the mystifying necromancy of Adam Hull Shirk, publicity director of Famous Players-Lasky, Mike Bolan, who with the assistance of Richard Spier, "Bill" Keefe and others staged their own version of newspaper office doings, Pete Smith, Ray Leak and others

Musical Bureau Here.

Announcement is made of the fact that the Western Musical Bureau has removed its executive headquarters to Trinity Auditorium in Los Angeles. The bureau will henceforward operate the entire western territory, including California, from this branch. The Portland office, heretofore occupied, will be maintained as a subsidiary. General manager of the bureau is Laurence A. Lambert.

Racing Finish Appeals.

The horse race at the close of the picture "Black Beauty," now in its second week at Tally's Theater continues to make a popular hit with audiences, attracted in large numbers by the film version of the popular story. The climax of the story works up to such an exciting pitch that not infrequently applause greets the winning of the steeplechase by the hero.

The cast of the picture includes Jean Paige, George Webb and Jimmy Morrison.

An added attraction is a novelty reel made by T. L. Tally, showing the Dyas Hiking Club at Glenn Ranch.

Sybil Chase, violinist, plays the Intermezzo from "Cavaleria Rusticana," and selections from the opera are offered as an overture.

Neilan on Way West.

Marshall Neilan is expected to arrive here within a few days. He left New York Monday, but expected to stop over in Chicago and other cities en route, to oversee the showings of "Bob Hampton of Placer."

It is understood that Mr. Neilan will begin work shortly after his return on a new feature.

Scenarioist Returning.

The passenger schedule seems to be running westward pretty strongly these days. Among those returning is Olga Printzlau, the scenarioist of William de Mille productions, who will arrive here today.

When Miss Printzlau left here for New York, her first one-act play, "Window Panes," was being presented by the Mummers Workshop players of Hollywood, and the reception tendered the piece here caused several offers to the author while she was in the East, it is said. As a consequence, it is possible that "Window Panes" may be produced in vaudeville.

The Barthelmess Star.

Richard Barthelmess is to start work on his first independent picture as soon as he recovers from the minor operation on his ear, which took place recently in the Flower Hospital, New York. The company starring Mr. Barthelmess is known as the Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and has been capitalized at $1,500,000. The pictures are to be released through the First National.

New Stock Show Soon.

While "Adam and Eva," the Morosco Theater show, continues to draw large houses in the sixth week, it is announced that the engagement will be limited, owing to the intention of giving an early production to "Three Faces East."

Lead in "Shulamite."

Mahlon Hamilton has been engaged to play the leading male role opposite Gloria Swanson in "The Shulamite." He will portray an Englishman.

Veiller's Second Film.

Bayard Veiller is preparing to start work on his second feature production for Metro. Viola Dana is to be starred.

"Timber Wolf" Gambols Along.

Final rehearsals are now being held for the benefit play, "The Timber Wolf," to be presented by the Los Angeles Post, No. 1, Disabled Veterans of the World War.

Among those who will have prominent parts are Mitchell Lewis, Ann Forrest, David Butler, Annetta de Foe, Frank Staples and others. Sedley Brown is directing.

Musical Show Diverting.

The Broadway Pantages show is pleasing to both eye and ear. This week, Joe Kemper's spectacular dance is will-o'-the-wispish. It is called "The Heart of a Crystal," but might be better described as "A Dream of Tomorrow."

"Turn to the Left," which has nothing whatever to do with traffic ordinances, is the typical Henry Sherr comedy, with the comedian and his side partner, Frank Samuels, marooned on a Japanese island and trying to swindle the natives out of their empress and her dowry. It is what the producers call a "big" show, which is to say, the comedians do their "bits" between the musical numbers of the chorus. The "bits" are good, but the chorus numbers are better.

A special added attraction which started yesterday afternoon is the U.S.S. Texas Naval Jazz Band, a lively organization of ten men who dispense popular airs and military marches in a way that brings on an attack of 'shimmieitis" among those who are subject to that exciting malady.

To Everybody in Los Angeles
Do you realize that only about fifty per cent of the people in this community go to see motion pictures?
I believe that this percentage ultimately will be almost doubled, and this result will be achieved by producers making, and theater owners showing pictures of better craftsmanship and wider appeal.
In showing Benj. B. Hampton's "A CERTAIN RICH MAN," from the famous novel by William Allen White, at 2 p.m. next Saturday, I will begin showing a picture that will convert thousands to respect and fondness for motion pictures. The People and Their Daily Troubles

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

...st Aid to Matrimony.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

...one who has lived in a large city knows ...e of the biggest needs in it is a clearing-...e for youth and romance—some place where ...spectable boys and girls may meet each ...er and have a good, innocent time together, and ...ot fall in love with each other and get mar...ed before they know all the time that everything is all ...right because they have been O.K.'d by the roof ...der which they have been introduced.

...Almost there is no such place. Young people ...e as strangers to a city almost perish of lone...ess during the first few months in which they ...ive in an alien land. Then they begin pick...g acquaintances on the street, at the places ...ey work, at boarding-houses and cheap ...staurants and the result is tragedy in innumer...ble cases.

...Such calls to youth, and man to maid. ...Every young chap must have his girl, and every ...irl must have her man, and they are ...ought together and have nat...ally formed link. I get hundreds ...f letters a year from young men ...ho say they may meet these ...irls in the cities in which they ...ive the sort they knew ...nd even more letters ...anting to know how ...o get worthy young ...irls to take ...ut to parties and to pic...ics at Speedunk or Bird ...rove.

...I had to answer that I ...now, and to beware of the ...ooth and the rolling eye, and the ...ongue that says, "Excuse ...e, didn't I see you last ...ight in the hall at the Vanteria? I ...ink now, but you are so ...ike that girl who was the ...ost beautiful creature I ever saw, ...ntil over was perfectly nat...ral.

...Of course, however, has arisen in ...y mind has a plan for solving ...is problem. He lives in ...exas and has a bill now be...ore the Texas Legislature, in ...ommittee of 2000 and over ...ailed to establish social ...ureaus at which young people may ...ome and talk under the chaperon...ge of ...

...According to his plan men and ...omen with companion...ip go to the nearest matri...onial parlors and register. Their ...ase is thoroughly investi...ated if they are clean the ...ureau will introduce ...hem to a circle of other certified ...ases.

...Now, it is then up to the ...oman to find congenial ...ompany, or, perhaps, the one ...or her. That is as ...t should be, for Cupid is a choosey young...an, and makes strange selections, ...ut it is that here he is giv...n free rein, and whomever ...e picks is more or less a guar...nteed success.

...Some of this romantic bill is ...ollowed of wedding bells ...ould have the State sub...idize matrimony. That is going ...ome, as the English say, ...ver the top, but that it ...ould do no doubt but that it ...ould be a good thing if there ...ere some proper place estab...ished in every city where young ...eople who have no homes and no ...acilities for getting acquainted ...ould meet under the eye of a ...orldly wise and lenient Mrs. ...rundy.

Just how this first aid to matri...ony is to be conducted has not ...een made public. Undoubtedly, ...he questionnaire will be searching, ...nd all who enroll at it will have to ...ell their age, their past history, the ...mount and source of their in...omes, the kind of disposition they ...ave, and what are their general ...atrimonial qualifications.

This should enable those who are ...eeking for life partners to make ...uch more intelligent selections ...han are possible to those who get ...heir husbands and wives out of the ...atrimonial grab bag, so to speak.

The thing that does more than ...nything else to make marriage a ...ailure is the discovery, after you ...et home and settle down to real ...ife, that you bought a pig in a ...oke, as it were, and that the man ...r woman to whom you have tied ...ourself for life isn't any more the ...ndividual you thought you were ...arrying than if he or she was ...ome entire stranger whom you had ...ever set eyes on before.

Thus it very often happens that a ...irl is so misled by the rich pres...nts, and the money that a man ...avishes on her during the days of ...ourtship, that she thinks she is ...arrying a millionaire; only to find ...ut after marriage that he has ...carcely a shoestring of a salary; or ...a man marries a girl under the full ...elief that he is acquiring a blue ...ibbon cook, who dotes on a gas ...ange, to ascertain to his despair ...hat her mother made the angel ...ood, and that he is doomed to go ...hrough life the victim of dyspepsia ...rought on by his wife's biscuits.

Of course, all these little mistakes ...ould be obviated by a man and ...oman being able to look over each ...ther's record. They would have ...ach other's number to begin with, ...ithout having to correct a false ...uess when it was too late.

Each of us cherishes in our fancy ...ur ideal of the kind of a wife or ...usband we would like to have. ...very man knows every character...stic of his dream woman. Every ...oman knows every taste and little ...uirk of thought of the hero of her ...maginings; but we seldom marry ...hose with whom we would be "two ...ouls with but a single thought, two ...earts that beat as one," because we ...o not know how to find them.

The matrimonial center would ...ind them for us. We would only ...ave to look over their list of ...ligibles to discover the man or ...oman who agreed with us on ...verything from politics to pie, and ...hen tie up with him or her for ...ife.

Propinquity is the great match ...aker. Perhaps all that you've ...ot to do is to bring men and wom...n together, and Nature will do the ...est, but any way you look at it, the ...dea of having some place where ...oung people can meet each other ...n the right way is a good one. It ...hould do much not only to pro...ote marriage, but to stop divorce.

Making More Money

Window Boxes with The Proper Flowers to "Add That Dash of Color" a Profitable Stunt.

"YES, they're quite imposing and they're magnificent enough. But there's something lacking—something which would tend to counteract that air of monotony which you can't get away from in any solid block of houses. Color—that's what they need. Just a dash of it here and there would help wonderfully."

Jennie Austin, fresh from Jacksonville, Fla., had not found New York all that her fancy had painted it. The immensity of the city impressed her and the crowded streets were a never-ending source of inspiration for her sketches with which she hoped to carve her way to fame. But she maintained, there was a sameness to the residential portion of the city which grated upon her sense of the artistic, particularly as she had been reared where flowers and life and color were all integral parts of the picture.

At first she would voice her opinion and let it go at that. Then, as the weeks passed and her sketches remained unsold and her slender capital dwindled away to almost nothing, she came face-to-face with the problem of doing something to support herself during the period which must elapse before she "arrived." Art was a most fascinating pursuit, but it did not seem to bring in immediate returns sufficient to pay the landlady and the food bills and the laundry and the countless little items that cropped up every day.

Suddenly the idea came to her—why not put her theory into practice; why not attempt to add that "dash of color" which was lacking in the solid rows of brownstone fronts by means of window boxes? A visit to a number of the smaller florists, a little figuring on the cost of the boxes and some simple flowers convinced her that the plan was feasible. Then followed a house-to-house canvass, with about one order out of every four calls and, before the end of the month Miss Austin had laid the foundation for a flourishing (in more senses than one) business which she later developed into a permanent source of livelihood by supplying window boxes and keeping the flowers in them always in the best of condition.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES."

Protect the Mails.

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—[To the Editor of The Times:] After perusing your article in the editorial section of your issue of the 8th inst., regarding the stupendous losses entailed by the looting of the mails by armed bandits throughout the country, one is led to inquire why the governmental authorities do not take sufficient precautions to protect the property of the people while it is in transit from place to place? The placing of firearms in the hands of the mail clerks and drivers is not sufficient protection to the vast amounts of money and securities which are daily being transported by means of the United States mails.

There are vast numbers of our soldiers, under pay of the government, whom it would seem, might be placed to guard the mails while in transit, who are, at the present time, not especially employed in the War Department, and the question arises, why not transfer, temporarily, at least to the postal service, a sufficient number of men to safeguard to the public, security to our mails while in transit?

The writer, while a resident of Cleveland, saw weekly, from $100,000 to $150,000 transported by the Cleveland Rolling Mill Company, to their mills in Newburg, O., without loss, by having the van carrying the pay roll, trailed by two men with Winchester rifles, ready for any emergency, and, although this method ran on for years, no attempt was made to loot the van, as it would have meant sure death to whoever attempted it.

With the vast number of available men, who might protect our mails, it would seem that the loss of $6,000,000 is wholly unnecessary.

G. C. METCALF.

Calls for Rebuttal.

CAMP KEARNEY, May 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Arthur Brisbane is reputed to be a man of considerable ability, and undoubtedly is so. Yet to the writer it seems that at times, and frequently at that, he makes some of the most ridiculous statements appearing in national circulation.

As an instance, take the first article in "Today" of the Examiner of the 11th. Mr. Brisbane takes exception to a New York law barring teachers who are not believers in our present form of government. Possibly the law is more stringent than is compatible with liberal Americanism, but whether it is or not, Mr. Brisbane's example of its tyranny is absurd, to say the least. To quote: "Government in heaven is run without ownership of property, or marriage, therefore the Ruler of heaven couldn't be a teacher in New York's public schools." Such a statement is either childish or blasphemous. To compare the spiritual order in heaven with free love on earth seems to me a pretty close approach to super-plus-ultra-Bolshevism; either that or the quintessence of asininity.

Mr. Brisbane's writings are given national circulation by the Hearst papers, self styled "A paper for people who think." Think what? Such absurdities as set forth by Mr. Brisbane and such ardent admiration of Bolshevism as is evinced by both Mr. Brisbane and Norman Hapgood? These two men reach millions of Americans who "think" and undoubtedly their influence on the opinions of their "thinking" readers is considerable. They pour forth a continual stream of ultra-modern advanced thought which cannot but help have a bad influence on the internal tranquility and general welfare of our country. The freedom of the press is theirs, they can send out as much pseudo education as they choose. But why should fallacious opinions be allowed to circulate uncombated? Why does not some strong newspaper or syndicate make a special point of counteracting the writings of these dreamy thinkers and imaginary "friends of the people"?

Confessedly the world is in a serious period, the stability of all governments is threatened. Though our own government is the strongest on earth at present, even we are not without threat of danger. Propaganda is rampant, the ultras never sleep. Why not combat these writers, not half-heartedly and spasmodically as is the case at present, but thoroughly, persistently, and specifically? Why be content to denounce this, that or the other idea or country? Why not take individually the writings of the Socialists, Communists and friends of the "peepul," both avowed and camouflaged, and nail teir funny ideas while each one is still fresh? A rebutial barrage would make a valuable column in any paper standing for decency and a sane government. A. BIETER.

Still Takes "The Times."

MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.) May 8. [To the Editor of The Times:] It is gratifying to find that even so far away from home as this city The Times is to be had, and that typewriters are available. And especially so since the number purchased contains an article from a Mr. W. J. Ghent, social reformer and author of some "Uninvited Messages," a few years ago, who, (this time invited) assails my letter of April 18, so misrepresenting its import that a reply is demanded.

He takes exceptions to my insistence that until other and more needed buildings are erected, the library can wait. My statement was that until a City Hall and City Jail were provided, of which we were not ashamed, the present quarters of the library is adequate, for the class of sitters found there, (even though he might be among them an embryo poet, electrician or reformer,) and for the distribution of books to the 147,544 card holders, (taking the books home, according to the official statistics.) This number, Mr. Ghent states "represents more than one card holder for each family," which must greatly reduce the number of homes into which the books go.

No statement of mine ever suggested that the library "be operated for the major, if not exclusive, benefit of the more fortunate part of the population, the taxpayers." That is a malicious misrepresentation.

But Mr. Ghent's most astounding presentment is that the non-reading public consists of "children, politicians, and jail inmates." Isn't that a little severe on the politician, who appoints the librarian, and those who administer the city's affairs, to class them with the "bootleggers, illiterates, jail inmates and babies"? And might he not visit the "Children's Room" of the Public Library and the reading room of the County Juvenile Hall to his enlightenment?

For the ex-service men, (many of whom would prefer a clean place to sleep and a good, square meal,) students, when they can spare time to sit there, and all seekers after knowledge, there is no better place if they cannot afford or have access to a private library, and paragraph 5 of my letter of April 18, fully covers that point. I referred only to that class of people, as "loafers," well-known and recognized by library attendants, and admitted by them to be the prevailing class of sitters.

Mr. Ghent's remark that "the fulfilment of one duty should not cancel another" is irrelevant, since there has been no suggestion by me, that the library question be relegated to the discard, except temporarily, and till we have recovered from the years of loss, high cost of living and money stringency, at least with many of us. "Rome wasn't built in a day," nor can all the needs of a city like Los Angeles be met at one time. Wait for the least important, from the point of view of the taxpayers, who put up for them.

Where is there another city of the size of Los Angeles, or half its size, that has not built a City Hall that was a credit to the community before a palatial library building?

The "shameful indifference" Mr. Ghent so sternly deplores, might far better be directed toward the buildings of first and greatest need in any city, and known, used and pointed to by every citizen, rather than toward the institution, desirable as it may be, unknown to thousands who never use, it, nor would, though it were housed in magnificence.

Mr. Ghent admits that "possibly he has not understood in this case exactly what Mr. Brown meant," and that time he hit the truth. Don't take up the cudgel in behalf of the incompetent, until fully acquainted with the point at issue, and don't pervert the statements made by others.

Question: Who receives applications for membership in the American Federation of Labor?

H. R. M.

Answer: Individuals are not members of the American Federation of Labor. They become members of the local unions of the trades in which they work, these unions in turn affiliating with the American Federation of Labor.

Q.: Is it true that in a museum there is a needle on the point of which the "Lord's Prayer" is engraved? W. H. R.

A.: There is nothing in a museum in Washington which fits this description exactly, but there is a piece of paper in the shape of a circle, one-fourth of an inch in diameter, on which the Lord's Prayer and the Ten Commandments are printed. There also is a small type (16-point printers' type) on the end of which the Lord's Prayer is printed.

Q.: What does the word "yannigan" mean in baseball? A. D. D.

A.: This term refers to the second team, composed of rookies, who may or may not be retained on the regular team.

Q.: How many colleges are there in this country? T. J. G.

A.: The United States Bureau of Education says that there are 767 colleges and universities in the United States.

To our Depositors:-

The provision of SAFE DEPOSIT facilities for our patrons is a very important part of this Bank's services. There is hardly a home which does not contain jewelry and other valuables which thieves might steal; or certificates, wills, receipts, deeds and other documents whose destruction by fire would work irreparable harm; or keepsakes and photographs of great value to their owners, which careless or curious children might misplace or destroy. All such articles as these belong in a safe deposit box.

In the great vaults in the basement of the Main Bank at Fifth and Spring Streets, we have rented nearly 16,000 steel boxes and safes of various sizes. So far as we can learn, this is the largest public safe deposit vault in area in the United States, and also the largest in the number of boxes rented. In an adjoining vault we also provide, at the Main Bank, safe storage space for such articles as silverware, paintings, and oriental rugs, which are too valuable to risk in ordinary storage.

At each of the Branches, safe deposit facilities have been provided. For the Seventh Street Branch, more than 3,600 steel boxes and safes have been ordered, and some of these are already installed and in use. The plans for the safe deposit vault at the Hollywood Branch, in the basement of a fireproof building, will provide some 6,000 rental boxes and safes.

Security safe deposit service means more than the mere rental of a box. With the vaults we provide rooms where customers may examine their boxes in strict privacy, or in consultation with others; board rooms where business meetings may be held, and writing rooms. Special provisions are made for women customers. Many of our patrons whose boxes contain papers relating to large business interests, but who do not maintain an office, are able, through the facilities we furnish, to make their downtown headquarters at the Security vaults. This is a part of the bank's service and hospitality to patrons.

Yours truly,
J. F. Sartori
President.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.
Per E. B.

Up-to-Datest:

The coat of colored linen for wear with white sports dresses or with skirt and blouse of white. These coats, which are as delightfully cool as they are effective, are shown in bright tones of jade, nasturtium, red or Mrs. Harding blue. They hang in straight lines from the neck, confined merely by a low belt of braided leather and kid.

An overblouse of white satin of a suppleness giving it rank in the "wedding-ring" variety of fabrics. The lines are long and graceful, the accenting touch of color being applied in the form of broad patch pockets of Chinese embroidery in pastel tints.

Black picture hats as adjuncts to the all-black afternoon dresses of canton crepe approved by Paris to the exclusion of any other type of costume. The hats, which have crowns of finest straw or hemp and tulle brims with little or no trimming, give an effect of airy lightness delectable for summery wear.

Now is the Time to Buy:

New cretonne draperies and matching wall paper for the room you have been planning to "do over" all winter and spring. Not in years have either of these important factors in the problem of home beautifying been so reachable to the holder of a modest purse as at the present moment.

The pullman robe, exquisitely fashioned and hand-made in your favored tint, to add to the dainty impedimenta you are collecting in joyous anticipation of the summer vacation flitting.

Clothes for the growing boy in the department of that great store where the needs sartorial of lads of all ages, sizes and tastes are catered to with discrimination which all but passes belief.

Fashions for Brides and Bridesmaids.

Enid, who will be one of the first brides of this June, is to be the central figure in a church wedding with all the time-honored trimmings beloved of brides of the ages. One is convinced that even the maidens of the cave-man era must have, albeit inarticulately, regretted the lack of music and flowers and frilly raiment during the hair-dragging progress from the parental dugout to the cafe roof of the triumphant new overlord.

Reverting to happily more conventional present, stateliness and chicness will blend harmoniously in the dazzling beauty of the procession up the aisle on Enid's great day. The bride, true to her fair and willowy type, has chosen a Moyenage dress of satin of pearl-like sheen, its long, simple lines and graceful train suggestive, like the wedding music of Elsa and Lohengrin.

In striking contrast, the eight flower-like bridesmaids in short, full skirts extended over the hips and pointed basque, fastened down the front with prim little bows, will resemble nothing so much as animated Spanish figurines. Apricot color taffeta forms the foundation for their gowns with apron panels of embroidered white organdie. The short puffs of sleeves are of the organdie as are the triple collars outlining the shoulder-to-shoulder cut of the bodices. These collars, reproductions in miniature of a coachman's cape, are bound with the taffeta and the frills of the sleeves are similarly finished. Crowning this bouffant loveliness, the hats to be worn are adorable affairs of Leghorn and taffeta with soft crowns of the silk and ties of tulle in the apricot tint.

The Maid of Honor.

She deserves a paragraph all her own, in keeping with her distinguished, if somewhat aloof, position in the nuptial procession. In this particular wedding party she will furnish a lovely detail in the tapestry-like picture in a frock of taffeta of palest robin's egg blue, combined with silver lace. Frills of the lace, overlapping, form the skirt and finish the wide sleeves and the shoulder line of the low-cut bodice.

The gown, like those of the bridesmaids, has borrowed its outlines from the mode beloved and made the fashion in the middle of the last century by the beautiful and ill-fated Spanish-born Eugenie, who, after she became Empress of the French, introduced the fashions of her native Andalusia, at the court of the empire. If tradition may be believed the fortunes of the transplanted English dressmaker, Worth, were founded in Paris, when he succeeded in pleasing, in the lines of his wide-cut skirts, the critical taste of the new Empress.

The Bride's Gowns Intime.

In the delicious peep I was accorded at Enid's trousseau, the details of two negligees—diverging widely in style, but each of a charm transcendent—stand out in relief from the kaleidoscopic mass of soft fabric and enchanting color.

One of these, of cobwebby white lines, is characteristic in its beauty of the taste of the lilylike bride. Of a frothy daintiness baffling description, the fine stitchery of a French convent runs through the masses of micrococcic width and is apparent in the insets of real lace and the exquisite quality of the embroidery. A sash of ribbon, peach color in tint, confines the fullness at the waist and constitutes the sole fastening. The slip over which the fairylike vestment is worn is of crepe de chine and matches the sash in color.

The cut of the second robe de chambre, flinting of latticed windows and plashing, perfumed fountains, has been borrowed from the somnolent East. Of rose pink satin-surfaced crepe, which falls into folds of a grace uncopyable, it is undeniably trousered when one gets to the point of dissecting details. So enveloping is the long, caught-up drapery of the blouse, however, that you look twice—nay, several times—to be sure about the Turkishness of it. The sole ornament is the large disc of carved jade which serves to clasp the fullness of the upper half of this seductive garment over the left hip.

THE OPTIMISTS.

Questions, "Why?" are made at haphazard by the leader (called the Quizzer) and the answers must be impromptu compliments upon the persons "conundrummed." When the players are very, very bright, the Quizzer may venture on horrible comparisons from which the clever responderresponde r c a n extract something complimentary. For example, the Quizzer may ask A, "Why is Jane like a snake?"

A (promptly)—"Because she is so graceful and quiet."

Quizzer—"Good. Now, B, why is Tom like a dog?"

B—"Because he is a loyal friend."

Quizzer—"Good for you! C, tell me why is Henrietta like a watermelon?"

C (nervously)—"Because, because she is green—no, no! I mean because she is heavy."

Quizzer—"Call that a compliment? Out you go! Stand over there, please, till you are called upon to pay forfeit. Now, D, can you tell me why Henrietta's like a watermelon?"

D—"Certainly. Because everybody likes her."

Quizzer—"Very good, but you had time to think that up while I was punishing C. Another for you. Why am I like a rat?"

D—"Because you are bright-eyed and sharp-witted."

Quizzer—"Thank you. Next! E, why is Arthur like an empty packing box?"

E—"Because he has done his duty, or how's this? Because he is straight and square and ready for whatever comes next."

Quizzer—"Better and better! Now, F, why is Rose like a blind beggar?"

F—(The reader may try to suggest a compliment to Rose in the answer.)

PLAN SERVICES ON EMPIRE DAY.

Daughters Will Hear Dean at Pro-Cathedral Sunday.

Five Chapters to Unite for Dance Next Tuesday.

Matinee Musical Club Will Entertain Presidents.

BY MYRA NYE.

Empire Day service, initiated by the Daughters of the British Empire, will be held Sunday in the Pro-Cathedral with Dean MacCormack preaching the sermon.

Tuesday evening, in Kramer's Hall, the three chapters of Los Angeles, one in Ontario and one in Long Beach will give a large dancing party, with the Queen Alexandra Chapter of Los Angeles in charge. Mrs. Daniel Clark, regent, will receive the guests assisted by the regents and officers of the other chapters. Guests of honor will include Sir Gilbert Parker, Sir Frank and Lady Popham-Young and Mme. Elinor Glyn.

Galpin Shakespeare Club.

At the home of the president, Mrs. W. E. Silverwood, the Galpin Shakespeare Club will give a musicale Saturday at 2 p.m. Prof. Anthony Carlson, baritone, will sing a group of songs and Violet Etta Stallcup will give a group of piano solos. Miss Stallcup was awarded a musical scholarship by the French government and will go to France this summer to study. Mrs. Silverwood's home is at 122 N. Vendome avenue.

Officers elected by the club for the coming year are: President, Mrs. Silverwood; vice-president, Mrs. Caroline B. Bradley; recording secretary, Mrs. L. C. Diggs; corresponding secretary, Mrs. B. S. Gillispie; treasurer, Mrs. T. W. Bultin; auditor, Mrs. H. Bert Ellis; director, Mrs. W. E. Baxter, to take the place of Mrs. Matthew Robertson whose term has expired.

Matinee Musical Club.

Presidents of the 168 clubs of the district are invited as honor guests for the Matinee Musical Club Reciprocity Day at Ebell clubhouse today.

Mrs. Sidney Thomas Exley, president of the federation, will speak on "Federation Ideals." The musical program will be given by Earl Meeker, Ann Thompson and Louise Cline. The latter is an original solo dancer, who designs her own costumes and directs her own dances.

On June 10 the club will give a program and dance in the Ebell clubhouse. Hazel Spaulding will appear in a group of songs, Helen Chalmers Kingston will read and there will be presented a scene from the operetta written by Elizabeth McCabe Gilmore and Vincent Rose. McVey's band will furnish the music.

Wednesday Morning Club.

The troubles of a pair of negro honeymooners will be the theme of a play to be given by members of the Wednesday Morning Club as a part of the annual high jinks entertainment tomorrow night. Another number of the program is a group of Stephen C. Foster songs and other music of Civil War times, which will be presented by Wednesday Morning club girls dressed in costumes of 1860. Pianologues, music, dancing, fortune-telling, vaudeville and a chicken dinner are other features of the jinks.

The music section was entertained by Mrs. L. Paul Zahn at her home on Virginia avenue Monday evening, when Mrs. John Hokom was honor guest. Members of the "Paul Revere" cast surprised her and the hostess by presenting them with cut glass conserve jars. Those who were present in addition to the hostess and guest of honor, were: Mmes. G. L. Charette, Cy H. Pruner, J. G. Carson, Grace G. Farman, M. Sagel, W. E. McKelvey, W. C. Roe, M. L. Thompson, R. G. Stanton, Arthur Champlain, Frank Petch, E. C. Chester, Harold Bailey, H. L. Gotschall, Howard Tyler, L. P. Zahn, Frank Philo, John Hooker and Wilber Mowatt.

IN HOLLYWOOD BOWL.

Students of the Hollywood High School will stage Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" in the Hollywood Bowl tomorrow. The play is being produced to raise funds for the electrical equipment of the bowl. The school is financing the play entirely. A large attendance is expected to attend the performance, which will begin at 8 p.m.

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

On Board the New York.

The U.S.S. New York was the scene yesterday of one continuous round of festivities. First, there was the luncheon at which Vice-Admiral and Mrs. Clarence Williams entertained, followed by the brilliant reception and tea-dansant at which Admiral Williams and Capt. E. H. Campbell, commander of the ship, were hosts. This was followed by a buffet supper in the admiral's cabin for the women, who assisted at the tea, and their husbands. This company finished the day's pleasure at the dance given by Admiral and Mrs. Hugh Rodman at the Hotel Virginia, Long Beach.

At the tea-dansant Admiral and Mrs. Williams and Capt. and Mrs. Campbell were assisted on deck and at the tea tables in the cabins by Mrs. Hugh Rodman, Mrs. McKean, wife of Rear-Admiral Kean; Mrs. Field, wife of Rear-Admiral Field; Mrs. Nathan Twining, wife of Rear-Admiral Twining; Mrs. Charles Lincoln Hussey, wife of Capt. Hussey; Mrs. John Hooe Iden, wife of Capt. Iden; Mrs. Horn, wife of Capt. Horn; Mrs. Edwards, wife of Commander Edwards; Mrs. Godwin, wife of Lieut.-Commander Godwin; Mrs. Earl, wife of Commander Earl; Capt. Bennett, Mrs. Inglish, wife of Lieut.-Commander Inglish, and Mrs. Culp, wife of Commander Culp.

Pink and blue were the predominating colors in the spring flowers that were massed artistically on the long tables in the two cabins.

At the luncheon given by Admiral and Mrs. Williams plates were set for Capt. and Mrs. E. H. Campbell, Mrs. Joseph D. Radford, Mrs. William Lyman Stewart, Mrsfl Madison W. Stewart, Mrs. Dean Mason, Mrs. Alexander R. Barrett, Mrs. Benjamin Franklin Perkins, Mrs. Ernest Rivers, Mrs. Matthew S. Robertson, Mrs. Irwin W. Hollingsworth, Mrs. R. L. Gifford, Mrs. William Mead Orr, Mrs. Albert Miller Stephens, Mrs. Chester W. Brown, Mrs. Gene Stratton Porter, Mrs. Leafe Sloan-Orcutt, Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt and Mrs. Fred L. Baker.

The luncheon is the first of a series at which Mrs. Williams is to preside on the ship before she and the admiral leave Los Angeles Harbor.

To Wed in East.

Although there has been no formal announcement of the engagement of Mrs. Pauline Eleanore (Bennett) Gates, former Pasadena girl, to Lieut. Marlin Mail, the fact that she will leave next Tuesday for New York, where the marriage will take place, is no secret to her friends here.

Mrs. Gates and her two small children have made their home in Coronado since her separation from Clifford Gates, well-known Pasadenan, until last week, when she joined her mother, Mrs. Edmund G. Bennett of North Wilton Place, Los Angeles. She returned to Coronado for the week-end, and has been entertained by Mrs. Luther Kennett, Mrs. Ralph Waldo Chase and others of the smart Coronado set with small affairs before her departure.

The marriage will take place in New York City early in June. Lieut. Mail has been stationed on the Atlantic Coast, and recently has been taking a post-graduate course at Annapolis.

At Garden Tea.

Mrs. Arthur Kinney of 972 Magnolia avenue was a charming hostess yesterday at a garden tea given as a courtesy to Mme. Gertrude Auld, noted singer of New York, known in private life as Mrs. Arthur Thomas.

Mixed spring flowers were used in profusion on the tables where tea was served and on the veranda. One hundred guests were at the function. Assisting Mrs. Kinney were Mmes. Everett Thomas, S. A. Guiberson, R. H. Edwards, J. H. W. Myers, E. S. Pauly, Arthur J. Waters, Harry Coffin, Guy L. Cuzner and S. G. Wilson.

For Graduates.

The senior class at Marlborough is to be complimented at a dancing party at which Miss Elizabeth Hay will entertain tomorrow evening at the California Country Club. She will be assisted by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hay, and her sister, Miss Ruby Hay. There are to be 200 guests.

Told at Bridge Tea.

The engagement of Miss Jean Webster and Arthur Will was announced at a bridge tea that Miss Webster gave yesterday in honor of Miss Anne Evans. The affair was given at the home of Miss Webster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Webster of 7155 Hawthorne avenue, and was arranged as a farewell courtesy to Miss Evans, who is leaving her home in Whittier shortly for a tour of Europe. Twenty-five girls were present.

Mrs. Banning is Hostess.

Mrs. Hancock Banning was hostess at an enjoyable luncheon at her country place in Wilmington on Tuesday, her guests being members of the board of the Assistance League, of which she is president. There were places for sixteen. She and other members of the league entertained at tea yesterday at the league's tea-dansant at the Ambassador.

Return to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds of Chicago, who spent the winter here, and were so much entertained, have returned home. The past few weeks they were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Nourse of Berkeley Square, who gave a week-end motor party to the Yosemite and several dinners and luncheons in their honor.

On Board U.S.S. Vestal.

Capt. and Mrs. Horn are giving a dinner party this evening on board the U.S.S. Vestal as a farewell compliment to Admiral and Mrs. Field.

For Two Brides-Elect.

In honor of Miss Emily Loomis of Pasadena, who is to marry Dr. James Angle of Santa Barbara the last of the month, and for Miss Mary Lowell, who is to become the bride of Harold Sayer on June 1, Misses Heloise and Marjorie Lysle are giving an elaborate luncheon today. A mass of spring flowers will center the table.

For Bride-Elect.

A bevy of debutantes and young matrons were guests at a delightful little tea given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Jerome J. Hanrahan, Jr., in honor of her sister, Miss Gladys Carson, whose marriage to Edward Scheller is to be one of next week's most important social affairs.

Mrs. Alfred Orena (Catharine Dowling) is entertaining at a very smart tea in honor of Miss Carson this afternoon.

Efficient Housekeeping

By Laura A. Kirkman

MORE PRACTICAL SALADS.

The following salads are a little meal in themselves, and there is no need for the housekeeper to feel apologetic in placing one of these before her hungry men-folk, or her active and ravenous son, as the sole luncheon or supper dish. They all contain either meat, meat substitutes, or fish, and are, therefore, substantially nourishing.

Tomato-Sardine Salad: Cut lettuce into shreds with a pair of scissors just before serving time. Open 1 can of sardines and lay these on beds of shredded lettuce on individual plates—several of the fish on each plate. Now dice ripe but firm tomatoes and put a tomato border around the sardines. Cover all with chilled French dressing and serve.

This is a good salad to serve when one is late in preparing supper. It can be prepared in five minutes if the tomato has been diced previously and kept in the ice box. Although sardines are expensive, they cost very little more than an egg or cheese supper dish, and they are always enjoyed.

Cornmeal muffins will make this a well-balanced supper; the fish provides the protein, the tomatoes and lettuce the vitamines, the salad oil the fats and the cornmeal the starch necessary to a well-balanced ration.

Potato-Egg-Cheese Salad: Boil new potatoes until tender and slice them thinly, allowing these slices to lie covered with weak vinegar for an hour or two. Then place them on lettuce leaves on individual salad plates so that they form a thin and dainty layer, and on top of them put a layer of sliced hard-boiled eggs (allow 1 egg for each person.) Cover with ordinary boiled dressing to which has been added enough cheese to give it a strong flavor. (This recipe for cheese boiled dressing will appear in my column next Wednesday in an article devoted entirely to salad dressings.) This salad, too, provides all the elements of a well-balanced meal.

Left-Over Meat Salad: Make a hole in the top of large ripe tomatoes and hollow out the interiors. Mix one-third of this center pulp with two-thirds of any kind of cooked meat which has been put through a food chopper and highly season with salt and pepper. Now add only just enough boiled dressing to flavor well, and fill the tomato cups with this forcemeat. Put the stuffed tomatoes on ice until mealtime, then place them on a bed of lettuce and pour more of the boiled dressing over them.

[All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply be desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be inclosed with the question.—The Editor.]

High School Girls to Meet in Contest.

Miss Hope Stuart and Trophy Cups.

The one that Miss Stuart holds in her right hand has the following inscription on it: "Los Angeles Times Perpetual Cup, Free Floor Gymnastics for Girls; First Prize." The inscription on the other cup follows: "Second Prize; the Lokrantz Perpetual Cup for Girls."

THE first athletic contest among high school girls of Los Angeles will be held on the 26th inst., at 3 p.m., in the Los Angeles Athletic Club, and will become an annual event. The Times is giving a silver cup, a foot high, which must be held three years running for permanent possession, and Dr. Sven Lokrantz, supervisor of corrective physical education, Los Angeles city schools, has donated a silver cup for second prize, which need be won only twice to be held for keeps.

The contest will be in calisthenics. Interscholastic contests in games for high school girls are forbidden, but there has been no objection raised to the project for an annual tournament for free floor work. The contest will take place in the spring of each year from now on.

Each of the six high schools to take part this year will be represented by a group of not more than thirty-two girls. The judges of the contest will be the physical directors of the schools. Dr. Lokrantz will direct the contest.

The high schools in the contest will be the Jefferson, Lincoln, Manual Arts, Polytechnic, Hollywood and San Fernando. The Polytechnic High School Band will play. The cups will be presented immediately after the contest is concluded.

In addition there will be a military drill by the rifle club of the Manual Arts High School, a dance by the team of the Jefferson High School and a dance by the Polytechnic girls.

Stomach Troubles.

"I have never found anything so good for stomach troubles and constipation as Chamberlain's Tablets. I have used them off and on for the past two years. They not only regulate the bowels, but invigorate the liver and keep one's body in a healthy condition," writes Mrs. Benjamin Hoffer, Auburn, N. Y.—[Advertisement.

Night Time is Banking Time

BEFORE gold or silver were discovered men measured time. Even then they realized its great value.

Civilized man, with all his intellect and education, has no more time than had his prehistoric ancestors—but he has learned to save it. The majority of all inventions have been toward this end—the saving of time.

The Hellman depositor has found that banking at night or in the late afternoon leaves his day free and unbroken. He is not forced to leave his business during his busiest hours to attend to his banking.

The same institution which safeguards his funds aids him in the fostering of his most valuable possession—time. It is a savings bank of time and money.

VETERANS SLAP FEDERAL BOARD

Vocational Body is Charged With Discrimination.

Special Committee's Report Tabled Till Today.

Overseas Fighters in First Convention Here.

A special committee of the Disabled Veterans of the World War has made a report arraigning and charging discrimination against the Federal Board for Vocational Education. The report was presented yesterday at the convention of the Disabled Veterans, but was tabled after a debate in which many members wanted it made public at once. It will be modified and come up for action at today's sessions. The opinion was expressed last night that it would be adopted.

It is the first convention of the organization. Many committees have been appointed, one a permanent body to investigate vocational training and hospital facilities. This committee, however, is distinct from the one that made the report yesterday.

The convention will continue today, tomorrow and Saturday morning at 111 West Third street. Saturday afternoon the delegates will make an automobile tour to points of interest. The committee in charge asks those that wish to donate the use of automobiles to telephone Mrs. H. V. Wurdeman—West 783.

CLEAR ONTARIO MAN OF ASSAULT CHARGE.

John A. Soule, prominent merchant and fraternal society man of Ontario, was dismissed at a preliminary examination yesterday, when his sister-in-law and others failed to convince Judge Holbrook that the defendant was guilty of criminal assault.

It was charged in an affidavit, on the basis of which a warrant was issued at San Bernardino Tuesday, that Mr. Soule had attacked his 14-year-old niece, Pauline Bluff, at the undertaking establishment of J. B. Draper in Ontario, when the two had visited the place during the time that the girl's grandfather was lying in state previous to his burial.

The court ruled that the girl's story contained so much that he considered impossible that none of it should be believed.

SEEK INSTEAD OF WAITING.

By Reading "Times" Want Ads People Find Things They Desire.

Apart from supplying ordinary, everyday articles, Times want-ads perform a service which is unique—they bring to light the odd and unusual objects for which people might waste a life-time in searching. In this class are such articles as scientific instruments, old masterpieces, rare books, historical objects, strange specimens of plant and animal life, original manuscripts, heirlooms, oddities imported from out-of-the-way places, and other things of interest to collectors, scientists and treasure-lovers.

Such articles are found in the "For Sale: Miscellaneous" column, one of the numerous bargain departments in The Times want-ad emporium.

JAIL BEATING TALE IS TOLD.

up for disturbing the peace. If he had a broken jaw, no one discovered it then. Next morning, when it was found that he was in need of medical attention, the prisoner was removed to the Park-Avenue Hospital and later taken to his home.

"If anyone struck him while at the Venice Police Station, I do not know anything about it. The man was drunk and disorderly when taken into custody by Officer Ostroff. He was booked by Desk Sergeant Davidson, in a regular manner. Further than this I cannot say anything now."

Some of the witnesses are said to have told the grand jury that Hondon's jaw was broken in two places and that his teeth were knocked out by blows in the mouth and on the chin.

DEATH MYSTERY SKULL IS FOUND.

Grewsome Evidence Unearthed in National City.

Find Points to Tragedy When Spot Was Wilderness.

Coroner Looking Up Records of Disappearances.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN DIEGO, May 18.—A murder dating back to the early '90's was probably revealed yesterday by the unearthing in a vacant lot in National City of a man's skull with a bullet hole through the forehead and the right side crushed.

The discovery was made in the rear of the lot at 2532 J street, about a mile from the center of the town. Old-timers around National City say that at the probable time of the man's death and supposed secret burial, that part of the country was a wilderness. It is the opinion of Coroner Kelly and City Marshal Wright of National City that a tragedy was enacted nearly thirty years ago.

Authorities of the Bay City hold the theory that the man was shot in the back of the head with a heavy caliber pistol, the bullet mushrooming its way out through the forehead. Some blunt instrument, they say, must have been used after the shooting, causing the crushing of the right side of the head and face. From examination of three teeth found in the upper jaw, it was determined that the man was of middle age at the time of his death.

Coroner Kelly is investigating old records of disappearances in this county in an effort to clear up the mystery.

IN ACTION FOR BONDS.

Woman Defendant With Bank in Suit to Recover Securities.

Mrs. Reynolds P. MacAlpine was joined as a defendant by Judge Burnell yesterday in the suit of Theodore A. Bell against the First National Bank for the return of bonds valued at $6100.

In this suit, Mr. Bell, counsel for Mr. MacAlpine, wealthy poultry fancier at Altadena, contends that he is the owner of the bonds. The bank asserts that Mrs. MacAlpine represented she owned the bonds and thereby declined to deliver them to Mr. Bell.

The bank asked the court to name Mrs. MacAlpine as interpleader.

SUPERVISORS TO BUILD NEW COUNTY JAIL.

Assurance is Given When Clubwomen Ask Views on Industrial Farm.

Representatives of the Ebell and the Woman's City clubs sounded out the members of the Board of Supervisors yesterday as to their views on an industrial farm for prisoners now lodged in the overcrowded County Jail. The Supervisors all expressed themselves as in favor of an industrial farm, but the club representatives were told that the board will construct a new County Jail building.

Supervisor Cogswell declared that the increase in the number of criminals is due not so much to a wave of crime following the close of the great war, as to an increase in population.

"By speeding up the trial of prisoners held in the County Jail," he said, "we do not expect to lessen the number of prisoners, but to make room for others."

Supervisor Bean stated that the club representatives in appealing to the board for an industrial farm should lay before them a concrete plan for the board to work on.

"We want to know what is in your mind," he said. "We believe in the honor system; we approve of an industrial farm, but I want to say that the new County Jail will be built."

The club representatives were in earnest in advocating open air treatment for prisoners, thereby eventually doing away with the necessity of a jail.

The Real Secret of Rejuvenating the Face

She holds the true secret of facial rejuvenation who has learned how to remove the dead skin particles as fast as they appear. It's a secret anyone may possess. The aged, faded, or discolored surface skin may be gradually absorbed, in an entirely safe and rational manner, by the nightly application of ordinary mercolized wax. Within a week or two the underlying skin, youthful and beautiful to behold, has taken the place of the discarded cuticle. So little of the old skin is absorbed each day there's no inconvenience at all, and no one suspects you are putting anything on your face. The mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store (an ounce is sufficient,) is applied like cold cream. In the morning it is erased with soap and water. It's the best thing known for freckles, blackheads, pimples, muddy patches, liver spots and fine surface wrinkles.

For the deeper wrinkles: an excellent recipe is: Powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution produces quick and wonderful results.—[Advertisement.]

White Organdy Dresses, $16.95

For Girls of 13 to 17 Years

—Beautiful Dresses that make a strong bid toward being the "Perfect Dresses" for Graduation! Bullock's Juniors' and Intermediates' Section is truly delighted to be able to offer such charming Dresses at such an opportune time—for so little as $16.95.

—These are cleverly designed and well made of the imported Organdy that has the desirable permanent finish. The styles and finishes are varied and one finds many entrancing bits of trimming. Some are frilled and ruffled with picot ruching used as trimming. There are panel skirts—tunic skirts—overskirts; there are fichu collars and Dresses without collars at all; and on them all one finds the popular ruchings.

—Other modes of trimmings are hand-made flowers of Organdy in white or pastel shades. Some of the Dresses have set-in sleeves—others have kimono sleeves—while still others have the new ruffled sleeves.

—Every Dress is fairly bewitching—and should prove an irresistible value when priced but $16.95. Many colored Dresses are also included at $16.95—On Bullock's Fourth Floor.

Colored Organdy Dresses, $13.95

For Girls of 13 to 17 Years

—These, too, are ideal for Graduation from those schools which have adopted the Pastel Shades of Organdy for Commencement. They're a group of specially purchased Dresses that Bullock's, in turn, has priced extremely low.

There are but 100 Dresses concerned—and yet the group includes Dresses with Overskirt effects—fichu effects—and ruffled skirts; some of the Dresses have embroidered Organdy trimmings; deep hems make use of cross-stitching for trimmings. On some of the dresses one finds charming hand-made flowers, plaited ruchings and myriads of narrow ruffles.

—Such delightful shades as Jade, Tomato, Flame, Turquoise, Henna, Honeydew, Nile, Light Blue—are included in the assortment—and one also finds many two-tone effects such as Honeydew over Tomato—Maize over Henna—Gray over Henna, etc.

—Graduates should find these Dresses wonderfully entrancing and Parents should find the special price, $13.95, just as entrancing. These Dresses are on Bullock's Fourth Floor.

Boys' Two-Knicker Suits, $8.95

A Two-and-a-half Days' Special in Bullock's Boys' Store!

Exceptional Values

—Bullock's Boys' Store determined that not an item should receive mention in this announcement unless it was of "exceptional value."

—These items leave little to be desired as to quality and Value!

—45 doz. Blouses at 95c each should find many eager buyers.

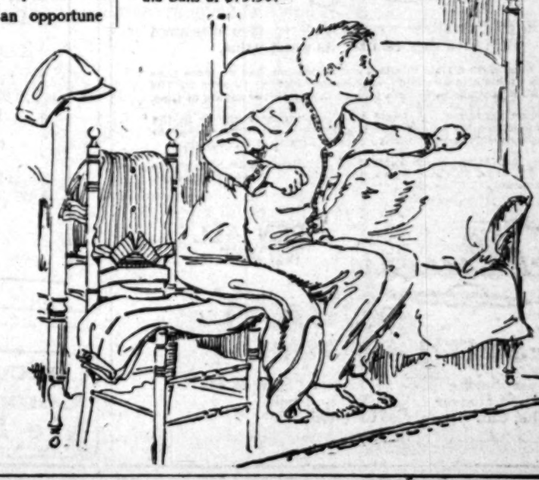
—Straw Hats repriced to $2.95 constitute an opportune value-offering.

—Tweed Caps at $1.50 should bring pleasure to many Boys.

—Dozens of other offerings of surprising value are to be found today, tomorrow and Saturday morning — in Bullocks' Boys' Store—on Bullock's Fifth Floor.

—200 High Grade Norfolk Suits were obtained by Bullock's at surprisingly low wholesale costs! Bullock's Boys' Store is turning the entire 200 over to the Boys of Southern California at a price which is amazingly low! They go on Sale for the first time this morning at 9 o'clock. They should leave Bullock's before the day is over—for they're high quality Suits that were made to be sold at prices much greater than $8.95! They are in recent styles—of good woolens—and have two pairs of Knickers. Remember, however, that there are but 200 Suits! Bullock's Fifth Floor—Today.

—Those who are unable to share from these 200 Suits will find many other splendid Suits at $13.50.



Pajamas at 95c

for Boys of 3 to 16 years. [illegible] other 2½ Days' Special at Bullock's Boys' Store. Every Pajama Suit—and they're popular one-piece style—has been repriced from a far higher marking!

—There are 50 dozen Pajama Suits concerned—offered the first time today—at 95c. Fifth Floor.

PORT NOTES.

The Williams Line freighter Willfaro, Capt. Burton, arrived yesterday from New York, after a run of twenty-six days, having stopped at Philadelphia for cargo en route. The Willfaro has a heavy shipment of manufactured products for this port.

After lying at anchor for over a week, the Gaylord Petroleum tanker Yorba Linda put to sea yesterday morning with a non-union crew. The Yorba Linda is the first oil tanker to leave port since the calling of the strike. Seven tank steamers are still tied up here without crews.

The Pacific-Argentinian freighter Pallas arrived yesterday afternoon from Montevideo, via the Straights of Magellan, bringing 6500 bags of coffee and a heavy shipment of sundry cargo and fertilizer for discharge here.

The Los Angeles Steamship Company's liner Yale brought a good sized passenger list from San Francisco, arriving on scheduled time.

The Admiral Line steamer Calmar was about 17 hours late in arriving from San Francisco. She was due at 11 a.m. yesterday, but was not expected until 4 o'clock this morning. The vessel having been delayed at San Francisco. The Queen will sail northbound at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The Matson Line steamer Wyefleet is due this afternoon from Liverpool, bringing a heavy shipment of plate glass and other European products. Other expected arrivals are the Griffin, from Chanmerico; Julia Luckenbach, from San Francisco, for New York; Meridan, from Callao.

HARVARD NEARLY READY.

The reconditioning of the steamer Harvard, sister ship of the Yale, both listed among the Navy's prize craft during the war, will be virtually completed at the R. J. Chandler Shipyard at the harbor next week and she will have her trial trip off the port.

A. J. Frey, general manager of the Los Angeles Steamship Company, owner of the two vessels, announced that the Harvard probably will sail for her first voyage to San Francisco on June 7, alternating with the Yale on the San Francisco-Los Angeles run.

After their purchase from the Navy Department last year by Los Angeles capitalists, the Yale and Harvard were brought from Philadelphia in July. The Harvard has been under repair at the Chandler shipbuilding plant, while the Yale was turned out by the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company three weeks ago.

The Yale and Harvard will maintain four sailings per week from the local harbor and from San Francisco, making the trip between the two ports in eighteen hours' steaming time. The ships will make an average speed of twenty miles per hour, although capable of traveling faster than twenty-three.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN DENIAL OF TIE-UP AT PORT HERE.

Announcement was made yesterday by the maritime bureau of the Chamber of Commerce that some steamship lines are operating in the harbor without interruption.

This announcement was made because of an erroneous impression prevailing among shippers that there is a complete tie-up of all facilities in port.

The maritime bureau will furnish complete information regarding the operation of vessels to all prospective shippers.

P=S

P.-S. not only stands for Potter-Strutz superiority but is commonly used as an abbreviation for Postscript. Postscript is defined as something added, coming after, etc.

Potter Gas Radiation came after and is the result of something added by capable, highly trained men who have given years of thought to the gas heating and ventilating business.

To the thinking man, the fact that we have heated thousands of schools, churches, hospitals and homes in the year just past is abundant evidence of Potter-Strutz Superiority. In schools and hospitals especially, where long hours of confinement are necessary, clean, instant, absolutely odorless heat is demanded.

This modern system easily installed in old or new buildings.

THRONGS ENJOY ORANGE EXHIBIT

Visitors Praise Beauty of Show at Anaheim.

Complete List of Winners of Prizes Announced.

Cups, Cash, Certificates and Banners Are Awarded.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

ANAHEIM, May 18.—Declared by thousands of visitors to be the most beautiful and complete exhibit they had seen, the California Valencia Orange Show was enjoyed today by a crowd twice as large as on the opening day, bringing the attendance to date approximately to 10,000.

Today was club day and hundreds of Rotarians, Kiwanians and members of other clubs visited the exposition. Fraternal orders have a day of their own tomorrow. Friday is civic and municipal bodies day. Saturday is editors' day and Sunday is American Legion Day.

The entertainment program is unusually good, including selections by Gene Green's Marigold Orchestra, a famous negro orchestra; singing by Miss Bessie Lyons, Miss Vora Esmay and Don Jose Sanchez, and Spanish dancing by Senorita Antoinette Friend.

The complete list of prize winners was announced here tonight as follows:

PICTURES FINE BIG BEAR VIEW.

Sunday "Times" to Portray Marvels of Spot High Above Mt. Wilson.

If you were standing on top of the tallest building in Los Angeles and looking down to the street you would think you were up high. Looking down from the top of Mt. Wilson, you would be willing to swear you were up high. But up in the Big Bear country, where you can look down thousands of feet below and see the very top of Mt. Wilson—well, you are up high, that's all there is to it.

The Motor Car Dealers' Association of Los Angeles is holding its annual meeting and high jinks in connection with a reliability run to Big Bear next week. And the tremendous height and beauty of this country is vividly portrayed by Charles H. Owens in a hypsographic sketch in the Pink Sheet—the Sunday automobile section.

Sale of Silks

Now in Progress at Hamburger's Sets New Records in Value and Variety

New, seasonable, fashionable and internationally famous silks—over a quarter of a million [illegible] worth was presented at the opening, Monday.
The best mills in Europe and America have contributed—every piece being of recognized superiority—known the world over and hence of established value. These greatly lowered prices, a few of which we list herewith as representative, prove this to be, unquestionably, Los Angeles' greatest Sale of Silks.

40-inch Printed Radium Taffeta, 1.75 Yd.
An out-of-the-ordinary quality—showing such color combinations and patterns as have not been presented before this season. For house frocks, for linings, for kimonos, there is no more popular weave.

Satin Meteor Crepe, 1.95
A soft, clinging silk that is tremendously popular for formal gowns—at a price in this event that is unrivaled. Beautiful shades, 40 inches wide.

Black Swiss Taffeta, 2.95
Just the quality that summer costumes should be fashioned from—radiant and lustrous, yet cool. This, 36 inches wide, is greatly underpriced.

40-inch All-Silk Canton Crepe, 2.95 Yd.
All the colors most in demand—Canton Crepe, the favored silk weave of the season, at such a price as this! Proof enough of the sale's importance.

36-inch Black Taffeta, 1.75
Especially well adapted to suits and plaited skirts—so rich is the quality. One of the feature values at this price.

Charmeuse de Lyon, 2.95
Black and colors in the 40-inch width—a wonderfully firm quality that women are choosing for gowns as well as wraps.

Printed Pussy Willow Satin at 2.95 Yd.
Summer's own silk—and in just the delightful colorings and patterns that are best suited to summer frocks. A quality that is obviously worth far more. Width 40 inches.

40-inch Heavy Crepe Meteor, 3.45 Yard
All too small a space to tell of this beautiful silk. A surprising array of colors—40-inch width, suitable for the most beautiful of costumes.

"The First Thing You Think Of"

What Is ORANGE PEKOE Tea?

IT has nothing to do with oranges. It is simply an oriental term to denote one of the different gradings of tea. There are three gradings of Orange Pekoe Tea—

Flowery Orange Pekoe — tea of very finest quality
Broken Orange Pekoe — " " " choice "
Orange Pekoe — " " " average "

The first two are very much superior to ordinary Orange Pekoe. Ridgways (Gold Label) Orange Pekoe Tea is composed only of the Flowery and Broken Orange Pekoes—the finest teas procurable.
